JAPAN'S BLOCKADE OF CHINESE WATERWAYS PROTESTS IN COMMONS AT STOPPAGE OF SHIPPING

LONDON, Feb. 6.
THE JAPANESE HAVE alleged that they are conducting military operations which would be impeded by the movement of third-party ships, replied Mr. R. A. Butler in the House of Commons to-day, when asked by Commander A. Marsden under what rule of international law the Japanese were preventing British vessels using the Pearl River.

PLEA TO AMERICANS Aid to Japan is War on China

CHUNGKING, Feb. 6.
THE CHINA-BORN, American social service leader, the Rev. George Fitch, who during the time of the fall of Nanking, acted as director of the safety zone for Chinese refugees, and who is at present here as secretary of the National Committee of the Chinese Y.M.C.A., to-day addressed 400 men and women when he said that though American manufacturers had definitely stopped supplying Japan with munitions, such raw materials as cotton, iron, and war necessities like gasoline were still going to Japan in big quantities. He said that this was tantamount to China fighting two Powers, namely Japan and America, and he hoped Congress would pass a law forbidding exportation to Japan of such

Asked by Mr. Arthur Henderson whether the Government proposed to make any response to the request of the Chinese Government for assistance, Mr. Butler declared that certain Chinese proposals for economic assistance were under consideration, but he was unable to make a detailed statement at present.

YANGTSE BLOCKADE

Asked by Commander A. Marsden whether he had received any statement from the Japan Government on the question of the re-opening of the Yangtse River, Mr. Butler said that no statement had been received subsequent to their note of November 14 last.

Further evidence of Japanese trading on the Yangtse had been communicated to the Japanese Minister for Foreign Affairs by the British Ambassador to Tokyo on January 13.

Mr. A. V. Alexander (Lab.): Is the British Government acquiescing in the policy of holding up British shipping?

Mr. Butler: No.—Reuter.

JAPAN'S "RIGHTS"

SHANGHAI, Feb. 6.
REPLYING TO QUESTIONS, firstly whether the Japanese navy claims the right to stop any vessel in the China Seas, secondly, if the vessel's papers establish a third Power ownership, whether the Japanese navy will reimburse losses suffered by the vessel during the seizure, a Japanese naval spokesman to-day said that the Japanese navy reserves the right to stop vessels under the proclamation issued more than six months ago.

This was due to the fact that there had been numerous instances where Chinese vessels illegally flew foreign flags, he declared.

In reply to the second question, the spokesman said they had received no demands for compensation.

He admitted that the Shanghai steamer Ada, owned by a Hungarian, was detained at Amoy for the purpose of investigating its status.—United Press.

Tokyo, Feb. 6.
Detention of the Ada, by the Japanese naval authorities at Amoy was confirmed by the spokesman of the Japanese Fleet in China Waters to-day.

He stated that her ownership was being investigated under the terms of the Japanese naval proclamation blocking the China coast against Chinese shipping, which was issued on September 5, 1937.—Domei.

COURIER TELLS KULING PEOPLE TO LEAVE

SHANGHAI, Feb. 6.

A JAPANESE SPOKESMAN said to-day that information from Kiating indicated that foreign residents at Kiating had been informed of the necessity for evacuating.

However, he could not explain how this was to be enforced and by whom.

He said that he assumed a courier had been despatched, or would be despatched to Kiating to negotiate with the Japanese authorities details of the evacuation arrangements.

The spokesman added that the Japanese had not changed their plans to attack Kiating after February 10.

CHINESE ATTITUDE

They had no information concerning the Chinese attitude, or whether the Chinese guerrillas would attempt to prevent foreigners from evacuating Kiating.

He also said that he knew nothing of negotiations between the Japanese, British and American authorities in Hankow concerning the evacuation.

However, the spokesman admitted that Japanese troops had already been active in the vicinity of Kiating, although as yet they had not launched a major attack.—United Press.

In addition four rifles and other illicit equipment were captured in a village near Jerusalem.

ITALIANS "SHOCKED" AT SPEECH

ROME, Feb. 6.

MR. NEVILLE CHAMBERLAIN'S statement in the House of Commons has given a shock to Italian political circles, who regard it as a more clear-cut expression of Anglo-French unity of interests than Mr. Chamberlain had ever made before.

It was suggested in one quarter that Mr. Chamberlain's statement was tantamount to an announcement of a military alliance, and as binding as that proclaimed by Herr Hitler between Germany and Italy.

Many political observers consider the statement shatters the belief which always existed in Italy that no assurance of military support would ever be given by Great Britain to France. It was contended that such an assurance had been sought by M. Daladier after the Munich agreement and refused by Mr. Chamberlain. Now, it is suggested that M. Daladier has been more successful.

Official circles decline to comment, except to say that Italy's natural aspirations threaten the vital interests of no country.—Reuter.

PREMIER'S ASSURANCE

In answer to a question in the House of Commons yesterday, Mr. Chamberlain said that M. Bonnet's statement that in the event of war in which Britain and France were involved all Britain's forces would be at France's disposal was in complete accordance with the views of the British Government.

"It is impossible to examine all hypothetical cases which might arise," Mr. Chamberlain added, "but I feel bound to make it plain that the solidarity of interest by which France and Great Britain are united is such that any threat to the vital interests of France, from whatever quarter it may come, must evoke the immediate co-operation of this country."

PARIS PLEAS

Paris, Feb. 6.
Mr. Chamberlain's statement in the House of Commons regarding Anglo-French relations, in which he confirmed M. Bonnet's announcement that in the event of war, all France's resources would be at the disposal of Britain, just as Britain's would be at the disposal of France, is regarded here in French political circles as a most important announcement, marking a new stage in the relationship.

LONDON, Feb. 6.
THREE HUNDRED CLAIMS, amounting to £230,000 for destruction, confiscation and damage by looting have been accepted as admissible from British firms in China, and have been presented to the Japanese Government, declared Mr. R. A. Butler in the House of Commons to-day, when answering Sir Charles Cazyer.

Replying to supplementary questions, the Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs stated that claims of this kind were usually settled at the end of the hostilities.

Asked whether it was not the case that the Japanese had declared they will pay no compensation for loss of property, Mr. Butler replied: "I would not care to accept such a general statement as that."

ROAD TO BURMA

Captain Peter Macdonald asked whether the Government of Burma was giving any assistance to the improvement of the existing road to the Chinese frontier, from which point it continued to Yunnan, and if not, whether in view of the development of this trade route to the Far East, it could bring this thoroughfare up to modern standards.

Lieut.-Col. Muirhead, Under-Secretary for India and Burma, replied that the Government of Burma had already brought the road from Lashio to the Chinese frontier, a distance of about 120 miles, up to an all-weather standard. Further work was in progress upon its development.

TSINGTAO POSITION

Mr. Robert Morgan asked what action the Prime Minister had taken with reference to the refusal of the Japanese authorities to allow goods to be exported from Tsingtao when the exports had been financed through foreign banks by means of the Chinese national currency, and whether such a refusal had been extended to any other ports in China.

Mr. Butler, in reply, said that there had been cases in recent months in which the Japanese authorities, at Tsingtao, had refused to permit exports, either on the ground mentioned by Mr. Morgan, or without assigning any reason.

The British Consul-General at Tsingtao had made frequent representations on this matter to his Japanese colleague, who pleaded military necessity as justification for the action taken.

The matter had also been taken up by Sir Robert Craigie in Tokyo. The system of export permits was recently extended to Chefoo and Weihaiwei, where the situation was being closely watched, declared Mr. Butler.—Reuter.

REGISTER OF MAN-POWER

HOBART, Feb. 6.

Mr. Joseph A. Lyons, the Commonwealth Premier, to-day announced that Australia would immediately compile a voluntary National Register of man-power, and other resources which would be available in time of an emergency.

This decision is similar to that made last year by the Imperial Government.—United Press.

WAR ON TWO CONTINENTS

These two maps show you what has happened in Spain and in China in two years of warfare. Lightly shaded areas were those held by the Insurgents in Spain and by the Japanese in China at the beginning of 1938. The heavily shaded parts show what they have gained in the intervening 14 months.

In Spain, Catalonia is about to completely fall to combined assault by Insurgents and Italians. In China, however, the Japanese hold on their "occupied territory" is precarious, because there are a million guerrillas in the vast areas to which they claim possession, and they exercise control only in proximity to navigable rivers and the rail-ways.

War In Spain LOYALIST FORCES TO SURRENDER IN FRANCE

PARIS, Feb. 6.
THE PRESIDENT OF the Basque Federal Government, Senor Manuel Aguirre, arrived here to-day from Perpignan by train.

He looked worn out and very depressed, as, accompanied by the former Minister of Justice, Senor Irujo, he was met at the station by an official of the Spanish Embassy in Paris.

In reply to questions by newspapermen, who asked whether the retreat of the Loyalist troops had been ordered by the Government, the ex-President said: "Yes. The order for evacuation has been given. The troops will arrive in successive groups, and I think the retreat will be completed on Monday."

Asked if, in his opinion, any peace negotiations would have prospect of success, Senor Aguirre excitedly replied: "We shall win. We shall win."

He added that he had met President Azana in Perpignan on Sunday, but was unaware of his intentions.—Trans-Ocean.

General Franco demanded an unconditional Loyalist surrender, while the Loyalist Government was split, Dr. Juan Negrin and Senor Alvarez Del Vayo making a three-point offer to General Franco, while President Manuel Azana favoured unconditional surrender to prevent further bloodshed.

At least temporarily, Negrin and Del Vayo are victorious and the Loyalists are determined to continue resistance.

Dr. Negrin's proposals were, firstly, the withdrawal of foreign troops, secondly a plebiscite, Spainards to determine the future Government, and thirdly, no reprisals on either side.

The "Paris Solr" reports that the Loyalists have agreed to evacuate 70 German, Italian, and French military and political prisoners this afternoon as a guarantee of no reprisals.—United Press.

CHAPLIN'S NEW FILM Satire Aimed At Dictators

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 6.
CHARLIE CHAPLIN has broken his silence about his new film "The Dictators," in which he is to have a talking role for the first time.

The story and dialogue are finished, he said, and screening will begin on March 15. It is hoped that the film will be ready for release in the autumn.

The story naturally, is concerned with dictators, but primary purpose is to make people laugh.

"The present political situation makes an exceptional vehicle for comedy. People with an over-abundance of dignity and an over-supply of power always, in the end, have been the targets of laughter," declared the film star.

Chaplin plays the dual role of dictator and the inmate of a concentration camp, resembling him exactly.

BRITAIN CUTS BILL FOR IMPORTS

BRITAIN'S overseas buying is costing us less. Although food and tobacco bill was just as heavy in 1938 as in 1937, imports of raw materials and manufactured goods cost less.

Many articles were cheaper than a year ago. We also curtailed our buying in many directions.

We bought, for instance, £19,142,785 less raw cotton in 1938 than in 1937, £18,872,264 less timber, and £9,445,604 less raw wool.

Here is food for thought. We ordered 4,790,967 cwt. more wheat during the year, but it cost us £11,225,034 less owing to a slump in world wheat prices following the bumper harvests of 1938.

On the other hand, butter imports cost us £3,471,774 more but the quantity received was a mere 90,842 cwt. larger.

Eggs took an extra £1,030,021 this time. This item does not include eggs "liquid or frozen from China," an additional item in the Board of Trade returns, which cost us £2,560,395, or £459,890 more than in 1937. We are smoking ever more and more tobacco. This luxury took £5,336,982 more than in 1937, the total bill being £23,344,350.

These are just a few of the more curious facts hidden in the figures of the December returns of the Board of Trade.

ADVERSE BALANCE DOWN

Here are the official figures for 1938, compared with 1937.

	1938	Decrease on 1937
Imports	£20,437,586	107,306,842
Exports	(£17) 470,893,380	50,508,005
Re-exports	£1,097,895	13,525,630
Total exports	£32,491,474	54,033,631

Owing to the cut in imports, our adverse balance of merchandise trade was reduced by £33,353,151, compared with that of 1937, although it was still high at £23,874,612.

Of the total decrease in British exports, £39,243,675 was in manufactured goods. Machinery made the best showing, with a substantial increase. Textile exports, however, suffered considerable shrinkage.

LESS COTTON EXPORTED

In cotton, the quantity of piece goods exported fell by 534,874,000 square yards. India took 38,289,000 square yards less, while there was a drop in shipments to British West Africa of 107,428,000 square yards.

Motor-cars and parts showed a decrease of £251,698, but new ships were up £4,417,644.

Coal exports showed a decrease of only £232,552 in value, but the quantity shipped fell 4,477,122 tons.

On the import side, raw materials registered a decrease of £57,632,891 at £247,692,871, while manufactured goods were down £41,959,875 at £233,841,022.

The food, drink, and tobacco section showed an increase of £278,192 at £431,377,800.

Exports of British goods and produce in December amounted to £39,008,555, or £3,824,668 less than in November, but December contained one working day less than in November.

Imports, as against November, showed a decline of £3,000,425 at £74,122,071.

Walks After Two Years

Meet London's happiest parents: Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Corish, of Ellenborough Road, N.

Recently they saw their eight-year-old son Philip walk unaided for the first time for two years; he crossed the floor of a ward in the Royal Northern Hospital.

Two years ago he fell off, out of a window at his parents' old home in Holloway Road, N., breaking his thigh and his jaw. During the next nine months he developed a lung abscess, septicaemia, an infection of the knee-joint and heart trouble.

"A MIRACLE"

Then he had a "walking calliper" fitted to his leg and with this he was able to make a few steps. Later, in the presence of his parents, he walked around the ward. "My leg does not hurt now when I walk on it," Philip said.

"We never thought we should see him walk again," Philip's father said. "It is nothing short of a miracle that he has recovered so completely after so much illness."

A member of the hospital staff stated that Philip may go home in a fortnight. "As well as helping him to walk, the calliper is resting his leg and strengthening it. He will need further massage and treatment, but in time his leg should be almost as strong as ever."

"MOST INCONVENIENT HOUSE EVER" IS—A CASTLE

Squandered £100,000 In Four Years

A man who was stated to have spent a fortune of more than £100,000 in four years was sentenced at Bucks Quarter Sessions recently for fraud.

Charles Edgerley (54), of West Street, Marlow, a timber merchant, was ordered three months' hard labour for forging a receipt in connection with a deal he was about to transact with another timber merchant.

Detective-Sergeant Wright said during the war Edgerley amassed a fortune of over £100,000 from Government contract work. According to his own statement he squandered this money in the four years after the war.

During that time he unsuccessfully fought a Parliamentary election.

FOR FAMILY'S SAKE

Built in the nineteenth century, Eridge Castle stands in beautiful woodland. Many trees were planted by members of the royal house.

The Marquis said that the improvements were to be to the interior of the castle. The exterior would remain unchanged.

"I have felt for some time," he said, "that the premises definitely needed bringing up to date. A considerable amount of alteration is necessary."

"I am not doing it for my own benefit, but for the future of the castle and for the sake of my family. The life of the castle will be lengthened by the work to be carried out."

"An entire wing will be modernised and we will use it as our residence."

HUNT DEATH RECALLED

The Marquis added that he felt he ought to make the application to the Court before underlining the improvements and he was very glad it had been granted.

His uncle, the third Marquis, who was killed while taking part in a children's meet of the Eridge Hunt at Groombridge, Sussex, in January, 1936, lived at Eridge Castle, and the Marchioness lived there until recently.

But Soon It Will Go Modern

BRIDGE CASTLE, Tunbridge Wells.

A family mansion of the Marquis of Abergavenny, described in court by his counsel as "the most inconvenient house that was ever built," is to be modernised.

Application was made in the Chancery Division recently to obtain a declaration by the Court that the proposed alterations were improvements within the meaning of the Settled Land Act, and that the trustees of a settlement could pay the cost up to half the annual income out of capital.

Mr. Justice Bennett granted a declaration that the trustees could pay £238,400 out of capital towards the improvements of the castle.

FOR FAMILY'S SAKE

Built in the nineteenth century, Eridge Castle stands in beautiful woodland. Many trees were planted by members of the royal house.

The Marquis said that the improvements were to be to the interior of the castle. The exterior would remain unchanged.

"I have felt for some time," he said, "that the premises definitely needed bringing up to date. A considerable amount of alteration is necessary."

"I am not doing it for my own benefit, but for the future of the castle and for the sake of my family. The life of the castle will be lengthened by the work to be carried out."

HUNT DEATH RECALLED

The Marquis added that he felt he ought to make the application to the Court before underlining the improvements and he was very glad it had been granted.

His uncle, the third Marquis, who was killed while taking part in a children's meet of the Eridge Hunt at Groombridge, Sussex, in January, 1936, lived at Eridge Castle, and the Marchioness lived there until recently.

Robert Boulter, 10, has been forced to give up his favourite pastime of hunting for birds' nests. The boy saw a nest in a high tree and climbed up to see what was in it. He discovered, too late, that it was a hornet's nest. Stung, he fell 30 feet, breaking both arms.

These Dogs Made News

A dog who remembered his tricks saved a house from destruction at Totton, near Southampton, recently.

Don, a Dalmatian had been left in charge of the house by his mistress, Mrs. E. M. Wheeler, teacher in a local school. A coal fell from the fire on to a mat, setting it alight.

Jumping on to a chair, Don pulled back the window catch with his teeth, pushed down the window and barked for help. Neighbours put the fire out.

The constant foot-traffic of a motor horn disturbed the congregation during the sermon at St. James's Church, Dover.

M.P.'S WIFE ESCAPES BY ROPE FROM FIRE

BRIGADE PLOUGHS THROUGH SNOW

Notgrove (Glos.).

A ROPE of knotted bedclothes saved the life of Lady Anderson, wife of Sir Alan Garrett Anderson, M.P. for the City of London, when she was trapped in her bedroom by fire which wrecked ancient Notgrove Manor here recently.

Heroine of the fire was 19-year-old Doris Sell, kitchen-maid at the manor.

Wearing only her nightclothes she raced a mile through a snow-storm in the early morning darkness to give the alarm. On reaching the village post office she hammered on the door to rouse Mrs. Edith Fluck, the postmistress.

Mrs. Fluck said: "Miss Sell was exhausted and half fainting after her dash through the snow. As I opened the door she stumbled inside and gasped: 'The manor is on fire, ring for the brigade.'"

DAUGHTER'S ALARM

"I telephoned Cheltenham and Slow-on-the-Wold and gave Miss Sell a hot drink. Then she insisted on returning to the manor to help in the salvage work."

Lady Anderson was staying at the manor with her daughter, Miss Diana Anderson. Only a few servants were in the building when Miss Anderson was awakened by the sound of burning woodwork.

Rousing the staff she sent a servant to awaken Lady Anderson, who was sleeping in a bedroom above the main hall, where the fire had started. Flames and smoke, however, barred the way to the room.

Awakened by the shouting Lady Anderson attempted to escape from the room, but was driven back by the heat.

Then, tearing the sheets and bedclothes, she hurriedly knotted them into a rope which she tied to the leg of the bedstead. With a coat over her nightclothes she swung from the window of the bathroom adjoining her room and slid 20ft. to the snow-covered lawn.

SNOW UP TO HEDGES

A thrilling story of Cheltenham fire brigade's dash through deep snow and ice to the burning Manor was told by Chief Officer James R. Jones.

"We went out on receiving the call," he said, "and encountered deep

Mauled Girl Goes Back To Leopards

EXCITEMENT in plenty came to the London Coliseum, and to 15-year-old Austrian understudy, Trudi Bora recently.

At 9.30 in the morning "Professor" Curt Doorlay, whose 101-scenes-in-130-minutes show, "Christmas Rocket," is running, arrived at the theatre.

Awaiting him was a telegram from his versatile leading lady, Ruth Hase, "Have nervous breakdown, so think I'll go home to Belgium."

But the "professor" went to the hospital, interviewed Trudi and the doctors—and departed with the injured girl sharing his taxi cab.

Later, Trudi went through most of the leading lady's assortment of talent displays.

Famous Hotel May Be Rebuilt

Anderson's Hotel, in Fleet-street, E.C.—built on the site of Dr. Johnson's house and a rendezvous of journalists and actors—may close shortly.

The staff of 80 has received a month's notice.

"We think that, if the deal goes through, it is intended to pull down the old hotel and build a more modern one."

She Complained Of Honeymoon 'Snaps'

ORDERING a wife to return to her solicitor husband, Mr. Justice Henn Collins, in the Divorce Court recently, referred to letters which, he said, were obviously the outpourings of a man who sincerely loved his wife.

He granted a decree of restitution of conjugal rights to Mr. Keith David Erskine, of Upper Grosvenor-street, W. Mrs. Kathleen Diana Erskine, of Eaton Hall, Retford, Nottinghamshire, defended the suit on the ground that she had just cause for leaving her husband.

Mr. and Mrs. Erskine were married in October, 1936, at East Retford, and the husband's case was that in November, 1937, his wife ceased to live with him, and refused to return.

Mr. Justice Henn Collins said that two charges against Mr. Erskine were that he showed to his men friends, in his wife's presence, photographs of her in the nude, which had been taken on their honeymoon.

Mr. Justice Henn Collins said he was not concerned with any question of good taste, but only with how the incident affected the wife. He was satisfied that she was not affronted.

In July 1937 Mrs. Erskine wrote to her husband in terms of deep and amorous affection. She wrote: "The wind is blowing straight from me to you with a heavy load of love. I have given it a lot to carry, but I trust my friend, the wind, to hand it safe to you with kisses such as only he knows how to give."

"I find," concluded Mr. Justice Henn Collins, "that one of the wife's charges is proved."

The King May Visit Hollywood

PARIS. Miss Madeleine Carroll, who sent a cable to the King and Queen inviting them to visit the British colony in Hollywood during their tour of Canada and the United States in May, still hopes the invitation will be accepted.

Miss Carroll, who is making a short stay in Paris before going to London to meet her husband, said: "The reply I received from Buckingham Palace was neither an acceptance nor a refusal. It was a courteous acknowledgment, stating that their Majesties cannot shake any arrangements until they reach Washington."

"I want to stress that the invitation is not merely a personal affair. I represent the British colony in Hollywood, and the invitation is a sincere expression of their loyalty, although they are so far from home."

Ban On Women Athletes

WOMEN athletes preparing for the 1940 Olympic Games have been warned by their clubs not to play hockey, learn to ice-skate, or take part in any strenuous sport which may result in strain or injury.

Said a woman coach: "It is quite easy for athletes to find games which are helpful. Netball is perfect, so is lacrosse, although this takes so much space that it is not always practicable. Indoor, fencing and badminton help footwork, but the training we advise is in the gymnasium—vaulting, skipping, turning somersaults, and parallel-bar exercises."

MEMORIAL SERVICE

Tributes Paid to the Late Dr. Paul J. Todd

A memorial service for the late Dr. Paul J. Todd, American independent missionary and well-known doctor of Canton, was held at the Chinese Y.M.C.A., yesterday.

Dr. Wong Tak-kwong of Canton was Chairman, and the Rev. Tam Yuk-sum of Canton opened the service with a prayer.

Dr. El Shiu-fan addressed the large gathering and spoke of the splendid work carried out by the deceased in numerous charitable undertakings.

Dr. Todd arrived in Canton as a medical missionary in the 1890s and was first attached to the Canton Hospital, but took a leading part in teaching students both there and at the Hackett Medical College. He died of heart disease at the age of 68, after nearly 35 years of service in Canton. His many friends present at the service yesterday testified to the esteem in which he was regarded.

Among those present were Dr. Joseph Yu (son-in-law), Mr. Y. L. Li of the Lingnam University, Mr. T. Poon, President of the Canton Y.M.C.A., and many members of the medical profession of Hongkong and Canton.

Instead of the customary gift of scrolls and flowers, friends were asked to donate sums of money for aid of war refugees.

Currency Bill In Commons

London, Feb. 6.
No question of any change in monetary policy was involved in the new Currency Bill, declared Sir John Simon, Chancellor of the Exchequer, moving the second reading of the Bill in the House of Commons to-day.

The Bill was read a second time without division.

Sir John added that the Bill concerned certain details of the monetary mechanism, and he recalled that the Exchange Equalisation Fund had been increased from £180,000,000 to £200,000,000 in order to check undue fluctuations on the exchanges.

Recent events made it opportune to introduce the Bill. Over a long period, ending last spring, gold stocks had continually increased, amounting on January 31 last at the market price to £330,000,000. In the following six months there was a considerable exodus of gold which represented refugee capital, gold stocks falling to £280,000,000, of which £151,000,000 was in the Exchange Equalisation Fund, the rest being in the issue department of the Bank of England.

STERLING SPECULATION

That tendency had continued during the rest of the year. Some of the gold loss was due to repatriation of French funds, and some was due to undesirable speculation against the Pound.

The Bill was entirely justified and made no difference to the fundamentals of currency, but was a more accurate statement of facts. There was no trace of inflation or deflation in the proposals. One effect of the revaluation would be the liberation of approximately £5,000,000. The Chancellor said that he did not propose to treat that sum as revenue, but as unrealised capital appreciation, which would be passed to the Exchange Equalisation Account, where it would constitute capital reserve.—Reuter.

ing the close and indissoluble bonds uniting the two democracies.

The assurance is regarded as particularly significant in view of the suggestions that Britain was not warmly interested in Franco-Italian relations, and was only bound to assist France if she were attacked by Germany.

BERLIN REACTION

Meanwhile in Berlin, Mr. Chamberlain's statement has been received with much reserve. The Premier's assurance to France is not entirely new, a spokesman told "Reuter," adding that he thought similar assurances were given at the time of the Czechoslovak crisis.

"Everything depends on whether Mr. Chamberlain's words stiffen France's attitude. In that case it may lead to a further increase in the existing tension, and have a pernicious effect."

One commentator said that Mr. Chamberlain's assurance was not unlike the one given to Italy by Germany.—Reuter.

Arabs Prepare Their Case

London, Feb. 6.
The Arab High Committee delegates are busily engaged in last-minute preparations of the case they will present at the London Palestine conference.

Briefly the case will be: firstly, recognition of Palestine's complete independence; secondly, replacement of the mandate by treaty; thirdly, abolition of the Balfour Declaration; fourthly, immediate cessation of Jewish immigration; and lastly, the question of a possible confederacy has also engaged attention, but it is felt that this subject could be best broached after signature of a treaty with Britain.

MUFTI'S ATTITUDE STIFFENS

The High Committee delegates received numerous cables from bodies in Egypt and Palestine. Two particularly insisted that the Defence Party delegates should speak only for themselves, and that the High Committee should solely represent Palestine. The cables have tended to stiffen the attitude of the Mufti towards the Defence Party, and the possibility of an early rapprochement between the two Arab delegations now seems to be remote.

Support for the Arab demands came to-day from the Muslim League of India through its London representatives. A manifesto sympathising with the Arab cause was issued this evening. A copy was placed in the hands of the Marquess of Zetland, Secretary for India, who promised to convey the contents to the Government.

WOULD CO-OPERATE

Fakhri Nakhshibi of the Arab Defence delegation, in an interview with "Reuter" to-day said he felt certain the British Government had a real intention of finding a solution and to establish peace in Palestine. The National Defence Party would accept any proposition leading eventually to independence of Palestine.

He claimed that the Party represents at least 75 per cent. of the material interests in Palestine, and over 50 per cent. in numbers.

Whatever the result, the delegation would do its best just for the country without regard to personal ambitions. The Defence Party would co-operate completely with the mandatory Government to find a solution.—Reuter.

EMPRESS OF CANADA

Overhaul Under Way At Taikeo Dockyard

Rust knows no enemy like a shipyard. There it sees the ground gained in a year's quiet depreciation lost by the cold chisel and the paint brush in a few short weeks.

The C.P.S. liner Empress of Canada, now in dock at Taikeo, offers fresh testimony to this.

The Canada has been a customer of the Taikeo Dockyard and Engineering Company since Hongkong became the venue of the annual C.P.S. overhaul. The other three ships—Japan, Asia, and Russia—are handled at Kowloon Dockyard, but the Canada went to Taikeo before Kowloon had a dock to accommodate her, and she has since kept an annual appointment with the Taikeo company.

Though her overhaul is just commencing, she presents a much less grimy appearance than the Asia did. Like the Japan, she is an oil burner, whereas both the Asia and the Russia are coal burners. The Asia, which now lies at Kowloon Wharf, was a smudgy ship when she entered dock: now, to use an apt simile, she is "as fresh as paint."

Two items lift the overhaul of the Empress of Canada above routine. She is to have two new propellers and a steel swimming tank in place of the wooden tank previously provided for second class passengers. The pool will be located aft.

Minorities

AT BOTTOM the question threatening the peace of Europe is not, as Mr. Garvin suggested in the London "Observer" this Sunday, the problem of Italy's claims on France.

It is a question of hegemony. A single minority has become the issue of the day—a superficial issue. Loud as are the demands from Rome on behalf of its minority in Tunisia and Corsica, they do not drown out the cries and echoes which the existence of minorities in nearly every State in Europe produces.

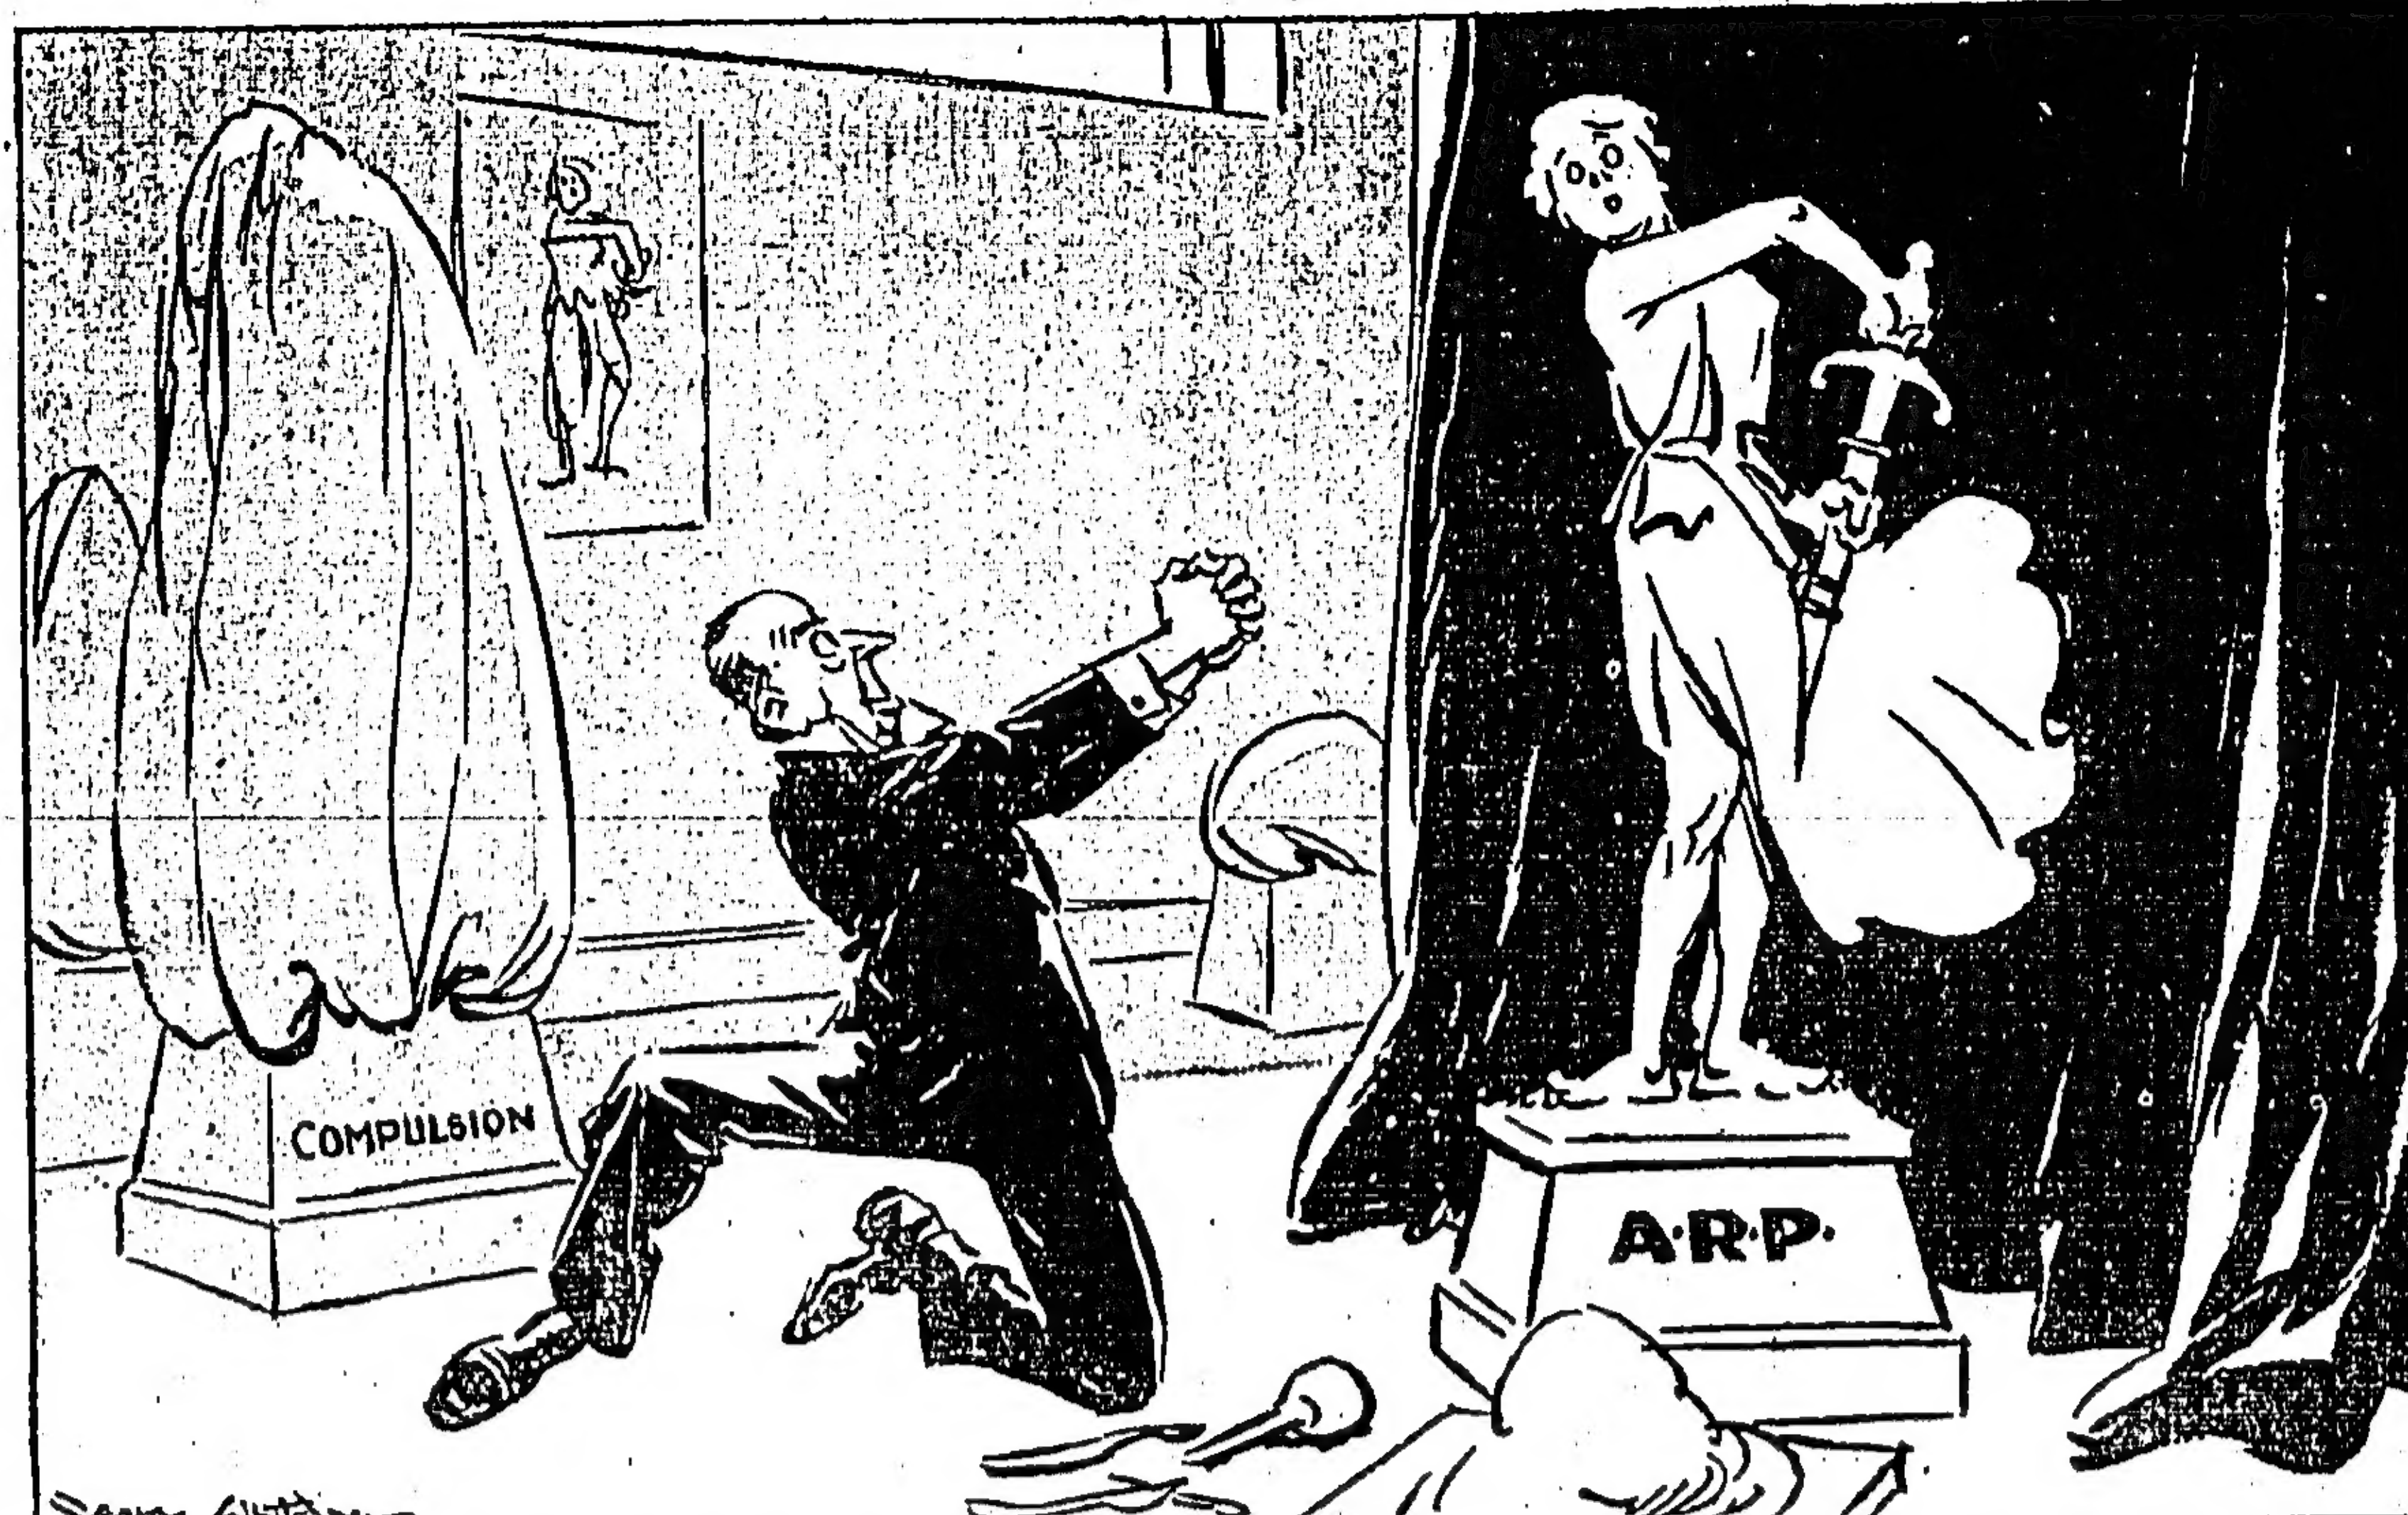

A truly totalitarian approach to Europe's minority grievances would recognise that Europe itself is one big minority problem. A readjustment of national borders to bring the greatest number of minority members back into the folds of their own national states would involve cessions of territory by Italy, France, Russia, Germany, Austria, Poland, Rumania, and by other states.

Such a solution naturally is not proposed, because only those adjustments of minority questions which will result in the greatest embarrassment to democracies are at this moment useful in Rome-Berlin diplomacy.

Broadly, religion, race, language, base all minority problems—the problem being grievous usually in proportion to the restrictions placed by governments on the exercise of minority rights and privileges in these three fields.

Incidentally, it is difficult to find a section of Europe, in which minorities have been more severely treated than in the south Tyrol, which was ceded to Italy after the Great War and where the minority—in which Berlin appears to take no interest—is Germanic.

Poland, which has joined the clamour for the return of its minorities, is itself ruler over minorities which constitute about thirty per cent. of its population. Hungary governs minorities constituting about 15 per cent. of its population. About thirty per cent. of Rumania's population comprises minorities. In Yugo-Slavia, among the 21 per cent. of the population composed of minorities, are more than 600,000 Germans.

Reporting Progress: by Ritchie Calder

One hour = 100 years

MY long white beard got tangled in the works and stopped the clock this week-end while I gave my small son his seventh birthday lecture on "When Father Was a Boy."

I told him how on my seventh birthday I was taken to Montrose Aerodrome, in Angus, to see Captain Longcroft, who had made a record flight of 630 miles to Farmborough. And how the Schneider Cup was won that year with a speed of 451 m.p.h.

The look he gave me made me feel as venerable as Santa Claus. For he has, the modern boy's passion for aviation. He knows that the latest non-stop flight was more than ten times as far, and the record flying-speed nearly ten times as great.

Yet I was talking about 1913—only 25 years ago.

It made me realise how the speed of modern events is changing the time-scale, that, in terms of rapid progress, we are as far removed from our grandfathers as they were from the Romans.

★ SO I spent yesterday trying to devise a new clock. My first attempt was to the radium-clock with which modern geologists measure the age of the earth. The radio-activity of a given mass of thorium is reduced to half-value in 1,800,000,000 years. It turns eventually into lead. And from that we know that the earth must be at least 3,000,000,000 years old.

But I found my desk littered with noughts and I abandoned it for a more manageable clock in which an hour became 100 years.

That makes my son only 4 minutes 12 seconds old and myself 19 minutes 12 seconds old.

Seven months ago, by this reckoning, the first man-like apes of whom we find traces, were fashioning roughly shaped stones which they used as hand-axes. They were still animal, but they walked upright. These "pseudo-

men" inhabited a Europe in which there were hairy mammoths, rhinoceroses, hippopotami, sabre-toothed tigers and giant beavers. The Dawn Man, still an ape, was living beside a river near Pitt-down, in Sussex, barely six weeks ago.

Three weeks ago most of Europe was covered with ice, like the ice-cap which covers Greenland today. The North Sea and the Irish Sea were river beds. The Mediterranean was a deep valley, across which travelled the rhinoceroses, hippopotami, and elephants, on their way to the warmer South. The cold killed off the sabre-toothed tiger altogether.

Hunting these animals were enlightened apes, the Neanderthal Men. They had discovered the use of fire, by it is believed, striking iron pyrites against flint, probably in making their tools. They wore skins from the animals they killed; they lived in caves, huddled round their fires against the creeping cold of the Fourth Ice Age, which was eventually to destroy them. They lived on putrid flesh and the marrow of mashed up bones.

★ THE Fourth Ice Age lasted less than a fortnight by this reckoning, and as the ice-cap began to shrink northwards and the climate of Europe began to get warmer, the first real men—not Ape Men, but men very like us—appeared. They came, it is believed, from the common cradle of Mankind, the part of Asia we now call Iran, and, until recently, Persia.

Ten days ago, these Cro-Magnons began to draw on the walls of their caves, use pigments to stroud their dead at ritual burials. They followed the herds of wild horses and reindeer as they sought new pastures in the wake of the retreating ice.

Four days ago, Man began to take a pride in his crafts, to paint pebbles as jewellery for his Woman, make pottery and tame animals for domestic uses.

Round the lake dwellings of two days ago, our ancestors began to grow wheat, barley and millet. And agriculture began.

★ LESS than a week ago, the valley which separated what we now call Europe from Africa was flooded, the gates at Gibraltar were broken down and the Atlantic flowed in. Maybe that was the Bible Deluge.

By Greenwich Mean Time, it is midnight. At 4.37 this morning began the Christian Era. Thirty-three minutes before Caesar had invaded Britain Rome was sacked by the Vandals from Germany at 8.43 a.m. The sun was temporarily eclipsed. Mohammed was born at 10.55.

At 3.24 this afternoon, William the Conqueror invaded England. By 4.30 men were using gunpowder. At 7.10 this evening Constantinople was taken by the Turks. The learned men, heirs to the culture of the East, of Greece, and of Rome, began to flee westwards like the Jewish refugees of 1938, taking with them the culture which gave us the Renaissance.

Columbus discovered America at 7.31 this evening. At 7.47 began the Reformation.

★ TWENTY-ONE minutes before printing had been introduced, Drake sailed round the world at 8.25, and defeated the Spanish Armada at 8.30, having discovered Greenland in the interval.

At 8.38 Scotland and England were united under James VI and I.

Within 25 minutes Britain was in the throes of Civil War.

James Watt's steam engine began the Industrial Revolution at 10.10. Five minutes later America had declared its Independence. Within another 9 minutes the Bastille had fallen and the French Revolution had begun.

Napoleon had 12 minutes in the limelight. Faraday's electrical discoveries which made the generation of electric power as we know it today possible, occurred at 8 minutes to 11.

By 11 o'clock we had the electric telegraph. Within another minute we had photography. Four minutes later women had the mechanical sewing machine. Chloroform came within another half-minute.

At 11.16 the first explosion motor which was to lead to motor-cars and power-driven aeroplanes had been evolved.

Six minutes later Graham Bell had invented the telephone, followed within 36 seconds by the gramophone, and within a minute by the electric lamp.

★ CINEMA TOGRAPHY arrived 20 minutes ago. Marconi sent his first message across the Atlantic by wireless at 22 minutes 12 seconds ago.

The Wright Brothers made their first flight 21 minutes ago. The Great War lasted two minutes 33 seconds in this time scale.

Broadcasting began 10 minutes ago and talks 64 minutes ago. Television broadcasts began one minute 13 seconds ago.

Hitler has been in power three minutes, long enough for him to turn the clock back six hours to the Dark Ages of Barbarism and the ghetto.

Now I am going to set the alarm for 800 years hence, in the hope that I can sleep off the headache this timekeeping has given me.

The Coogans Separate

New York. Vowing their love for each other, Jackie ("The Kid") Coogan and his blonde wife, Betty Grable, have been forced to separate, their furniture sold by financial necessity, and their home closed.

Miss Grable has returned to her mother, Mrs. Lillian Grable, and Jackie is living with an uncle, Mr. George Coogan.

There is no question of divorce. It is purely a matter of the pounds, shillings and pence not being enough to keep the home going.

"VERY MUCH IN LOVE"

Mrs. Lillian Grable, explaining the situation, said: "Both love each other very much, but everything is in a financial tangle. Jackie's lawsuit against his stepfather and mother (Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bernstein, who he is suing for the recovery of £800,000 he claims to have earned as a child) still being delayed."

Said Jackie: "It is very tough. I love Betty very, very much. But everything will come out all right. We hope to be together again as soon as our finances allow us to do so." Betty declared: "I am still crazy about Jackie. The separation isn't permanent. Once he gets back on his feet we'll be together again."

HOME OFFICE TO SAY WHO OWNS GAS MASKS

Case Awaits Decision

A HOME OFFICE decision about the $8,000,000 gas masks—issued by the Government, free, to civilians at the time of the crisis—is expected as a result of a prosecution at Chesterfield, Derbyshire.

Herbert Ward, alias Jones, aged 50, of Hilltop-road, Dronfield, Derbyshire, was charged with maliciously damaging a respirator. The Chief Constable, Mr. T. Wells, said that Ward came to Chesterfield on a Saturday, and was seen deliberately to throw his respirator into a yard and damage it beyond repair.

IN DUST-BINS

Millions of respirators had been issued to the public, the Chief Constable added, and he thought that thousands had been damaged.

To enable him to communicate with the Home Office, the case was adjourned until January 30.

At the end of October, the Home Secretary, Sir Samuel Hoare, decided that the gas masks, which had cost the Government approximately £5,000,000, should remain in the hands of the civilian population, and the situation was to be reviewed again after six months.

There have, however, continued to be stories of gas masks being found in dust-bins, offered for sale in markets, used by children for games, and even by housewives for peeling onions.

A question was asked in the House recently by Sir John Meller (Conservative) whether "the Government propose to take steps to make persons who negligently lose or damage gas masks, which are public property, liable to a penalty."

Sir John Anderson, Minister for Civilian Defence, replied that he was considering the suggestion.

According to a French decree issued recently, any civilian who fails to keep his or her gas mask in order, or fails to wear it when ordered, will be liable to a fine of 12s. 6d.

—Turned Down Typist's Claim For Damages

WHEN Miss Winifred Jenny Morris, Stoke Newington, N., typist, sued the London County Council for damages in the King's Bench Division recently, Mr. Justice Stabile stepped from his seat to inspect her shoes.

It had been suggested that the height of her heels had caused her to fall down steps at an L.C.C. school where she was taking a continuation course. Miss Morris denied this; said the steps were slippery and ill-lighted.

When the judge looked at her shoes Miss Morris explained: "These happen to be my best shoes, that is why the heels are high."

Her claim was dismissed.

Ex-Rector Now Grocer

London. A grey-haired ex-rector, the Rev. Tudor Jeffreys, has resigned from the living of Brighthelm and is now serving beer to customers behind the counter of the provision store and off-licence which he has taken in Ardwick-le-street, near Doncaster. The Rev. Jeffreys left the Navy in 1927, since when he has been in the Church. Although still in Holy Orders, he stated that he will never go back to the Church.

The Girl With A New Face

BARELY a year after her face and body were burned beyond recognition when a can of boiling tar exploded in her face, 12-years-old Lola Mae Smith, of Memphis, Tennessee, will shortly walk out into the world with a brand-new face, attractive and unmarked.

Medical science has given her a complete new face, resembling but little her features before the accident. Only her blue eyes, which escaped injury, remain untouched.

Five times doctors from Memphis Baptist Hospital took skin from her back, which escaped injury, to cover her charred face, hands, arms, and legs.

For months she has lain in bandages, unable to move. The last bandage was removed recently, and now only the final healing process remains.

Invisible Glass Has Arrived

INVISIBLE glass has arrived, and Dr. Irving Langmuir, the American Nobel Prize-winner, has been telling about some of its remarkable properties.

It has been produced by his assistant, Dr. Katherine Blodgett, of the General Electric Co. Laboratory at Schenectady.

We have already had invisible shop windows produced by means of curved glass, but in this new development the glass itself is treated.

Roughly and briefly the principle is this. The waves of light striking the surface of glass "cannot off" at an angle and reach the eye by reflection.

Dr. Blodgett coats the glass with thin films of transparent chemicals which refract light at a different angle.

Reflections, by the way, means the bending of light rays. Water refracts powerfully, and that is why a stick appears bent when you push it into a pool.

CANCELLING OUT. Reflections from the glass and from the surface film cancel each other out and do not affect the eye.

By this method, 99 per cent. of light passes through the glass instead of about 92 per cent. ordinarily.

Dr. Langmuir showed a gauge, the dial of which was covered half with ordinary glass and half with treated glass. There was no doubt about it.

It should be a boon for art galleries. In many of them the glass in front of the pictures picks up so many stray reflections that it is quite difficult to find a good viewpoint.

The method is not yet perfect. Optical lenses made from very hard glass can be fine-coated with quartz and can be quite hard. But the coating on ordinary plate-glass is still too soft for everyday use.

SCANT THANKS. Dr. Blodgett, however, is "on to something" which may solve that. She is a very brilliant American scientist who became a pupil of the late Lord Rutherford at Cambridge and won highest distinction.

All the thanks she gets from The Inevitable Female is: "She takes the shine off the windows and leaves the shine on our noses."

You he-men who crack walnuts in your clenched fists are out of date. The latest method of "undressing" walnuts is by an explosion.

Nuts are carried on a belt past a circular blow which snicks the shell. A jet of oxygen into the hole.

The nuts drop into an ignition chamber. The charge explodes, the shells drop into one conveyor and the kernel into another. Isn't science wonderful?

Elm Disease Beats Scientists

THE elm, one of the most familiar trees in Britain, is likely to lose its dominating place in the English countryside.

During the past ten years thousands have been killed or maimed as the result of the virulent disease first identified in Holland soon after the war and often known as Dutch Elm Disease.

The Forestry Commission's investigations show that fewer trees, particularly in the eastern and midland counties, show active symptoms, but it is feared that this check is only temporary.

The Commission, however, states in its latest report that there is no reason to suppose that the elm as an English tree is doomed.

There is no known cure for the disease. Hope for the retention of the elm lies partly in the raising of an immune strain.

The English counties most affected are those in the southern half of the country. Scotland has so far escaped.

BEETLE THAT BORES IN. The Agricultural Correspondent writes:

Elm disease is caused by a fungus that is carried by the elm bark and transmits the fungus that infects the wood, where the disease will continue to live without further infection.

Boughs of trees affected by the disease wither and die, and the first thing noticed is discoloration of the leaves.

Eventually, decay will spread to the whole tree, although the tree will often recover if it is not killed out-right the first season it is attacked.

The disease has been identified only since the war, and Southern England is the worst sufferer.

Navy Is Deciding Factor In War

The Navy Estimates for 1939, provide for a large amount of new construction, including battleships, cruisers and destroyers.

This will increase the present total of 600,000 tons, the naval work already in hand to the highest level attained in time of peace.

By approving this expansion the Government has implicitly rejected the principle cherished in certain quarters, particularly on the Continent, that a future war will be decided by the air bombardment of enemy cities and industrial centres.

This principle has been rejected by the naval staffs of all the leading Powers except Italy.

An authoritative Washington correspondent informs me that the General Board of the United States Navy, the supreme advisory body on American naval questions, recently expressed the opinion in an exhaustive report that a conflict would almost certainly be decided by sea power.

NO KNOCK-OUT BLOW

The gist of the report was as follows: "The knock-out theory, by means of aircraft used in mass formations and with absolute ruthlessness, was originated by the Italian officer Gen. Douhet who is also reported to be a student of psychology. It was put to the test in the Abyssinian campaign and apparently vindicated, but only because the victims had absolutely no means of hitting back."

It has since been tried in Spain and China, where the aggressor in both cases has enjoyed overwhelming supremacy in air power, yet in neither case has a knock-out blow been achieved.

"Against Powers such as Great Britain and France, which proved their extraordinary 'toughness' and endurance in the last war, the Douhet theory would have little chance of succeeding, especially as both Powers would be able to retaliate very heavily."

"Do Gen. Douhet and his adherents imagine that the civil population in Italy or Germany would stand intensive air bombing better than the peoples of Britain or France?"

"Is he aware that in the autumn of 1917, when British counter-attacks

by air on German industrial centres was seriously developing for the first time—after the civil population of Britain had endured two years of this punishment—the German Government suggested to the Allies an armistice as regarded air attacks on non-military zones?

In short, the Douhet weapon is two-edged, and just as likely to inflict mortal injury on its users as those against whom it is used."

It is the view of American and German naval strategists that air operations would soon result in a deadlock, and that the final issue would be determined by sea power in the form of blockade.

Both Germany and Italy are considered in Washington to be extremely vulnerable to blockade. In the opinion of an eminent American authority Italy could not hold out for more than six months if her sea communications were cut, while Germany, in spite of her efforts to become self-sufficient, would eventually be subdued.

It is admitted by her own experts that if, for instance, her opponents were able to stop her imports of Swedish ore, her armament industry would speedily be paralysed.

These views lend special interest to the growing strength of the British and French navies. On completion of their current programmes, but without counting the additions to be made this year, Britain and France will be able to muster:

33 capital ships, 220 destroyers and torpedo-boats, 14 aircraft carriers, 163 submarines.

"To these would be added a swarm of patrol and anti-submarine craft."

A recent report by the United States Naval Intelligence Bureau credited Britain and France with "overwhelming sea supremacy" against any possible combination of aggressor Powers.

CLEVELAND POPULATION RISES

Girl Swallows Toy 'Plane

Formby, Lancashire. "I HAVE swallowed an aeroplane," said five-year-old Joan Maitland, of Bullton, Formby, running up to her mother.

Mrs. Maitland, who had seen Joan playing with a sharp-pointed model plane with a span of about an inch, took her at once to Liverpool Royal Infirmary.

There an X-ray, showed the toy lodged down Joan's throat, and a specialist removed it in a few minutes.

In less than an hour the child was back home and in bed, uninjured.

There was grave danger that the pointed wing tip would penetrate the gullet.

UNAWARE OF DANGER. But Joan, unaware of the danger, was perfectly calm. She saw the X-ray photo and showed great interest.

A periscope tube with a light and reflector was inserted into the throat and the aeroplane was removed with a pair of special forceps.

Mrs. Maitland said: "Joan was lying on her back holding the aeroplane above her face. It slipped from her fingers and fell into her mouth."

Baton Keeps Actors
Up To Scratch

THE Mid-Bucks Players are coming to London again, in the Second Amateur Dramatic Contest.

They will produce James Bridle's "The Letter-Box Rattles" at the snug little Fortune Theatre.

Their first entry in any drama contest was made last year when they produced "Mystery at Green-fingers" and gained second place in that first News Chronicle Contest against the pick of the country's amateur dramatic talent.

TIME COUNTS. "I use a conductor's baton at rehearsals," said Producer Derek Barnes, "to impress upon my players that to come in too soon or too late with a line is akin to fumbling a bat in a band concert."

We recommend Tenova self-supporting socks for quite a number of reasons. The support they give is firm—not tight; straight—not oblique. They are equally reliable for muscular and modest calves, for long legs and short. They need no adjustment. The tops, which contain an elastic yarn, wash with the socks, much more hygienic. And they are available in all the latest patterns.

INTERPORT SOCCER SIDES PICKED TO PLAY MANILA

COMPOSITION OF ELEVENS QUITE SATISFACTORY

But why Centre-forward as an Outside Right?

(By "Abe")

The Interport Selection Committee met last evening at the end of the Council meeting and picked the following teams to represent Hongkong and the Rest of Hongkong in matches against the visiting Manila sides during the Chinese New Year holidays:

HONGKONG XI

Tam Kwan-kon (S. China "B").
Lee Tin-sang (S. China "A").
Sheehan (Middlesex).
Honeywell (Navy).
Dixon (Navy).
Leung Wing-chiu (S. China "A").
F. Fowler (Club).
Fung King-cheung (S. China "A").
Lee Wal-long (S. China).
Captain.
A. V. Gosano (St. Joseph's).
Hau Ching-to (Eastern).
Reserves: — Ulrich (Kowloon).
Rieteren (Kowloon).
Joseph (S. China).
Gomes (St. Joseph's).

REST OF HONGKONG

McAllister (Navy).
Ho Yung-sang (Kwong Wah).
Ulrich (Kowloon).
Lau Ming-chol (S. China "A").
Beltrao (St. Joseph's), Captain.
E. L. Sirange (Club).
Tang Kwong-sum (S. China "A").
Jorge (Kowloon).
Chan Tak-fai (S. China "B").
Gomes (St. Joseph's).
Rieteren (Kowloon).

COMMENTS ON TEAMS

As far as the Interport team is concerned, eight of the eleven places were more or less certain; only in the other three was there room for speculation. But few local critics would have guessed who the selectors had in mind for these three positions until last evening. It was fairly obvious that Tam Kwan-kon, Lee Wal-long, A. V. Gosano, Leung Wing-chiu and Hau Ching-to could not be left out. The only positions which were in doubt were one back, one half-back and the right-wing.

The selections of Sheehan to partner Lee Tin-sang at back and Honeywell to fill the remaining half-back berth were understandable; but why Fowler, a centre-forward, for the outside right position?

It is not easy to follow the selectors' line of reasoning. If an outside right is wanted, then why not select a man who is an outside? I am aware that once upon a time Fowler was an outside right; but how long ago was this? He has been chosen for representative games on several occasions, and for what position each time?

PASSED OVER

Seeing that Tang Kwong-sum, the South China "A" right winger, has been chosen for the Rest eleven, one assumes that the selectors also had him under consideration when the right-wing berth came up for discussion. The selectors must also have been aware that he has a perfect understanding with both Fung King-cheung and Lee Wal-long, who are his team-mates, and that he is an outside right who is as good as anyone else in that position. And yet we find he has been passed over for a man who turns out regularly at centre-forward! Need any more be said?

Practice Game To Be Played On Thursday

Apart from Fowler's selection as outside right, one has no complaint to make regarding the rest of the side. The defence is well-balanced. Dixon, I see, has been preferred to Beltrao as centre-half, but this comes as no surprise. Dixon has been turning out more regularly than Beltrao, and it is probably wiser to have a man who plays regularly than one who does not, especially as there is so little difference in the merits of the two.

Honeywell's inclusion may not have been expected, but it is only fair to say that he is a very consistent defender, and with Dixon as pivot, he will feel very much at home.

The three inside berths have been filled by veterans. Judging Fung King-cheung and A. V. Gosano at their best, Hongkong should not find real-getting a difficult task; and if the two outside forwards give them the measure of support expected, the Colony can face the prospects of the Interport match with equanimity.

What strikes me as the most pleasing feature of the Rest side is that young players like, Jorge, Gomes and Rieteren have been given their opportunity. Ho Yung-sang, the Kwong Wah right back, who played such a magnificent game for the Chinese in a recent Lal Wah cup match, has been picked to partner Ulrich at back. If he plays as well as he did against the Navy, the Rest defence will be in safe hands.

Tang Kwong-sum fills the outside right position, the rest of the line being Jorge, Chan Tak-fai, Gomes and Rieteren—thus making the forward line one of the fastest that has ever been assembled locally. The two inside, Jorge and Gomes, will show the Filipinos a few tricks yet.

Members of the Hongkong R.F.C. and the Malayan R.U. teams which met on the Club ground at Happy Valley on Saturday and battled to a 19-19 draw after a game of fluctuating fortunes. The two captains, H.D. Bidwell, of Hongkong, and D. Harper, of Malaya, are seated in the centre with the ball in front of them.—Mee Cheung.

Boon-Danahar Fight Venue Puzzles Fans

By Norman Hurst

London, Jan. 11. We are fast approaching a parallel with the days when—in order to escape the watchful eye of police, who arrested prize-fighters and threw them into gaol—those wishing to engage in the noble art used to scurry from one county to another. The arena for any particular fight was only named to a select few, at a few hours' notice.

The above procedure, so far as mystery is concerned, is being carried out to the letter in the proposed Boon-Danahar match.

I have seen it openly stated that the pair will meet at the Empress Stadium, Earl's Court. I would be prepared, however, to lay a shade of odds that the contest does not take place there.

The bout, the making of it and everything to do with it leads up to a peculiar position. Mr. Syd Hulls will be finishing his promotional connection with Harringay in mid-February.

Will he stage the match at Harringay before he goes out? Or will he take the contest elsewhere?

If Mr. Hulls decides to make it his promotion there are several alternatives.

ALBERT HALL?

The Albert Hall which, while it has not the seating capacity of Harringay or the other big London halls, is always good for top prices. It is quite on the cards that Mr. Hulls could make a business deal with Wembley and run his show there.

There is always the possibility of a date at Olympia when the circus closes down, where a keen promoter can step in and take advantage of the circus seating, as has been done before.

Bobby Locke Retains Golf Championship

Here And There With "Abe"

South China Football Teams Given Bad Time

THOUGH superior in almost every department, South China "A" present Shield champions, found goal-scoring a difficult task when they met Kowloon in the replay at Caroline Hill on Saturday, and in spite of extra time, they had to be content with a draw of 1-1. Their present League standing held no terrors for Kowloon, who themselves also had a Shield reputation to uphold. In years gone by, Kowloon had no superiors in Shield games irrespective of their position in the League; and on Saturday they demonstrated once again that the old spirit is still alive.

The defence gave a splendid display against the swift-moving Chinese forwards who did everything but score. Chances the Caroline Hill men had in plenty; but accuracy was absent, and whatever mistakes the Kowloon defenders made were amply covered up. On Sunday, the South China "B" were eliminated by Eastern who, on the previous Sunday, had humbled South China "A" in the League. It was a triumph as complete as it was deserving. Eastern undoubtedly were the better side, the forwards working with a cohesion and a speed which proved most disconcerting to the South China "B" defence. I have heard the excuse advanced that the South China men have not yet recovered from their strenuous tour to Saigon and Haiphong, where they played ten games in the course of 15 days. There must be something in this; but unless they show improvement in their next few games, they may have good reason to regret having made the tour.

Inter'al Badminton

A badminton competition run on a Davis Cup lines is again being discussed in England. Including the Dominions, there must be at least 20 countries playing the game who would be interested in such an international tournament. Badminton is especially popular in Canada and the United States where there are a number of first-class professionals. If nothing is done before, the first step towards the inaugurating of a world badminton contest will be taken in the spring of 1940 when a party of English players are due to visit Australia. This is the first time such a trip will have been made by an official English badminton team and it is hoped that one outcome of the tour will be the starting of a competition open to all countries.

Another O'Reilly

AUSTRALIAN critics are speaking of Douglas Ring, a young Richmond bowler, developing into another O'Reilly by the time of the M.C.C. visit in 1940. He is hailed as one of the bowling finds of years and has already taken 27 wickets at an average cost of 11.7. His most recent performance was six for 30 on a plumb wicket against Fitzroy, the leading district team. Ring is of the O'Reilly type and build. He bowls with O'Reilly's energy and determination, turning both ways, with an occasional faster top-spinner. He also keeps a perfect length and seems to bowl equally well both with and against the wind.

Breach Of Rule

DRASTIC measures are said shortly to be taken by the Royal and Ancient Golf Club to put a stop to the practice of amateur golfers receiving presents of golf balls from manufacturers. Many well-known players, it is stated, receive monthly presents of a box, and in some instances two boxes, of balls from the makers. This is a distinct breach of the rule which states that a player may accept no more than two balls which must be marked with the word "sample". The R. and A. has been in communication with various bodies with a view to stamping out what is regarded as a "pernicious" system. Each month thousands of golf balls, it is stated, are received by illegals in this manner. Where the names of offenders are known it is within the power of St. Andrews to refuse their entries for the Amateur Championship without assigning any reason. The same power is vested in the Unions responsible for the English, Scottish, Irish and Welsh championships.

AMERICAN DAVIS CUP HOPES NOT SO BRIGHT

Captain Of Team Wants To Resign

New York, Feb. 1. As though the loss of Donald Budge were not a crushing enough blow to future American Davis Cup hopes, it now appears likely that Captain Walter Pate, the little Wall Street lawyer who has coached and counselled the American boys to victory for the past two years, may be missing from Davis Cup circles next summer.

Mr. Pate has asked Mr. Holcombe Ward, President of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, to appoint another Davis Cup captain. His reason is that he wishes to get back to his law practice and devote more time to it.

"I'm simply worn out. I've been away from home and out of the office for about three months in each of the last four years. I've enjoyed every minute of it, but now I feel it's somebody else's turn," he told Reuter in an interview.

"I guess one reason I want to quit is that I dread the task of putting together another Davis Cup doubles team," he added.—Reuter.

RECENT RUGGER TIES AT HOME DESCRIBED

London, Jan. 23. The return game between the Light Blues and Richmond, played on the Athletic Ground at Richmond, instead of at Cambridge, made for a fast and thoroughly interesting contest. Cambridge won after a by no means convincing start, by a placed goal and a penalty, a goal and a penalty goal. They had five Blues to help them, though they were without their captain, and they did so well generally as a team, when they warmed up to their work, that their win was fully deserved. Parsons-Lockhart was at his best at stand-off half.

Many in the small crowd at Northampton came away with two impressions of the match with R.A.F. One was that the final score of a goal and two tries to nil flattered the winners, and the other that in R.A.F. under better conditions would, because of their greater pace at a very different result had the ground, and in consequence the ball, not been extremely difficult. Three fine tries of opportunist character, one of them converted, built up the home score. All were obtained in the first half.

Although without their captain J. C. Cook, Bedford defeated Gloucester at Bedford by a goal, a penalty goal, and a try to two tries. Before the match the teams and the crowd stood in silence for two minutes and the teams wore black armlets as a mark of respect to the president and chairman of the Gloucestershire Rugby Union, Mr. F. T. Brookes, who died on Tuesday.

STRANGE DECISIONS. On a ground little better than a morass, Plymouth Albion and Newport fought a battle so hectic that within half an hour most of the jerseys looked alike in their coating of mud, and it was practically impossible to distinguish between Albion. In the almost obscured, it was not surprising that there were some strange decisions. At least one perfectly good try was disallowed, and there were certainly two doubtful tries, which were awarded. On the whole, however, the mistakes balanced out fairly enough, and Albion were full value for their victory by a goal and two tries to two tries.

The first meeting of the season of Bristol and Llanelli, on the Bristol Memorial ground, a miniature Eng-land and Wales match, produced a well-contested game, but no score. This was in direct contrast to the corresponding match last season, which Bristol won by 17 points to 4. The ground was in a terribly bad condition, making it very hard going, and in the end largely a test of stamina. In addition, the backs counted state of the ball, and though many commendable efforts were made at the passing game, it was seldom that they resulted in any progress being accomplished.

The rain-soaked pitch at Burntwood Lane, Wandsworth, interfered very little with the game between Old Leysians and Guy's Hospital, which the former won by a dropped goal and two penalty goals to a try. With Gould, Glover, Nicoll and Todrick outstanding, while outside Sykes, at centre, "three" was sure of himself.

Manchester beat Birkenhead Park (27-3) and Sale beat Halifax (6-5) but Waterloo lost to the North of Ireland (5-7). Several matches were cancelled.—Our Own Correspondent.

Here's a veritable mix-up—one scuffling mass of struggling brown and muscled. This picture was taken in the Interport soccer match on Saturday between the Hongkong R.F.C. and the Malayan R.U. But where's the ball?—Photo by Jager.

I propose to tell you

Problem No. 1 appeared
—a little girl, whose mother explained that Jean had
"growing pains."

Jean's mother seemed a little put out
at having been asked to attend the medical examination for such a simple matter when she had dinner to get ready, but the doctor explained quietly that these growing pains should never be ignored seeing that they were so often a definite sign of rheumatism.

Jean's Rest Cure

One look at Jean's pale cheeks and dark-shadowed eyes made me feel that she was all too true in her remark, and when the child's heart was sounded we knew the rest.

She was definitely a rheumatic subject and was recommended for a special rheumatism clinic.

The specialist there may possibly advise that Jean should go to a convalescent home for a time," she explained gently to the mother, "and I do hope that you will agree to this for your little's sake."

She went on to explain that only rest
would lead to a complete cure, and that
in these special homes Jean would still be able to have lessons from a governess who taught the children in the wards.

Right Treatment

I could only hope that the child would be given the rest that her little heart needed, and it cheered me to remember that, thanks to these rest

less cases had been cured through this special clinic. Immediately after Jean, came a child who stated that she always felt tired "in her legs." Small wonder, for she was definitely flat-footed, the arches of both feet having given way seriously under the weight of her body.

I noticed that she was wearing heelless sandals, and apparently she had chosen this footwear herself with the idea that it would rest her feet.

"Not a bit of it, Nellie," the doctor
explained to her gravely. "What you want, dear, are special exercises to help to make these arches under your feet strong again and a heel to your shoes to ease those bones back into the right position."

She was recommended to the orthopedic specialist who would give her special exercises twice a week, and I made a point of procuring a copy of these exercises, which I shall be delighted to send to any parents whose children suffer in like manner. Incidentally they are equally useful for adults.

Talking Troubles

No. 3 on the list was a nice-looking little boy called Donald, who was affected with a bad stammer.

The mother told us that he had spoken clearly until he was three,
when he had met with a sudden shock.
After this he often had a difficulty in commencing a word, and the tendency
had steadily increased.

His mother told us that he had

any extra excitement increased his disability, as did the occasional teasing
that he received from an older sister
who was inclined to mimic his speech.

I was not surprised to notice that Donald was left-handed, too, for this condition often accompanies stammer-

Reheating Hints

DISHES like shepherd's pie that
are made with cooked meat,
are apt to grow dry in the oven.
This is avoided if the meat is wellmoistened with gravy or stock
and a bowl of water is placed at the bottom of the oven.

A fairly hot oven is best, since
the dish is more quickly heated
and less moisture lost in the process.

Never keep a reheated dish in
the oven until the top is brown.
This generally means in effect that the ingredients are recooked. Take it out as soon as it is thoroughly
hot all through, dot with butter,
and brown under the grill.

This also applies to vegetarian
dishes, such as macaroni cheese,
the constituents of which are cooked beforehand and are only put into the oven to be heated through and have their flavours
well mingled.

Our Present Day Virtues

An Altered Sense of Values

HAVE you noticed that as time goes on, our sense of values alters, so that the pet virtues of Grannie's day
are often regarded as failings by the modern woman?

For instance, in these days a sweet
disposition can be much over-rated.
How often do we find that a placid
temper really means that its owner lacks pluck or pride? It is so very easy to sit back perfectly indifferent
to snubs or to differences in opinion,
to agree to a certain line of action,
because everybody else does, "all
under the cloak of an even temper."

We all know the limp creature who smiles like a sunburst, but has not the pluck of a fly. She may be sweet and easy to get on with, but judged by modern woman's standards, she would be much more admired if she had moral courage.

Cloying Sweetness

For one woman to say of another,
"I admire her, she has grit, she is
'game' over things," is high praise indeed. Too much sweetness can be cloying, and often indicates lack of character.

Economy is the sort of virtue which, if we possess it, makes us feel as if we deserve a halo. The old fashioned "economical" used to be so thrifty and to save until she could sit alone all around her, so that she could hardly see beyond her own nose. Money spent on amusements, clothes, or little luxuries,
were regarded usually as extravagance. A visit to the hairdresser's was almost epoch-making.

False Economy

Present day economy does not stand so much for stinting and saving,
as for wise spending and avoidance
of waste. The housewife who in a fit of enthusiasm paints and papers
a room and then is so over-strained that she has to take a day off and get extra help in to cope with the daily round, is a very misguided creature indeed, and deserves scant sympathy for her "economy campaign."

Similarly, the woman who has no flair for dressmaking and wastes time, temper, and material in striving
to make her own frocks.

Truth is another virtue which has taken on a different guise. Actually there can be no grading between truth and untruth. But what we call
"truth" so often stands for tactless-
ness or dreadful outspokenness.

Gilding the Pill

The prim self-righteous mortal who prides herself on being candid is not the up-to-date construction we put on truth. We prefer tactful, resourceful women who sugar coat
their pills. Life is difficult enough,
and a little constructive criticism
may help where an orgy of plain speaking too often only depresses.

Vanity undoubtedly has its place
in the modern scheme of things, and is a virtue which the majority of women possess. If we are vain over our appearance we may be pretty sure that we shall never be ill-roomed. If we are houseproud, our home will never look neglected and uncared for. Vanity I think is only harmful when it becomes obtrusive.

What about charity? Here our standards have improved with time.
Genuine interest and practical sympathy with people who are up against it, with children who are unhappy and uncared for, with invalids
and lonely souls, is cherished as something very precious indeed.

Tolerance, too, is a virtue which
has come very much to the front.
People are not so narrow-minded as they used to be and snobbishness is hated. The woman who prides herself on "keeping to herself" has a poor time of it in these days.

As in everything else, we must move with the times. Otherwise we may find our pet virtues rounding on us and becoming practically fault-finders.

President Roosevelt is asking the in-coming Congress for an army air force of 13,000 planes.

BOMB OUTRAGES

London Police Hunt For Territories

London, Feb. 6. The followers of Patrick Maxwell, leader of the North Ireland Nationalist Party which is demanding the incorporation of six Irish counties into Eire, collected in the streets of Londonderry last night and publicly burned thousands of leaflets calling upon the inhabitants of Northern Ireland to enrol for national service. In the meantime the London police who are making feverish attempts to track down the persons responsible for the bomb explosions in the two London underground stations had discovered in a house in Ilford, a suburb of London, a box containing 15 dynamite charges. The occupant of the house, believed to be one of the leaders of the Irish bomb campaign, had apparently received timely warning and succeeded in making good his escape. According to information in possession of the Scotland Yard authorities, the terrorist campaign conducted in England by the Irish Republican Army is the work of six men who were expelled from Northern Ireland last year and since then have been living in one of the northern suburbs of London. Nothing, however, is known by the police about these men except for meagre particulars supplied by the Ulster police. The theory held by Scotland Yard is that in the course of the last five years the Irish Republican Army has been busy amassing arms and explosives in England. In reply to a request for co-operation sent by the London police authorities, the Government of Eire says that as far as it has been able to ascertain none of the prominent leaders of the illegal Irish Republican Army has left Irish territory. Lord Craigavon, Premier of Northern Ireland, who is at present on his way back from Ceylon, told newspaper correspondents last night that had not the Ulster police taken extensive precautions the entire Cabinet of Northern Ireland and all leading officials in Ulster would have become victims of the murder campaign. —Trans-Ocean.

Mystery "S Plan"
London, Feb. 6. References to a mysterious "S. Plan" were made by the prosecution at Bow Street Police Court to-day when 12 men appeared on remand. The prosecution described the plan as most comprehensive and covering almost every field of public activity. The prosecution also announced that another two arrests had been made, one of the persons being of considerable importance to the organisation. Uniformed police were posted at the doors of the Court and plainclothes men patrolled the streets and all sides of the building. The prosecution stated that the "S. Plan" was found on one of the accused. It appeared there was an association going by the name of the Irish Republican Army which was responsible for the plan and it was quite clear from the document that the organisation was very active in England. The document began, "In order to exercise the maximum world effect, a diversion must be carried out at a time when a major war or world crisis is on foot. If carried out when trouble is anticipated, the jumpiness and nervous expectations of the Government as well as the nervous potential panic of the people can be exploited to the full."

The document mentioned that an ultimatum was to be delivered to England demanding her complete evacuation from Irish territory. It referred to sabotaging of aeroplane factories, stores, public services and such key industries as were accessible, also commerce, banking, shipping, ordinary industries, cotton mills, grain, tobacco, spirit stores, motor tyre stores and timber yards. The large circulation of the English press was described as the "first target." The document also mentioned telegraph system, radio and broadcasting cables and water. Referring to Government offices, the document stated that where a sympathetic Government employee was available there was nothing more simple than depositing a suitable form of incendiary unit in cupboards or elsewhere. All the defendants were remanded in custody. —Reuter.

Colossal Nerve Shown In Protest

Japan Asks R.N. For "Explanation"

Tsingtao, Feb. 6. A strong protest was lodged with the British consular authorities this afternoon by Mr. D. Katoh, Japanese Consul-General here, with regard to the alleged interference by an officer of the British cruiser Birmingham in the examination of the steamer Yung-cheng by Tsingtao customs officers on January 30. The Japanese protest pointed out that the officer of H.M.S. Birmingham refused by force examination by the customs officials of the British steamer Yung-cheng which was charged with having violated customs regulations, thus preventing the local officials from executing their duties. While reminding that such action by the British officer hampered the Japanese policy in Tsingtao, the Japanese authorities asked for an explanation of the unwarrantable action and requested the British authorities to see that similar incidents should not occur in future.

The Japanese Consul-General called on Mr. Martin, the British Consul-General in Tsingtao, at 3 p.m. on Monday. —Domei.

The British and American Commanders-in-Chief expressed deep sympathy with the Japanese Navy in the disaster which overtook Submarine I-63 of the Japanese Fleet in Bungo Straits on Thursday last. —Domei.

CANTON AIR RAID

Attack by Chinese Damages Barracks

Shumchun, Feb. 6. Thirty-two Chinese aeroplanes attacked the suburbs of Canton on February 2. On their way to Canton they fought against Japanese pursuit planes midway between Tsung-fa and Fashien. Two Japanese planes were damaged. In Canton suburbs Japanese barracks were damaged. —Wah Kiu Ya Po.

CHINESE VICTORY

Japanese Air Base in South Shansi Attacked

Chungking, Feb. 6. Chinese aircraft staged a surprise raid yesterday on the Japanese air base at Yunchen, in south Shansi. According to Chinese claims, 40 Japanese planes were demolished, and ground structures were severely damaged.

Information from Chinese aviation circles claims that the bombers appeared above the airfield in the afternoon. They had beautiful weather for their raid and had a clear and unobstructed view of their objective.

After releasing their bombs, which set fire to the aeroplanes and hangars, the planes all returned safely to their base "after the most successful raid so far this year."

Raid on Japanese

Shan, Feb. 6. A squadron of Chinese bombers, escorted by pursuit planes, heavily bombed Japanese positions along the Tsing-fu-fushien railway, south Shansi, and inflicted heavy loss yesterday.

The Chinese airmen dropped during the raid scores of bombs, several of which making direct hits on their objectives. A section of the railway guarded by the invaders was also blown up during the bombardment.

During the last few days, the Chinese air force lent particularly good support to the infantry in repulsing repeated Japanese attacks on the Chinese positions among the hilly heights of the Chungting Mountains, the communique revealed.

All the planes which participated in yesterday's raid on Japanese positions returned safely to their base upon the completion of the work. —Central News.

Mr. Wang, it is added, had hoped to get a diplomatic passport. Having received from Chungking only an ordinary passport, he has again put off for the time being any plans he entertained of leaving for Europe. —Trans-Ocean.

JAPAN'S BLOCKADE OF CHINESE WATERWAYS

PROTESTS IN COMMONS AT STOPPAGE OF SHIPPING

LONDON, Feb. 6.
THE JAPANESE HAVE alleged that they are conducting military operations which would be impeded by the movement of third-party ships, replied Mr. R. A. Butler in the House of Commons to-day, when asked by Commander A. Marsden under what rule of international law the Japanese were preventing British vessels using the Pearl River.

S'HAU POLICE AMBUSHED
SHANGHAI, Feb. 7.
A NUMBER OF unknown gangsters, believed to be using high-powered rifles or mauser pistols, opened fire on a cruising police van containing foreign settlement policemen in the western part of the "Bad Lands" just before midnight last night.
The Chinese driver of the van was wounded.
The shooting took place on the Keswick-Brenan roads near Tunsin road, which is the border of the Japanese-occupied Chinese territory to which settlement police have no legal access, and therefore they could not invade the area to make a search, or return the fire.—United Press.

PLOT TO DYNAMITE BOW ST. STATION
London Unrest At I.R.A. Activities
LONDON, Feb. 6.
LONDON WAS AROUSED to-night when it was made known from an official source that plans had been discovered, showing the police station in Bow Street was to have been blown up during the night.
Scotland Yard was informed of this plot by telephone late this afternoon, whereupon all necessary precautionary measures were taken.
Entrances to Bow Street police court were strongly guarded by detachments of police.
They made a tour of inspection through all parts of the building every half hour, as it was feared that persons who had attended the trial of the 12 Irish republicans might be able, on leaving the building, to conceal a time-bomb somewhere.

MUSEUM GUARDED
Numerous precautionary measures are now also being taken at the British Museum.
All visitors are required to open their handbags and attache cases.
The police emphasised that this was merely a precautionary measure.

PLEA TO AMERICANS
Aid to Japan is War on China
CHUNGKING, Feb. 6.
THE CHINA-BORN American social service leader, the Rev. George Fitch, who during the time of the fall of Nanking, acted as director of the safety zone for Chinese refugees, and who is at present here as secretary of the National Committee of the Chinese Y.M.C.A., to-day addressed 400 men and women, when he said that though American manufacturers had definitely stopped supplying Japan with munitions, such raw materials as cotton, iron, and war necessities like gasoline were still going to Japan in big quantities.
He said that this was tantamount to China fighting two Powers, namely Japan and America, and he hoped Congress would pass a law forbidding exportation to Japan of such

Asked by Mr. Arthur Henderson whether the Government proposed to make any response to the request of the Chinese Government for assistance, Mr. Butler declared that certain Chinese proposals for economic assistance were under consideration, but he was unable to make a detailed statement at present.

YANGTSE BLOCKADE
Asked by Commander A. Marsden whether he had received any statement from the Japanese Government on the question of the re-opening of the Yangtse River, Mr. Butler said that no statement had been received subsequent to their note of November 14 last.
Further evidence of Japanese trading on the Yangtse had been communicated to the Japanese Minister for Foreign Affairs by the British Ambassador to Tokyo, on January 13.
Mr. A. V. Alexander (Lab.): Is the British Government acquiescing in the policy of holding up British shipping?
Mr. Butler: No.—Reuter.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 6.
REPLYING TO QUESTIONS, firstly whether the Japanese navy claims the right to stop any vessel in the China Seas, secondly, if the vessel's papers establish a third Power ownership, whether the Japanese navy will reimburse losses suffered by a vessel during the seizure, a Japanese naval spokesman to-day said that the Japanese navy reserves the right to stop vessels under the proclamation issued more than six months ago.
This was due to the fact that there had been numerous instances where Chinese vessels illegally flew foreign flags, he declared.
In reply to the second question, the spokesman said they had received no demands for compensation.
He admitted that the Shanghai steamer Ado, owned by a Hungarian, was detained at Amoy for the purpose of investigating its status.—United Press.

Tokyo, Feb. 6.
Detention of the s.s. Ada, by the Japanese naval authorities at Amoy, was confirmed by the spokesman of the Japanese Fleet in China Waters to-day.
He stated that her ownership was being investigated under the terms of the Japanese naval proclamation blocking the China coast against Chinese shipping, which was issued on September 6, 1937.—Domei.

and that no indications had been received that any attack on the British Museum was contemplated.
Nevertheless, every person entering the building is closely scrutinised, and strangers are followed about the Museum during their visit.
The recent outrages have affected the numbers travelling by underground, and more people are noticed using motor buses.—Trans-Ocean.

DUTCH AIR LINE TO COME TO H.K.
Colony As Terminus For New Service
A THIRD EUROPEAN air line may soon have its terminal at Kai Tak Aerodrome, making Hongkong the hub of a great aviation wheel whose lines shoot out to America, Holland, France, England, and a dozen nearer countries.
The Royal Netherlands Indies Airways (K.N.I.M.) is seriously considering extending its Batavia-Saigon line to Hongkong, to connect here with Pan-American Airways.
This news was confirmed yesterday by the Philippines representative of K.L.M. (Royal Dutch Air Lines) and K.N.I.M., Mr. P. C. van Houten. Although Hongkong aviation officials are not yet informed, one of them this morning described it as a "natural development," and said that it was possible that negotiations were under way in London.
For some time K.N.I.M. has been seeking permission to extend its lines from Java to Manila, but Washington has taken no action on the application. Should the application to extend the K.N.I.M. air lines to Manila be granted, the plan to extend a line to Hongkong might be abandoned as they could connect in Manila with the P.A.A.

TWO ALLIED COMPANIES
The K.L.M. and K.N.I.M. are two allied companies. The K.L.M., which is the mother company, maintains a net of airlines in Europe with Amsterdam as the home port. This company has a regular service between Amsterdam and Java, with Batavia as the terminal base.
The K.N.I.M. confines its airlines to the Netherlands Indies and neighbouring countries. This company maintains services to Australia, to Saigon, and to Tarakan, North Borneo. Tarakan is only a few hundred miles from Zamboanga.
It is also learned that the K.L.M. will speed up its schedules in 1940 by putting into the Batavia-Amsterdam service high-powered DC4 planes, with day and night flying, thus reducing the travel time between the two bases from 8½ days to 2½ days. This means that in 1940, the proposed extension of their lines to Hongkong materialises, travel time between London and Hongkong will be reduced to approximately 4 days. Each of the DC4s has accommodation for 40 passengers for day flying, 16 passengers for night flying.

HE added that a few Americans still export such materials only through ignorance and for profits.—United Press.
Mr. Fitch recently returned to the Orient from America, when he was warned not to touch Japan or any Japanese-controlled area in China, otherwise he would be arrested by the Japanese, who, resented his exposures of the rape of Nanking.

BRITAIN'S BIG CLAIMS FOR LOSSES IN CHINA

NEW RECORD CAPE FLIGHT
CAPETOWN, Feb. 6.
Alex Henshaw, who set out from Gravesend at 3.35 a.m. on Sunday in an attempt to fly to the Cape and back in four days, arrived here to-day.
He took 39½ hours for the trip, which is five and a half hours less than the record established by Flying Officer Clouston and Mrs. Kirby Green.
Henshaw, it is reported, will start on the homeward trip to-morrow morning.

COLOSSAL JAPANESE IMPERTINENCE

TSINGTAO, Feb. 6.
A STRONG PROTEST was lodged with the British consular authorities this afternoon by Mr. D. The Japanese protest pointed out that the officer of H.M.S. Birmingham refused by force examination by the customs officials of the British steamer Yung-cheng which was charged with having violated customs regulations, thus preventing the local officials from executing their duties.

The Japanese Consul-General called on Mr. Martin, the British Consul-General in Tsingtao, at 3 p.m. on Monday.—Domei.

AZANA IN SWITZERLAND
Geneva, Feb. 6.
Reports received here state that President Azana of the Spanish Republic arrived in Geneva, 20 miles south-west of Lake Geneva immediately on the Franco-Swiss border at 8 o'clock this evening.
President Azana, it is stated, is on his way to his brother-in-law, the former Spanish Consul-General at Geneva.—Trans-Ocean.

THREE HUNDRED CLAIMS, amounting to £230,000 for destruction, confiscation and damage by looting have been accepted as admissible from British firms in China, and have been presented to the Japanese Government, declared Mr. R. A. Butler in the House of Commons to-day, when answering Sir Charles Cazyer.
Replying to supplementary questions, the Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs stated that claims of this kind were usually settled at the end of the hostilities.
Asked whether it was not the case that the Japanese had declared they will pay no compensation for loss of property, Mr. Butler replied: "I would not care to accept such a general statement as that."

ROAD TO BURMA
Captain Peter Macdonald asked whether the Government of Burma was giving any assistance to the improvement of the existing road to the Chinese frontier, from which point it continued to Yunnan, and if not, whether in view of the development of this trade route to the Far East, it could bring this thoroughfare up to modern standards.
Lieut-Col. Muirhead, Under-Secretary for India and Burma, replied that the Government of Burma had already brought the road from Lashio to the Chinese frontier, a distance of about 120 miles, up to an all-weather standard. Further work was in progress upon its development.

TSINGTAO POSITION
Mr. Robert Morgan asked what action the Prime Minister had taken with reference to the refusal of the Japanese authorities to allow goods to be exported from Tsingtao when the exports had been financed through foreign bankers by means of the Chinese national currency, and whether such a refusal had been extended to any other ports in China.
Mr. Butler, in reply, said that there had been cases in recent months in which the Japanese authorities at Tsingtao had refused to permit exports, either on the ground mentioned by Mr. Morgan, or without assigning any reason.
The British Consul-General at Tsingtao had made frequent representations on this matter to his Japanese colleague, who pleaded military necessity as justification for the action taken.
The matter had also been taken up by Sir Robert Craigie in Tokyo.
The system of export permits was recently extended to Chefoo and Weihaiwei, where the situation was being closely watched, declared Mr. Butler.—Reuter.

REGISTER OF MAN-POWER
HOBART, Feb. 6.
Mr. Joseph A. Lyons, the Commonwealth Premier, to-day announced that Australia would immediately compile a voluntary National Register of man-power and other resources which would be available in time of an emergency.
This decision is similar to that made last year by the Imperial Government.—United Press.

WAR ON TWO CONTINENTS

These two maps show you what has happened in Spain and in China in two years of warfare. Lightly shaded areas were those held by the Insurgents in Spain and by the Japanese in China at the beginning of 1938. The heavily shaded parts show what they have gained in the intervening 14 months.
In Spain, Catalonia is about to completely fall to combined assault by Insurgents and Italians. In China, however, the Japanese hold on their "occupied territory" is precarious, because there are a million guerillas in the vast areas to which they claim possession, and they exercise control only in proximity to navigable rivers and the rail-ways.

LOYALIST FORCES TO SURRENDER IN FRANCE

PARIS, Feb. 6.
THE PRESIDENT OF the Basque Federal Government, Senor Manuel Aguirre, arrived here to-day from Perpignan by train.
He looked worn out and very depressed, as, accompanied by the former Minister of Justice, Senor Irujo, he was met at the station by an official of the Spanish Embassy in Paris.
In reply to questions by newspapermen, who asked whether the retreat of the Loyalist troops had been ordered by the Government, the ex-President said: "Yes. The order for evacuation has been given. The troops will arrive in successive groups, and I think the retreat will be completed on Monday."

Basque Government And Neutrality
PARIS, Feb. 6.
FACING A VERY DELICATE diplomatic situation following the Loyalists' rout in Catalonia, France to-day advised Dr. Negrin and Senor Companys who were at Perpignan, and President Jose Aguirre of the Basque Government, that their governments would not be permitted to function.—(Continued on Page 4.)

MEDIATION FAILS
London, Feb. 6.
British and French efforts to arrange a cessation of fighting in the Spanish war failed to-day in face of the refusal by both sides to yield to the suggested terms.
General Franco demanded an unconditional Loyalist surrender, while the Loyalist Government was split, Dr. Juan Negrin and Senor Alvarez Del Vayo making a three-point offer to General Franco, while President Manuel Azana favoured unconditional surrender to prevent further bloodshed.
At least temporarily, Negrin and Del Vayo are victorious, and the

BRITAIN CUTS BILL FOR IMPORTS

BRITAIN'S overseas buying is costing us less. Although food and tobacco bill was just as heavy in 1938 as in 1937, imports of raw materials and manufactured goods cost less.

Many articles were cheaper than a year ago. We also curtailed our buying in many directions.

Here is food for thought. We ordered 4,790,967cwt. more wheat during the year, but it cost us £11,226,034 less owing to a slump in world wheat prices following the bumper harvests of 1938.

On the other hand, butter imports cost us £3,471,774 more but the quantity received was a mere 90,842cwt. larger.

Eggs took an extra £1,030,621 this time. This item does not include eggs "liquid or frozen from China," an additional item in the Board of Trade returns, which cost us £2,569,305, or £456,000 more than in 1937.

We are smoking ever more and more tobacco. This luxury took £5,330,932 more than in 1937, the total bill being £23,344,359.

There are just a few of the more curious facts hidden in the figures of the December returns of the Board of Trade.

Here are the official figures for 1938, compared with 1937:

	1938	1937
Imports	£20,437,586	£17,386,842
Exports (Brit.)	£17,003,489	£15,508,005
Re-exports	£1,007,583	£1,525,089
Total exports	£18,011,072	£17,033,094

Owing to the cut in imports, our adverse balance of merchandise trade was reduced by £13,353,151, compared with that of 1937, although it was still high at £207,046,112.

Of the total decrease in British exports, £39,283,875 was in manufactured goods. Machinery made the best showing, with a substantial increase. Textile exports, however, suffered considerable shrinkage.

LESS COTTON EXPORTED
In cotton, the quantity of piece goods exported fell by 534,874,000 square yards. India took 63,280,000 square yards less, while there was a drop in shipments to British West Africa of 107,428,000 square yards.

Motor-cars and parts showed a decrease of £951,600, but new ships were up £4,417,044.

Coal exports showed a decrease of only £242,552 in value, but the quantity shipped fell 4,477,122 tons.

On the import side, raw materials registered a decrease of £27,632,891 at £247,602,871, while manufactured goods were down £41,059,875 at £233,841,022.

The food, drink, and tobacco section showed an increase of £278,192 at £431,377,890.

Exports of British goods and produce in December amounted to £30,000,555, or £3,824,068 less than in November, but December contained one working day less than in November.

Imports, as against November, showed a decline of £3,906,425 at £74,122,071.

Walks After Two Years

Meet London's happiest parents: Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Corish, of Ellenborough Road, N.

Recently they saw their eight-year-old son Philip walk unaided for the first time for two years; he crossed the floor of a ward in the Royal Northern Hospital.

Two years ago he fell 40ft. out of a window at his parents' old home in Holloway Road, N., breaking his high and his jaw. During the next nine months he developed a lung abscess, rickets, an infection of the knee-joint and heart trouble.

"A MIRACLE"

Then he had a "walking calliper" fitted to his leg and with this he was able to make a few steps. Later, in the presence of his parents, he walked around the ward. "My leg does not hurt now when I walk on it," Philip said.

"We never thought we should see him walk again," Philip's father said. "It is nothing short of a miracle that he has recovered so completely after so much illness."

A member of the hospital staff stated that Philip may go home in a fortnight. "As well as helping him to walk, the calliper is resting his leg and strengthening it. He will need further massage and treatment, but in time his leg should be almost as strong as ever."

Lion Fatal In Death

Nairobi, Tanganyika.

A man-eating lion which terrorized a district near Kilgoma, Tanganyika, killed five villagers before its death and caused the death of a sixth man. Jumping up and down with joy when he heard that the man-eater had been shot by a native policeman, the sixth man fell on a spear and was killed.

Here are Gustav Froelich, German actor whose friends are reported to have seriously bitten Nazi Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels, and Froelich's first wife, the singing actress Gitta Alpar, on a honeymoon in Egypt. Froelich was forced to divorce her because she was the daughter of a Hungarian Jewish rabbi.

"MOST INCONVENIENT HOUSE EVER" IS—A CASTLE

Squandered £100,000 In Four Years

A man who was stated to have spent a fortune of more than £100,000 in four years was sentenced at Bucks Quarter Sessions recently for fraud.

Charles Edgerley (54), of West Street, Marlow, a timber merchant, was ordered three months' hard labour for forging a receipt in connection with a deal he was about to transact with another timber merchant.

Detective-Sergeant Wright said during the war Edgerley amassed a fortune of over £100,000 from Government contract work. According to his own statement he squandered this money in the four years after the war.

During that time he unsuccessfully fought a Parliamentary election.

But Soon It Will Go Modern

BRIDGE CASTLE, Tunbridge Wells.
A family mansion of the Marquis of Abergavenny, described in court by his counsel as "the most inconvenient house that was ever built," is to be modernised.

Application was made in the Chancery Division recently to obtain a declaration by the Court that the proposed alterations were improvements within the meaning of the Settled Lands Act, and that the trustees of a settlement could pay the cost up to half the annual income out of capital.

Mr. Justice Bennett granted a declaration that the trustees could pay £38,400 out of capital towards the improvements of the castle.

FOR FAMILY'S SAKE

Built in the nineteenth century, Bridge Castle stands in beautiful woods. Many trees were planted by members of the royal house.

The Marquis said that the improvements were to be to the interior of the castle. The exterior would remain unchanged.

"I have felt for some time," he said, "that the premises definitely needed bringing up to date. A considerable amount of alteration is necessary."

"I am not doing it for my own benefit, but for the future of the castle and for the sake of my family. The life of the castle will be lengthened by the work to be carried out."

HUNT DEATH RECALLED

The Marquis added that he felt he ought to make the application to the Court before undertaking the improvements and he was very glad it had been granted.

His uncle, the third Marquis, who was killed while taking part in a children's meet of the Eridge Hunt at Groombridge, Sussex, in January, 1938, lived at Bridge Castle, and the Marchioness lived there until recently.

These Dogs Made News

A dog who remembered his tricks saved a house from destruction at Totton, near Southampton, recently.

Don, a Dalmatian had been left in charge of the house by his mistress, Mrs. E. M. Wheeler, teacher in a local school. A coal fell from the fire on to a mat, setting it alight.

Jumping on to a chair, Don pulled back the window catch with his teeth, pushed down the window and barked for help. Neighbours put the fire out.

The constant foot-foot of a motor horn disturbed the congregation during the sermon at St. James's Church, Dover.

Jew Who Escaped

Lord Rothschild told a Glasgow audience about the experiences of a Jew who has escaped from the German concentration camp at Buchenwald.

When he arrived at the camp it was announced that none of the Jews would be allowed to have anything to drink for two days. On the second day his brother-in-law walked into the prison courtyard. It was raining and he raised his head to catch some drops of water.

He was punished for that. A huge wolfhound was set on him and he was severely bitten.

On the night of the third day 14 people in the cell went mad. Shortly afterwards troops came in and beat these 14 people to death.

"It is our belief that unless the Jews in Germany are got out of Germany within two years, a vast proportion of them will be in concentration camps like Buchenwald and Dachau," said Lord Rothschild.

New British Destroyers

Glasgow.
Two destroyers of the "K" class were launched recently on the Clyde—the Kelvin, by the Fairfield Shipbuilding and Engineering Company, Govan, and the Kipling, by Yarrow and Co., Scotstoun.

The Kelvin was launched by Lady Hetherington, wife of Sir Hector Hetherington, Vice-Chancellor of the University of Glasgow and the former Vice-Chancellor of Liverpool University. Mrs. Dumbidge, daughter of Rudyard Kipling, performed the naming ceremony at Messrs. Yarrow's of the destroyer called after her father.

Sir James Lithgow, chairman of the Fairfield Shipbuilding and Engineering Company, speaking after the launch of the Kelvin, urged the reorganisation of the shipping industry to bring it into line with the steel and shipbuilding industries, which had already been organised. While he said, it was well known that the British merchant marine had been built up to its position of supremacy in the days of free trade, and that the great supplying industries of shipbuilding and steel-making had shared in its prosperity, free trade in the old sense did not exist to-day.

The necessary internal reorganisation had been carried out in the steel trade and in the shipbuilding industry, Sir James added. In recent months they had been waiting for the shipping industry to reach a similar state of preparedness. The stage was now set for a combined effort to put the three industries on

Picture Frame Risk In Trains

In a number of railway accidents minor injuries have been caused by broken glass from photograph frames in compartments, states Colonel A. C. Trench, Chief Inspector of Accidents to the Transport Ministry, in a report issued recently.

This glass, he adds, is thin and it might be worth considering its elimination by the provision of some other form of transparent covering.

The report concerns the collision between a passenger train and a light engine on September 10 at Elderslie Station on the Glasgow suburban system of the L.M.S.

Many passengers were injured, most of them slightly, but one subsequently died from meningitis. When the accident occurred the light engine, in charge of Driver Robson, was standing in the station.

Colonel Trench states in his conclusion that the accident would not have occurred but for simultaneous failures by two men, Alexander McLellan, who overlooked the presence of the light engine, and Driver Robson, who failed to send his driver to the signal-box to remind McLellan of his presence.

A fooling which would render them capable of unholding the supremacy of the British merchant marine.

M.P.'S WIFE ESCAPES BY ROPE FROM FIRE

Notgrove (Glos.).
A ROPE of knotted bedclothes saved the life of Lady Anderson, wife of Sir Alan Garrett Anderson, M.P. for the City of London, when she was trapped in her bedroom by fire which wrecked ancient Notgrove Manor here recently.

Heroine of the fire was 19-year-old Doris Sell, kitchen-maid at the manor.

Wearing only her nightclothes she raced a mile through a snow-storm in the early morning darkness to give the alarm. On reaching the village post office she hammered on the door to rouse Mrs. Edith Fluck, the postmistress.

Mrs. Fluck said: "Miss Sell was exhausted and half fainting after her dash through the snow. As I opened the door she stumbled inside and gasped: 'The manor is on fire, ring for the brigade.'"

DAUGHTER'S ALARM

"I telephoned Cheltenham and Stow-on-the-Wold and gave Miss Sell a hot drink. Then she insisted on returning to the manor to help in the salvage work."

Lady Anderson was staying at the manor with her daughter, Miss Diana Anderson. Only a few servants were in the building when Miss Anderson was awakened by the sound of burning woodwork.

Rousing the staff she sent a servant to awaken Lady Anderson, who was sleeping in a bedroom above the main hall, where the fire had started. Flames and smoke, however, barred the way to the room.

Awakened by the shouting, Lady Anderson attempted to escape from the room, but was driven back by the heat.

Then, tearing the sheets and bedclothes, she hurriedly knotted them into a rope which she tied to the left of the bedstead. With a coat over her nightclothes she swung from the window of the bathroom adjoining her room and slid 20ft. to the snow-covered lawn.

Mauled Girl Goes Back To Leopards

Excitement in plenty came to the London Coliseum, and to 15-year-old Austrian understudy, Trudi Bora recently.

At 8.30 in the morning "Professor" Curt Doorlay, whose 101-scenes-in-130-minutes show, "Christmas Rocket," is running, arrived at the theatre.

Awaiting him was a telegram from his versatile leading lady, Ruth Hase, "Have nervous breakdown, so think I'll go home to Belgium."

But the "professor" went to the hospital, interviewed Trudi and the doctors—and departed with the injured girl sharing his taxicab.

She Complained Of Honeymoon 'Snaps'

ORDERING a wife to return to her solicitor husband, Mr. Justice Henn Collins, in the Divorce Court recently, referred to letters which, he said, were obviously the outpourings of a man who sincerely loved his wife.

He granted a decree of restitution of conjugal rights to Mr. Keith David Erskine, of Upper Grosvenor-street, W. Mrs. Kathleen Diana Erskine, of Eaton Hall, Retford, Nottinghamshire, defended the suit on the ground that she had just cause for leaving her husband.

Mr. and Mrs. Erskine were married in October, 1936, at East Retford, and the husband's case was that in November, 1937, his wife ceased to live with him, and refused to return.

Mr. Justice Henn Collins said that two charges against Mr. Erskine were that he showed, to his men friends, in his wife's presence, photographs of her in the nude, which had been taken on their honeymoon.

Mr. Justice Henn Collins said he was not concerned with any question of good taste, but only with how the incident affected the wife. He was satisfied that she was not affronted.

In July 1937 Mrs. Erskine wrote to her husband in terms of deep and unreserved affection. She wrote: "The wind is blowing straight from me to you with a heavy load of love. I have given it a lot to carry, but I trust my friend, the wind, to hand it safe to you with kisses such as only he knows how to give."

"I find," concluded Mr. Justice Henn Collins, "that none of the wife's charges is proved."

Miss Carroll, who is making a short stay in Paris before going to London to meet her husband, said: "The reply I received from Buckingham Palace was neither an acceptance nor a refusal. It was a courteous acknowledgment, stating that their Majesties cannot make any arrangements until they reach Washington."

"I want to stress that the invitation is not merely a personal affair. I represent the British colony in Hollywood, and the invitation is a sincere expression of their loyalty, although they are so far from home."

Ban On Women Athletes

WOMEN athletes preparing for the 1940 Olympic Games have been warned by their clubs not to play hockey, learn to ice-skate, or take part in any strenuous sport which may result in strain or injury.

Said a woman coach, "It is quite easy for athletes to find games which are helpful. Netball is perfect, so is lacrosse, although this takes so much space that it is not always practicable. Indoors, fencing and badminton help footwork, but the training we advise is in the gymnasium—vaulting, skipping, turning somersaults, and parallel bar exercises."

tion as governments on French soil. They were informed that they and their companions would be given refuge and would be treated as the heads of friendly governments. However, they must not make a move which would prejudice France's position of absolute neutrality.

Regarding France's decision to give refuge to Loyalist troops and civilians, it was made clear that France acted purely on humanitarian grounds, despite the diplomatic difficulties involved.

TROOPS GUARD BORDER
 Thousands of French troops are at the frontier ready to receive up to 200,000 Loyalist soldiers, and also to guard French territory.

Three times yesterday French anti-aircraft guns fired on encroaching insurgent planes.

It seems there is no doubt that the Loyalists are willing to negotiate an honourable peace provided they obtain terms.

Meanwhile a Porphyrin message says that the Loyalist defeat in Catalonia has become a debacle as the Government fled for safety, and the army began to make a mass retreat over the frontier, surrendering their arms to French troops, while fleets of Loyalist planes landed at French airports.

Thousands of French troops are at the frontier on a war footing, with mounted field guns and machine guns, ready to repel any insurgent encroachment.

It is reported that President Azana definitely intends to seek a peace in Paris. —United Press.

BERLIN, Feb. 6.

IT IS LEARNED that when Herr Walter Funk took over the presidency of the Reichsbank, he was told that wages, prices, and currency must be kept stable, and that increased taxation as required by Dr. Schacht must be avoided.

Nazi theories also reject inflation, but hold that an increase in banknote circulation is not inflationary so long as the increase is accompanied by a larger production of goods.

It is learned that Herr Funk's view is that the financing of the Nazi regime cannot be the task of one generation, but debts must be spread over a longer period, which is also contrary to Dr. Schacht's policy.

CANNOT HELP STATE

Industrial firms and the public are no longer able to help the State in defraying the enormous costs of armaments and public works.

Two possibilities are being considered; one is the extension of short and medium-term debts beyond the present maturity dates; the other is the creation of a new kind of bonds resembling delivery notes.

It is understood that Herr Walter Funk hopes, by development of the Four Year plan and further rationalisation of industry, that it will be possible considerably to increase production, thus preventing a rise in prices.

He hopes to settle Germany's international debt problem, and he is of the opinion that when Jewish emigration is settled, the danger of a flight of capital will be removed.

It will then be possible to relax foreign currency restrictions, and consider the question of new foreign credits for Germany.—Reuter.

Reprieve For Nathan Rd. Trees

NATHAN ROAD'S trees have been granted a reprieve.

The "Telegraph" was informed this morning that it has been "definitely decided" not to cut down any of the trees, even if the projected double decker bus service is inaugurated.

"It will probably be necessary to trim some of the limbs if the bus service is started," the "Telegraph" was informed.

Loyalists are determined to continue resistance.

Dr. Negrin's proposals were, firstly, the withdrawal of foreign troops, secondly a plebiscite, Spainards to determine the future Government, and thirdly, no reprisals on either side.

The "Paris Soir" reports that the Loyalists have agreed to evacuate 70 German, Italian, and French military and political prisoners this afternoon as a guarantee of no reprisals.—United Press.

CHAPLIN'S NEW FILM Satire Aimed At Dictators

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 6. CHARLIE CHAPLIN has broken his silence about his new film "The Dictators," in which he is to have a talking role for the first time.

The story and dialogue are finished, he said, and screening will begin on March 15. It is hoped that the film will be ready for release in the autumn.

The story naturally is concerned with dictators, but primary purpose is to make people laugh.

"The present political situation makes an exceptional vehicle for comedy. People with an over-abundance of dignity and an over-supply of power always, in the end, have been the targets of laughter," declared the film star.

Chaplin plays the dual role of dictator and the inmate of a concentration camp resembles him exactly.

MILITARY FUNERAL

Royal Scots Pay Tribute To Major R. Scott

The late Major R. Scott, of the 2nd Battalion, Royal Scots, was buried at Happy Valley yesterday with full military honours.

Deceased died at the Military Hospital on Saturday after a long illness contracted during his stay in China as Assistant Military Attaché to the British Embassy. Since he left his Battalion in India, Major Scott had been stationed at Nanking, Hankow and Chungking. He was due to return to England on leave to rejoin his wife and two sons when he was taken ill.

H.E. the General Officer Commanding, Major-General A. E. Grassett, attended the funeral with Brigadier A. B. Thomson, Brigadier J. T. W. Reeve, Col. C. R. Spear (Military Attaché to the British Embassy), Major J. F. Benoy, Capt. J. C. R. Fitzgerald, Capt. C. R. Boxer, and the following officers of the Royal Scots: Lieut. Col. D. J. McDougall, Brevet Lieut. Col. M. Carr, Majors S. E. H. White, A. G. Syme, A. S. Godley, Captains A. G. Mackenzie-Kennedy, S. Burn, H. C. Ireland, Master Sergeant Smith and H. N. Gilbertson. Junior officers and a score of 200 men preceded the cortege from the Memorial to the Cemetery Gates, where the band and a score of 200 men lined the road and stood with arms reversed while the gun-carriage bearing the coffin passed between, followed by the mourners at slow march. The coffin was carried, saddled and with the riding boots reversed in the stirrups, was led in the rear.

Non-commissioned officers bore the coffin, draped with the Union Jack and surmounted by the officer's sword, to the graveside, where the funeral service was read by the Rev. S. Hinchcliffe.

After the coffin had been lowered into the grave, the firing party, drawn from the Royal Scots, fired three volleys. A Piper sounding a lament between each volley. The buglers then sounded the "Last Post" and "Reveille" and officers saluted the grave.

G.O.C. Lays Wreath

Major-General Grassett laid a wreath at the grave and other wreaths were then laid, including some by representatives of the Battalions of the Infantry Brigade.

Mr. J. C. Hutchison, a friend of the deceased, and wives of officers and men of the Battalion, were present at the graveside.

The wreaths included those from the following: H.E. the G.O.C., H. M. Ambassador to China, Sir Archibald Clark Kerr; Brigadier Reeve; Embassy Staff; British Diplomatic Mission; Col. McDougall, Lieut. Col. Carr; all Officers of the Royal Scots; Col. Spear; Col. Levitt Fraser; the G.O.C. and Mrs. W. M. Farren; all ranks, Seaforth Highlanders; all ranks, Middlesex Regiment; Seaforth Highlanders; R.A.; Royal Scots-Irish; Mess; Corporals' Room; Headquarters Company; "A" Company; "B" Company; "C" Company; "D" Company; Corporal Arnot; Mr. D. M. Hutchison; Mess; H.Q. China Command; Officers, Royal Engineers; Officers, Middlesex Regiment; Officers, R.A.M.C.; Garrison Sergeants; Mess; Garrison Sergeant; Mess; China Friends; Matron and Sisters, Military Hospital; and Officers, H.M.S. Eagle.

No photographers were allowed to take pictures in the cemetery. The funeral procession was so long that traffic was considerably delayed at Happy Valley, more than a dozen rams and buses being held up. Further delays were caused later when traffic had to follow the escort marching back through Wan-chai.

A Look Through The "Telegraph"

50 YEARS AGO

The Japanese are gaining advanced ideas about the latest mission—consisting of Mr. Sanzoku Hayashi, Police-Inspector-General and Procurator at Tokyo, with a suite of very intelligent, educated and well-informed men, they will study the police systems in each country. They admitted the "fact" that the Japanese police system is not as good as the British, but thought their own police administration quite as effective.

After an interval of eleven years the Admiral and Officers of the China Squadron again entertained local society at a ball in the City Hall last evening. Working parties from the various men-of-war were busy for days mending the spacious rooms, etc., and very attractive was the effect.

The German officials in Samoa have received Mr. Blacklock, the United States Consul, and Captain Lary, of the American war vessel Adams, of having instigated the recent rioting in Samoa, by supplying Matafua with a rifle. Prince Himehame has made a formal complaint to the United States authorities at Washington.

A section of the German press asserts that American interests are not large enough to justify any dispute with Germany over the matter.

The Vienna Tagblatt declares that Signor Menabrea informed M. Goblet that Italy would blockade Tunis if France enforced the decree regarding the employment of Italian teachers. France then practically withdrew the decree.

25 YEARS AGO

"Reuters" Berlin correspondent says that in the Committee of the Reichstag considering the Navy Estimates, Herr von Jagow, the Foreign Secretary, said Germany's relations with Great Britain could be described as very good, a rapprochement was progressing. The relations between the two nations would be every way marked by mutual confidence.

Admiral von Tirpitz, the Secretary of State for the Navy, said that Great Britain's ratio of 10 to 10 was still acceptable, but a Naval holiday could not be realised. Any realistic approach would be a disaster, and would be examined in a spirit of goodwill.

"Reuters" Agency learns that Italy is still negotiating directly with Turkey regarding the retrocession of the Aegean islands. The present negotiations relate to the Aegean islands, which are to be obtained in return for concessions in the region of Adalia, Asia Minor, where there is a conflict with Great Britain's interests and prejudicial Italian rights in view of railway extensions, but the matter is the subject of friendly discussion between Italy and the British Government.

The Daily Chronicle says that Mr. Ramsay MacDonald desires to retire from the Chairmanship of the Labour Party.

10 YEARS AGO

Captain Frank Hawks, piloting a Lockheed-Vega monoplane, today established a new record in a non-stop flight from Los Angeles to New York. His flying time was 18 hours and 21 minutes.

5 YEARS AGO

A deadly stillness has settled down upon Paris after a night of terror and destruction. The city, but the Prefect of Police has already announced that twelve persons were killed and between five and six thousand wounded, or otherwise injured.

Before dawn, it will be impossible to get a complete picture of the destruction and the cost, but the Prefect of Police has already announced that twelve persons were killed and between five and six thousand wounded, or otherwise injured.

For five hours, the Place de la Concorde resembled a battlefield, in which a grim struggle was waged to and fro between Republican Guards and a mob of over thirty thousand. Time and again, it seemed that the Guards must be overwhelmed and once the mob found its way right to the steps of the Chamber of Deputies to be met with a direct fire from troops on guard.

Paraguay and Bolivia, who have been at war in the Gran Chaco for months past, have agreed to a proposal by His Holiness, the Pope, providing for an exchange of prisoners.

Currency Bill In Commons

London, Feb. 6. No question of any change in monetary policy was involved in the new Currency Bill, declared Sir John Simon, Chancellor of the Exchequer, moving the second reading of the Bill in the House of Commons today.

The Bill was read a second time without division.

Sir John added that the Bill concerned certain details of the monetary mechanism, and he recalled that the Exchange Equalisation Fund had been increased from £150,000,000 to £200,000,000 in order to check undue fluctuations on the exchanges.

Recent events made it opportune to introduce the Bill. Over a long period, ending last spring, gold stocks had continually increased, amounting on January 31 last at the market price, to £835,000,000. In the following six months there was a considerable exodus of gold which reduced the stocks to £689,000,000, of which £151,000,000 was in the Exchange Equalisation Fund, the rest being in the issue department of the Bank of England.

STERLING SPECULATION

That tendency had continued during the rest of the year. Some of the gold loss was due to repatriation of French funds, and some was due to undesirable speculation against the Pound.

The Bill was entirely justified and made no difference to the fundamentals of currency, but was a more accurate statement of facts. There was no trace of inflation or deflation in the proposals. One effect of the evaluation would be the liberation of approximately £5,000,000. The Chancellor said that he did not propose to treat that sum as revenue, but as unrecalled capital appreciation, which would be passed to the Exchange Equalisation Account, where it would constitute capital reserve.—Reuters.

SATURDAY'S BRIDE

Miss Laura Andrade Wed To Mr. M. Sagratal

St. Margaret's Church, Happy Valley, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Saturday when Miss Laura Florinda Andrade, daughter of Mr. Francisco Andrade, of the Harbour Office, was married to Mr. Melencio Sagratal, of Manila, P.I. Father U. Galbani officiated, and the bride was given away by her father.

Mr. R. J. Manaline performed the duties of Best Man, and the bride's younger sister, Miss Clotilde Andrade, acted as bridesmaid.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the bride's house at 18, Fort Street, North Point, and later the same evening the couple left for a brief honeymoon in Macao.

Minorities

AT BOTTOM the question threatening the peace of Europe is not, as Mr. Garvin suggested in the London "Observer" this Sunday, the problem of Italy's claims on France.

It is a question of hegemony.
A single minority has become the issue of the day—a superficial issue. Loud as are the demands from Rome on behalf of its minority in Tunisia and Corsica, they do not drown out the cries and echoes which the existence of minorities in nearly every State in Europe produces.

A truly totalitarian approach to Europe's minority grievances would recognise that Europe itself is one big minority problem.
A readjustment of national borders to bring the greatest number of minority members back into the folds of their own national states would involve cessations of territory by Italy, France, Russia, Germany, Austria, Poland, Rumania, and by other states.

Such a solution naturally is not proposed, because only those adjustments of minority questions which will result in the greatest embarrassment to de-mocracies are at this moment useful in Rome-Berlin diplomacy.

Broadly, religion, race, language, base all minority problems—the problem being grievous usually in proportion to the restrictions placed by governments on the exercise of minority rights and privileges in these three fields.

Incidentally, it is difficult to find a section of Europe in which minorities have been more severely treated than in the south Tyrol, which was ceded to Italy after the Great War and where the minority—in which Berlin appears to take no interest—is Germanic.

Poland, which has joined the clamour for the return of its minorities, is itself ruler over minorities which constitute about thirty per cent. of its population. Hungary governs minorities constituting about 15 per cent. of its population.
About thirty per cent. of Rumania's population comprises minorities. In Yugo-Slavia, among the 21 per cent. of the population composed of minorities, are more than 600,000 Germans.

Reporting Progress: by Ritchie Calder

One hour = 100 years

MY long white beard got tangled in the works and stopped the clock this week-end while I gave my small son his seventh birthday lecture on "When Father Was a Boy."

I told him how on my seventh birthday I was taken to Montrose Aerodrome, in Angus, to see Captain Longcroft, who had made a record flight of 630 miles to Farn-borough. And how the Schneider Cup was won that year with a speed of 452 m.p.h.

The look he gave me made me feel as venerable as Santa Claus.
For he has the modern boy's passion for aviation. He knows that the latest non-stop flight was more than ten times as far, and the record flying-speed nearly ten times as great.

Yet I was talking about 1913—only 25 years ago.

It made me realise how the speed of modern events is changing the time-scale, that, in terms of rapid progress, we are as far removed from our grandfathers as they were from the Romans.

★ SO I spent yesterday trying to devise a new clock.
My first attempt was to borrow the radium-clock with which modern geologists measure the age of the earth. The radio-activity of a given mass of thorium is reduced to half-value in 1,800,000,000 years. It turns eventually into lead. And from that we know that the earth must be at least 3,600,000,000 years old.

But I found my desk littered with noughts and I abandoned it for a more manageable clock in which an hour became 100 years.

That makes my son only 4 minutes 12 seconds old and myself 10 minutes 12 seconds old.

Seven months ago, by this reckoning, the first man-like apes of whom we find traces, were fashioning roughly shaped stones which they used as hand-axes.
They were still animal, but they walked upright. These "pseudo-men" inhabited a Europe in which there were hairy mammoths, rhinoceroses, hippopotami, sabretoothed tigers and giant beavers.

The Dawn Man, still an ape, was living beside a river near Ely-down, in Sussex, barely six weeks ago.

Three weeks ago most of Europe was covered with ice, like the icecap which covers Greenland today. The North Sea and the Irish Sea were river beds. The Mediterranean was a deep valley, across which travelled the rhinoceroses, hippopotami, and elephants, on their way to the warmer South.
The cold killed off the sabretoothed tiger altogether.

Hunting these animals were enlightened apes, the Neanderthal Men. They had discovered the use of fire, by, it is believed, striking iron pyrites against flint, probably in making their tools.
They wore skins from the animals they killed; they lived in caves, huddled round their fires against the creeping cold of the Fourth Ice Age, which was eventually to destroy them. They lived on putrid flesh and the marrow of mashed up bones.

★ THE Fourth Ice Age lasted less than a fortnight by this reckoning, and as the ice-cap began to shrink northwards and the climate of Europe began to get warmer, the first real men—not Ape Men, but men very like us—appeared.
They came, it is believed, from the common cradle of Mankind,

the part of Asia we now call Iran,
and, until recently, Persia.

Ten days ago, these Cro-Magnons began to draw on the walls of their caves, use pigments to shroud their dead at ritual burials. They followed the herds of wild horses and reindeer as they sought new pastures in the wake of the retreating ice.

Four days ago, Man began to take a pride in his crafts, to paint pebbles as jewellery for his Woman, make pottery and tame animals for domestic uses.

Round the lake dwellings of two days ago, our ancestors began to grow wheat, barley and millet.
And agriculture began.

★ LESS than a week ago, the valley which separated what we now call Europe from Africa was flooded, the gates at Gibraltar were broken down and the Atlantic flowed in. Maybe that was the Bible Deluge.

By Greenwich Mean Time, it is midnight. At 4.37 this morning began the Christian Era. Thirty-three minutes before Caesar had invaded Britain Rome was sacked by the Vandals from Germany at 8.43 a.m. The sun was temporarily eclipsed. Mohammed was born at 10.55.

At 3.24 this afternoon, William the Conqueror invaded England.
By 4.30 men were using gunpowder.

At 7.10 this evening Constantinople was taken by the Turks.

The learned men, heirs to the culture of the East, of Greece, and of Rome, began to flee westwards like the Jewish refugees of 1938, taking with them the culture which gave us the Renaissance.

Columbus discovered America at 7.31 this evening. At 7.47 began the Reformation.

★ TWENTY-ONE minutes before printing had been introduced, Drake sailed round the world at 8.25, and defeated the Spanish Armada at 8.30, having discovered Greenland in the interval.

At 8.38 Scotland and England were united under James VI and Ist.

Within 25 minutes Britain was in the throes of Civil War.
James Watt's steam engine began the Industrial Revolution at 10.16. Five minutes later America had declared its independence.
Within another 9 minutes the Estado had fallen and the French Revolution had begun.

Napoleon had 12 minutes in the limelight.
Faraday's electrical discoveries which made the generation of electric power as we know it today possible, occurred at 5 minutes to 11.

By 11 o'clock we had the electric telegraph. Within another minute we had photography. Four minutes later women had the mechanical sewing machine.
Chloroform came within another half-minute.

At 11.16 the first explosion motor which was to lead to motor-cars and power-driven aeroplanes had been evolved.

Six minutes later Graham Bell had invented the telephone. Followed within 30 seconds by the gramophone, and within a minute by the electric lamp.

★ CINEMATOGRAPHY "arrived" 29 minutes ago. Marconi sent his first message across the Atlantic by wireless at 22 minutes 12 seconds ago.

The Wright Brothers made their first flight 21 minutes ago.

The Great War lasted two minutes 33 seconds in this time scale.
Broadcasting began 10 minutes ago and talks 61 minutes ago.
Television broadcasts began one minute 13 seconds ago.

Hitler has been in power three minutes, long enough for him to turn the clock back six hours to the Dark Ages of Barbarism and the ghetto.

Now I am going to set the alarm for 800 years hence, in the hope that I can sleep off the headache this timekeeping has given me.

The Coogans Separate

New York.
Vowing their love for each other, Jackie ("The Kid") Coogan and his blonde wife, Betty Grable, have been forced to separate, their furniture sold by financial necessity, and their home closed.

Miss Grable has returned to her mother, Mrs. Lillian Grable, and Jackie is living with an uncle, Mr.
George Coogan.

There is no question of divorce. It is purely a matter of the pounds, shillings and pence not being enough to keep the home going.

"VERY MUCH IN LOVE"
Mrs. Lillian Grable, explaining the situation, said: "Both love each other very much, but everything is in a financial tangle. Jackie's lawsuit against his stepfather and mother (Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bernstein, who he is suing for the recovery of £280,000 he claims to have earned as a child) still being delayed."

Said Jackie: "It is very tough. I love Betty very, very much. But everything will come out all right.
We hope to be together again as soon as our finances allow us to do so."
Betty declared: "I am still crazy about Jackie. The separation isn't permanent. Once he gets back on his feet we'll be together again."

Case Awaits Decision

A HOME OFFICE decision about the 38,000,000 gas masks—issued by the Government, free, to civilians at the time of the crisis—is expected as a result of a prosecution at Chesterfield, Derbyshire.

Herbert Ward, alias Jones, aged 50, of Hilltop-road, Dronfield, Derbyshire, was charged with maliciously damaging a respirator. The Chief Constable, Mr. T. Wells, said that Ward came to Chesterfield on a Saturday, and was seen deliberately to throw his respirator into a yard and damage it beyond repair.

IN DUST-BINS

Millions of respirators had been issued to the public, the Chief Constable added, and he thought that thousands had been damaged.

To enable him to communicate with the Home Office, the case was adjourned until January 30.

At the end of October, the Home Secretary, Sir Samuel Hoare, decided that the gas masks, which had cost the Government approximately £3,000,000, should remain in the hands of the civilian population, and the situation was to be reviewed again after six months.

There have, however, continued to be stories of gas masks being found in dust-bins, offered for sale in markets, used by children for games, and even by housewives for peeling onions.

A question was asked in the House recently by Sir John Meller (Cons., Tamworth) whether the Government propose to take steps to make persons who negligently lose or damage gas masks, which are public property, liable to a penalty.

Sir John Anderson, Minister for Civilian Defence, replied that he was considering the suggestion.

According to a French decree issued recently, any civilian who fails to keep his or her gas mask in order, or fails to wear it when ordered, will be liable to a fine of 12s. 6d.

Jobs For Boys

London.

Boys under 15 in future will not be permitted to work in barber shops, pool rooms or any place of amusement where slot machines or games of chance are operated in England. It has been decided that such occupations are not beneficial.

Navy Is Deciding Factor In War

The Navy Estimates for 1939 provide for a large amount of new construction, including battleships, cruisers and destroyers.

This will increase the present total of 600,000 tons of naval work already in hand to the highest level attained in time of peace.

By approving this expansion the Government has implicitly rejected the principle cherished in certain quarters, particularly on the Continent, that a future war will be decided by the air bombardment of enemy cities and industrial centres.

This principle has been rejected by the naval staffs of all the leading Powers except Italy.

An authoritative Washington correspondent informs me that the General Board of the United States Navy, the supreme advisory body on American naval questions, recently expressed the opinion in an exhaustive report that a conflict would almost certainly be decided by sea power.

NO KNOCK OUT BLOW

The gist of the report was as follows:

"The knock-out theory, by means of aircraft used in mass formations and with absolute ruthlessness, was originated by the Italian officer Gen. Douhet who is also reported to be a student of psychology. It was put to the test in the Abyssinian campaign and apparently vindicated, but only because the victims had absolutely no means of hitting back.

"It has since been tried in Spain and China, where the aggressor in both cases has enjoyed overwhelming supremacy in air power, yet in neither case has a knock-out blow been achieved.

"Against Powers such as Great Britain and France, which proved their extraordinary toughness and endurance in the last war, the Douhet theory would have little chance of succeeding, especially as both Powers would be able to retaliate very heavily.

"Do Gen. Douhet and his adherents imagine that the civil population in Italy or Germany would stand intensive air bombing better than the peoples of Britain or France?

"It is to be aware that in the autumn of 1917, when British counter-attack

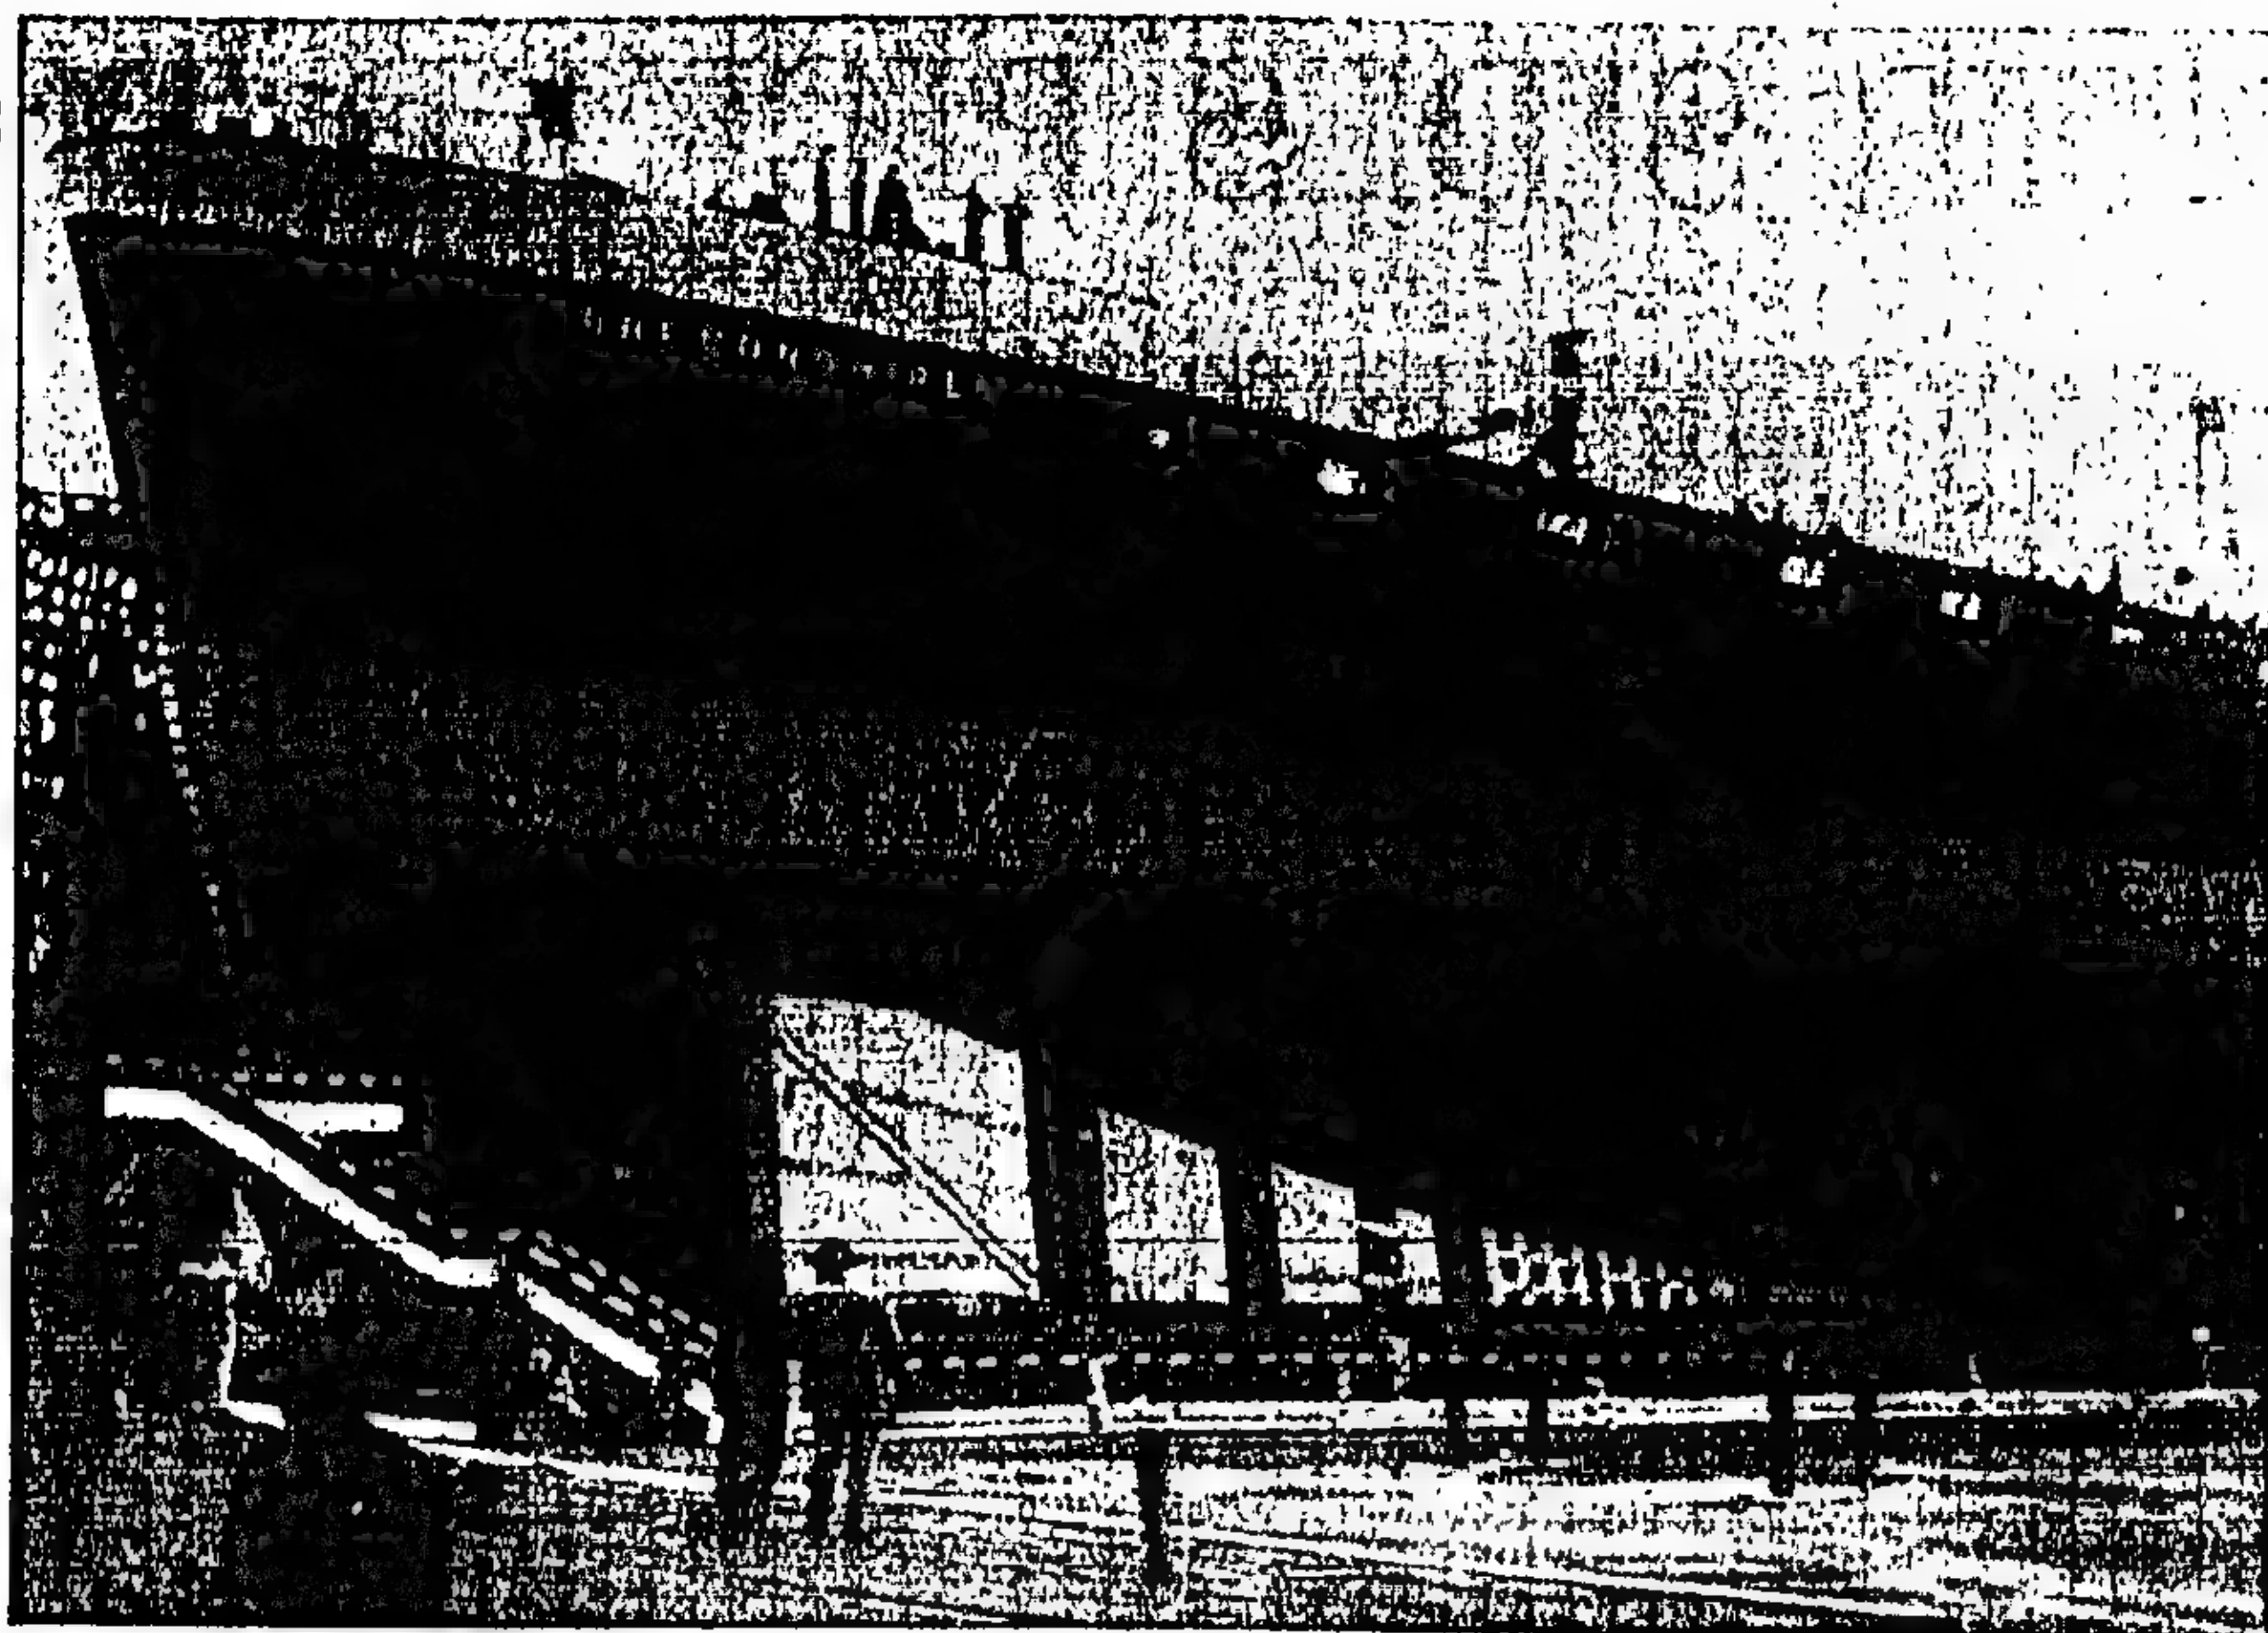

—Turned Down Typist's Claim For Damages

WHEN Miss Winifred Jenny Morris, Stoke Newington, N., typist, sued the London County Council for damages in the King's Bench Division recently, Mr. Justice Stabile stepped from his seat to inspect her shoes.

It had been suggested that the height of her heels had caused her to fall down steps at an L.C.C. school where she was taking a continuation course. Miss Morris denied this; said the steps were slippery and ill-lighted.

When the judge looked at her shoes Miss Morris explained: "These happen to be my best shoes, that is why the heels are high."

Her claim was dismissed.

London.

A grey-haired ex-rector, the Rev. Tudor Jeffreys, has resigned from the living of Brighthelm and is now serving beer to customers behind the counter of the provision store and off-licence which he has taken in Ardwick-le-street, near Doncaster. The Rev. Jeffreys left the Navy in 1927, since when he has been in the Church. Although still in Holy Orders, he stated that he will never go back to the Church.

The Girl With A New Face

BARELY a year after her face and body were burned beyond recognition when a can of boiling tar exploded in her face, 12-years-old Lola Mae Smith, of Memphis, Tennessee, will shortly walk out into the world with a brand-new face, attractive and unmarked.

Medical science has given her a complete new face, resembling but little her features before the accident. Only her blue eyes, which escaped injury, remain untouched.

Five times doctors from Memphis Baptist Hospital took skin from her back, which escaped injury, to cover her charred face, hands, arms, and legs.

Girl Swallows Toy 'Plane

Formby, Lancashire.

"I HAVE swallowed an aeroplane," said five-year-old Jean Maitland, of Bultpot, Formby, running up to her mother.

Mrs. Maitland, who had seen Jean playing with a sharp-pointed model 'plane with a span of about an inch, took her at once to Liverpool Royal Infirmary.

There an X-ray, showed the toy lodged down Jean's throat, and a specialist removed it in a few minutes.

In less than an hour the child was back home and in bed, uninjured.

There was grave danger that the pointed wing tip would penetrate the gut.

UNAWARE OF DANGER

But Jean, unaware of the danger, was perfectly calm. She saw the X-ray photo and showed great interest.

A periscope tube with a light and reflector was inserted into the throat and the aeroplane was removed with a pair of special forceps.

Mrs. Maitland said: "Joan was lying on her back holding the aeroplane above her face. It slipped from her fingers and fell into her mouth."

Baton Keeps Actors Up To Scratch

THE Mid-Bucks Players are coming to London again, in the Second Amateur Dramatic Contest. They will produce James Fildes' "The Letter-Box Rattles" at the snug Little Fortune Theatre.

Their first entry in any drama contest was made last year when they produced "Mystery at Green-fingers" and gained second place in that first News Chronicle Contest against the pick of the country's amateur dramatic talent.

TIME COYOTS

"I use a conductor's baton at rehearsals," said Producer Derek Barnes, "to impress upon my players that to come in too soon or too late with a line is akin to fumbling a beat in a band concert."

Invisible Glass Has Arrived

INVISIBLE glass has arrived, and Dr. Irving Langmuir, the American Nobel-Prize-winner, has been telling about some of its remarkable properties.

It has been produced by his assistant, Dr. Katherine Blodgett, of the General Electric Co. laboratory at Schenectady.

We have already had invisible shop windows produced by means of curved glass, but in this new development the glass itself is treated.

Roughly and briefly the principle is this:

The waves of light striking the surface of glass "cannon off" at an angle and reach the eye by reflection. Dr. Blodgett coats the glass with thin films of transparent chemicals which refract light at a different angle.

Refraction, by the way, means the bending of light rays. Water refracts powerfully, and that is why a stick appears bent when you push it into a pool.

CANCELLING OUT

Reflections from the glass and from the surface film cancel each other out and do not affect the eye. By this method, 99 per cent. of light passes through the glass instead of about 92 per cent. ordinarily.

Dr. Langmuir showed a gauge, the dial of which was covered half with ordinary glass and half with treated glass. There was no doubt about it. It should be a boon for art galleries.

In many of them the glass in front of the pictures picks up so many stray reflections that it is quite difficult to find a good viewpoint.

The method is not yet perfect. Optical lenses made from very hard glass can be fine-coated with quartz and can be quite hard. But the coating on ordinary plate-glass is still too soft for everyday use.

SCANT THANKS

Dr. Blodgett, however, is "on to something" which may solve that. She is a very brilliant American scientist who became a pupil of the late Lord Rutherford at Cambridge and won highest distinction.

All the thanks she gets from The Inevitable Female is: "She takes the shine off the windows and leaves the shine on our noses."

You he-men who crack walnuts in your clenched fists are out of date. The latest method of "undressing" walnuts is by an explosion. Nuts are carried on a belt past a circular saw which cracks the shell. A jet blows a mixture of acetylene and oxygen into the hole.

The nuts drop into an ignition chamber. The charge explodes, the shells drop into one conveyer, and the kernel into another. Isn't science wonderful?

Elm Disease Beats Scientists

THE elm, one of the most familiar trees in Britain, is likely to lose its dominating place in the English countryside.

During the past ten years thousands have been killed or maimed as the result of the virulent disease first identified in Holland soon after the war and often known as Dutch Elm Disease.

The Forestry Commission's investigations show that fewer trees, particularly in the eastern and midland counties, show active symptoms, but it is feared that this check is only temporary.

The Commission, however, states in its latest report that there is no reason to suppose that the elm as an English tree is doomed.

There is no known cure for the disease. Hope for the retention of the elm lies partly in the raising of an immune strain.

The English counties most affected are those in the southern half of the country. Scotland has so far escaped.

BEETLE THAT BORES IN

The Agricultural Correspondent writes:

Elm disease is caused by a fungus that is carried by the elm bark and transmits the fungus that infects the "wood", where the disease will continue to live without further infection.

Boughs of trees affected by the disease wither and die, and the first thing noticed is discoloration of the leaves.

Eventually, decay will spread to the whole tree, although the tree will often recover if it is not killed outright the first season it is attacked.

The disease has been identified only since the war, and Southern England is the worst sufferer.

We recommend Tenova self-supporting socks for quite a number of reasons. The support they give is firm—not tight; straight—not oblique. They are equally reliable for muscular and modest calves, for long legs and short. They need no adjustment. The tops, which contain an elastic yarn, wash with the socks, much more hygienic. And they are available in all the latest patterns.

INTERPORT SOCCER SIDES PICKED TO PLAY MANILA

COMPOSITION OF ELEVENS QUITE SATISFACTORY

But why Centre-forward as an Outside Right?

The Interport Selection Committee met last evening at the end of the Council meeting and picked the following teams to represent Hong-kong and the Rest of Hongkong in matches against the visiting Manila side during the Chinese New Year holidays:

HONGKONG XI

Tam Kwan-kon (S. China "B"),
Lee Tin-sang (S. China "A"),
Sheehan (Middlesex),
Honeywell (Navy),
Dixon (Navy),
Leung Wing-chiu (S. China "A"),
F. Fowler (Club),
Fung King-cheung (S. China "A"),
Lee Wai-long (S. China),
Captain,
A. V. Gosano (St. Joseph's),
Hau Ching-to (Eastern),
Reserves: — Ulrich (Kowloon),
Riersten (Kowloon), Beltrao (St. Joseph's), Hansen and Gomes (St. Joseph's).

REST OF HONGKONG

McAllister (Navy),
Ho Yung-sang (Kwong Wah),
Ulrich (Kowloon),
Lau Hing-chai (S. China "A"),
Beltrao (St. Joseph's), Captain,
E. L. Stranze (Club),
Tang Kwong-sum (S. China "A"),
Jorge (Kowloon),
Chan Tak-fai (S. China "B"),
Gomes (St. Joseph's),
Riersten (Kowloon).

COMMENTS ON TEAMS

As far as the Interport team is concerned, eight of the eleven places were more or less certain; only in the other three was there room for speculation. But few local critics would have guessed that the selectors had in mind for these three positions until last evening. It was fairly obvious that Tam Kwan-kon, Lee Tin-sang, Dixon (or Beltrao), Fung King-cheung, Lee Wai-long, A. V. Gosano, Leung Wing-chiu and Hau Ching-to could not be left out. The only positions which were in doubt were one back, one half-back and the right-wing.

The selections of Sheehan to partner Lee Tin-sang at back and Honeywell to fill the remaining half-back berth were understandable; but why Fowler, a centre-forward, for the outside right position?

It is not easy to follow the selectors' line of reasoning. If an outside right is wanted, then why not select a man who is an outside?

I am aware that once upon a time Fowler was an outside right; but how long ago was this? He has been chosen for representative games on several occasions, and for what position each time?

The answer is "As a centre-forward."

PASSED OVER

Seeing that Tang Kwong-sum, the South China "A" right winger, has been chosen for the Rest eleven, one assumes that the selectors also had him under consideration when the right-wing berth came up for discussion. The selectors must also have been aware that he has a perfect understanding with both Fung King-cheung and Lee Wai-long, who are his team-mates, and that he is an outside right who is as good as any one else in that position. And yet one else has been passed over for a man who turns out regularly at centre-forward! Need any more be said?

Practice Game To Be Played On Thursday

A practice game between the Hongkong Interport team and the Rest eleven will be played on the Navy ground at Causeway Bay on Thursday. All players selected are requested to turn out for the match.

Apart from Fowler's selection as outside right, one has no complaint to make regarding the rest of the eleven. The defence is well-balanced. Dixon, I see, has been preferred to Beltrao as centre-half, but this comes as no surprise. Dixon has been turning out more regularly than Beltrao, and it is probably wiser to have a man who plays regularly than one who does not, especially as there is so little difference in the merits of the two.

Honeywell's inclusion may not have been expected, but it is only fair to say that he is a very consistent defender, and with Dixon as pivot, he will feel very much at home.

THREE VETERANS
The three inside berths have been filled by veterans. Judging Fung King-cheung and A. V. Gosano at their best, Hongkong should not find goal-getting a difficult task, and if the two outside forwards give them the measure of support expected, the Colony can face the prospects of the Interport match with equanimity.

What strikes me as the most pleasing feature of the Rest side is that young players like Jorge, Gomes and Riersten have been given their opportunities. Ho Yung-sang, the Kwong Wah right back, who played such a magnificent game for the Chinese in a recent Lal Wah Cup match, has been picked to partner Ulrich at back. If he plays as well as he did against the Navy, the Rest defence will be in safe hands.

Tang Kwong-sum fills the outside right position, the rest of the line being Jorge, Chan Tak-fai, Gomes and Riersten—thus making the forward line one of the fastest that can be assembled locally. The two inside, Jorge and Gomes, will show the Filipinos a few tricks yet.

Boon-Danahar Fight Venue Puzzles Fans

By Norman Hurst

London, Jan. 11.
We are fast approaching a parallel with the days when—in order to escape the watchful eye of police, who arrested prize-fighters and threw them into gaol—those wishing to engage in the noble art used to scurry from one county to another. The arena for any particular fight was only named to a select few at a few hours' notice.

The above procedure, so far as mystery is concerned, is being carried out to the letter in the proposed Boon-Danahar match.

I have seen it openly stated that the pair will meet at the Empress Stadium, Earl's Court. I would be prepared, however, to lay a shade of odds that the contest does not take place there.

The boat, the making of it and everything to do with it leads up to a peculiar position. Mr. Syd Hulls will be finishing his promotional connection with Harringay in mid-February.

Will he stage the match at Harringay before he goes out? Or will he take the contest elsewhere?

If Mr. Hulls decides to make it his promotion there are several alternatives.

ALBERT HALL?

The Albert Hall which, while it has not the seating capacity of Harringay or the other big London halls, is always good for top prices. It is quite on the cards that Mr. Hulls could make a business deal with Wembley and run his show there.

There is always the possibility of a date at Olympia when the circus closes down, where a keen promoter can step in and take advantage of the circus seating, as has been done before.

Here And There With "Abe"

South China Football Teams Given Bad Time

THOUGH superior in almost every department, South China "A" present Shield champions, found goal-scoring a difficult task when they met Kowloon in the replay at Ciro-line Hill on Saturday, and in spite of extra time, they had to be content with a draw of 1-1. Their present League standing held no terrors for Kowloon, who themselves also had a Shield reputation to uphold. In years gone by, Kowloon had no superiors in Shield games irrespective of their position in the League; and on Saturday they demonstrated once again that the old spirit is still alive.

The defence gave a splendid display against the swift-moving Chinese forwards who did everything but score. Chances the Caroline Hill men had in plenty; but accuracy was absent, and whatever mistakes the Kowloon defenders made were amply covered up.

On Sunday, the South China "B" were eliminated by Eastern who, on the previous Sunday, had humbled South China "A" in the League. It was a triumph as complete as it was deserving. Eastern undoubtedly were the better side, the forwards working with a cohesion and a speed which proved most disconcerting to the South China "B" defence.

I have heard the excuse advanced that the South China men have not yet recovered from their strenuous tour to Saigon and Hongkong, where they played ten games in the course of 15 days. There must be something in this; but unless they show improvement in their next few games, they may have good reason to regret having made the tour.

Inter'al Badminton
A badminton competition run on a Davis Cup lines is again being discussed in England. Including the Dominions, there must be at least 20 countries playing the game who would be interested in such an international tournament. Badminton is especially popular in Canada and the United States, where there are a number of first-class professionals. If nothing is done before, the first step towards the inaugurating of a world badminton contest will be taken in the spring of 1940 when a party of English players are due to visit Australia. This is the first time such a trip will have been made by an official English badminton team and it is hoped that one outcome of the tour will be the starting of a competition open to all countries.

Another O'Reilly

AUSTRALIAN critics are speaking of Douglas Ring, a young Richmond bowler, developing into another O'Reilly by the time of the M.C.C. visit in 1940. He is hailed as one of the bowling finds of years and has already taken 27 wickets more than any other bowler so far, at an average cost of 11.7. His most recent performances were six for 38 on a plumb wicket against Fitzroy, the leading district team. Ring is of the O'Reilly type and build. He bowls with O'Reilly's energy and determination, turning both ways, with an occasional faster top-spinner. He also keeps a perfect length and seems to bowl equally well both with and against the wind.

Breach Of Rule

DRASTIC measures are said shortly to be taken by the Royal and Ancient Golf Club to put a stop to the practice of amateur golfers receiving presents of golf balls from manufacturers. Many well-known players, it is stated, receive monthly presents of a box, and in some instances two boxes, of balls from the makers. This is a distinct breach of the rule which states that a player may accept no more than two balls, which must be marked with the word, "sample." The R. and A. has been in communication with various bodies with a view to stamping out what is regarded as a "pernicious" system. Each month thousands of golf balls, it is stated, are received in this illegal manner. Where the names of offenders are known it is within the power of St. Andrews to refuse their entries for the Amateur Championship without assigning any reason. The same power is vested in the Unions responsible for the English, Scottish, Irish and Welsh championships.

SURREY WINS CROSS-COUNTRY CHAMPIONSHIP

London, Jan. 23.

Fourteen teams, comprising 124 starters, took part in the inter-country cross-country championship at Harpenden (Herts) on January 21. S. O. A. Palmer, Essex, and Southern champion, was first home covering the 7½ miles course in 42min. 30sec. He soon took the lead, and halfway was 30 yards in front doubling this distance at the finish.

F. H. Reeve (Beds) last year's North of the Thames champion was runner-up 16sec. behind the leader. He hung on to Palmer's heels all the way, but could not overtake him.

R. V. Draper (Leicestershire) who defeated Palmer in the A.A.A. 10 miles at the White City last April, filled third place in 43min. 5sec.

The holder, Stan Belton, of Surrey, could only finish ninth, but the big disappointment of the race was the failure of Corporal Hier (R.A.F.) the Middlesex champion, who could get no nearer than 31st.

Surrey took the team honours for the third time in succession with 73 points. Middlesex were second with 82 and Essex third with 125. Halfway round Surrey had established a useful lead of over 30 points.

Teams:—Surrey (4, 9, 13, 14, 15, 18) 73 points 1; Middlesex 82, 2; Essex 125, 3; Staffs 197, 4; Kent 243, 5; Warwick 263, 6.—Our Own Correspondent.

AMERICAN DAVIS CUP HOPES NOT SO BRIGHT

New York, Feb. 1.
As though the loss of Donald Budge were not a crushing enough blow to future American Davis Cup hopes, it now appears likely that Captain Walter Pate, the little Wall Street lawyer who has coached and counselled the American boys to victory for the past two years, may be missing from Davis Cup circles next summer.

Mr. Pate has asked Mr. Holcombe Ward, President of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, to appoint another Davis Cup captain. His reason is that he wishes to get back to his law practice and devote more time to it.

"I'm simply worn out. I've been away from home and out of the office for about three months in each of the last four years. I've enjoyed every minute of it, but now I feel it's somebody else's turn," he told Reuters in an interview.

"I guess one reason I want to quit is that I dread the task of putting together another Davis Cup doubles team," he added.—Reuter.

London, Jan. 23.

The return game between the Light Blues and Richmond, played on the Athletic Ground at Richmond, instead of at Cambridge, made for a fast and thoroughly interesting contest. Cambridge won after a by no means convincing start by a placed goal and 3 tries against a goal and a penalty goal. They had five Blues to help them, though they were without their captain, and they did so well generally as a team, when they warmed up to their work, that their win was fully deserved. Parsons-Lockhart was at his best at stand-off half.

Many in the small crowd at Northampton came away with two impressions of the match with R.A.F. One was that the final score of a goal and two tries to nil favoured the winners, and the other that the R.A.F. under better conditions would, because of their greater pace at three-quarter, have brought about a very different result had the ground, and in consequence the ball, not been extremely difficult. Three fine tries of opportunist character, one of them converted, built up the home score. All were obtained in the first half.

Although without their captain J. G. Cook, Bedford defeated Gloucester at Bedford by a goal, a penalty goal, and a try to two tries. Before the match the teams and the crowd stood in silence for two minutes and the teams wore black armlets as a mark of respect to the president and chairman of the Gloucestershire Rugby Union, Mr. F. T. Brookes, who died on Tuesday.

STRANGE DECISIONS
On a ground little better than a morass, Plymouth Albion and Newport fought a battle so hectic that within half an hour most of the jerseys looked alike in their coating of mud, and it was practically impossible to distinguish Newport from Albion. In the circumstances, and with the lines almost obscured, it was not surprising that there were some strange decisions. At least one perfectly good try was disallowed, and there were certainly two doubtful tries, which were awarded. On the whole, however, these mistakes balanced out fairly enough, and Albion were full value for their victory by a goal and two tries to two tries.

The first meeting of the season of Bristol and Llanelli, on the Bristol Memorial ground, a miniature England and Wales match, produced a well-contested game, but no score. This was in direct contrast to the corresponding match last season, which Bristol won by 17 points to 4. The ground was in a terribly bad condition, making it very hard going, and in the end largely a test of stamina. In addition, the backs were handicapped by the mud-coated state of the ball, and though many commendable efforts were made at the passing game, it was seldom that they resulted in any progress being accomplished.

The rain-soaked pitch at Burnwood Lane, Wandsworth, interfered very little with the game between Old Leysians and Guy's Hospital, which the former won by a dropped goal and two penalty goals to a try. Old Leysians had the heavier pack with Gould, Glover, Nicol and Todrick outstanding while outside Sykes, at centre "three" was sure of himself.

Manchester beat Birkenhead Park (27-3) and Sale beat Halifax (6-5) but Waterloo lost to the North of Ireland (6-7). Several matches were cancelled.—Our Own Correspondent.

RECENTLY I visited a large mixed school. Such visits are always particularly interesting because of the variety of problems which they offer.

I propose to tell you something to-day about some of these children, as their difficulties will be of interest to many readers.

First, we saw some half-dozen sturdy youngsters who were given a clean bill of health, and then Problem No. 1 appeared—a little girl, whose mother explained that Jean had "growing pains."

Jean's mother seemed a little put out at having been asked to attend the medical examination for such a simple matter when she had dinner to get ready, but the doctor explained quietly that these growing pains should never be ignored seeing that they were so often a definite sign of rheumatism.

Jean's Rest Cure

One look at Jean's pale cheeks and dark-rimmed eyes made me feel that she was all too true in her remark, and when the child's heart was sounded we knew the rest.

She was definitely a rheumatic subject and was recommended for a special Rheumatism Clinic.

"The specialist there may possibly advise that Jean should go to a convalescent home for a time," she explained gently to the mother, "and I do hope that you will agree to this for your little's sake."

She went on to explain that only rest would lead to a complete cure, and that in these special homes Jean would still be able to have lessons from a governess who taught the children in the wards.

Right Treatment
I could only hope that the child would be given the rest that her little heart needed, and it cheered me to remember that, thanks to these rest methods, hundreds of otherwise hopeless cases had been cured through this special clinic. Immediately after Jean, came a child who stated that she always felt tired "in her legs." Small wonder, for she was definitely flat-footed, the arches of both feet having given way saggingly under the weight of her body.

I noticed that she was wearing heel-less sandals, and apparently she had chosen this footwear herself with the idea that it would rest her feet.

"Not a bit of it, Nellie," the doctor explained to her gravely. "What you want, dear, are special exercises to help to make these arches under your feet strong again and a heel to your shoes to coax those bones back into the right position."

She was recommended to the orthopedic specialist who would give her special exercises twice a week, and I made a point of procuring a copy of those exercises, which I shall be delighted to send to any parents whose children suffer in like manner. Incidentally they are equally useful for adults.

Talking Troubles

No. 3 on the list was a nice-looking little boy called Donald, who was afflicted with a bad stammer.

The mother told us that he had spoken clearly until he was three, when he had met with a sudden shock. After this he often had a difficulty in commencing a word, and the tendency had steadily increased.

His mother told us that he had always been highly strung, and that any extra excitement increased his disability, as did the occasional teasing that he received from an older sister who was inclined to mimic his speech.

I was not surprised to notice that Donald was left-handed, too, for this condition often accompanies stammering.

Reheating Hints
DISHES like shepherd's pie that are made with cooked meat, are apt to grow dry in the oven. This is avoided if the meat is well-moistened with gravy or stock and a bowl of water is placed at the bottom of the oven.

A fairly hot oven is best, since the dish is more quickly heated and less moisture lost in the process.

Never keep a reheated dish in the oven until the top is brown. This generally means in effect that the ingredients are recooked. Take it out as soon as it is thoroughly hot all through, dot with butter, and brown under the grill.

This also applies to vegetarian dishes, such as macaroni cheese, the constituents of which are cooked beforehand and are only put into the oven, to be heated through and have their flavours well mingled.

Our Present Day Virtues

An Altered Sense of Values

HAVE you noticed that as time goes on, our sense of values alters, so that the pet virtues of Grannie's day are often regarded as failings by the modern woman?

For instance, in these days a sweet disposition can be much over-rated. How often do we find that a placid temper really means that its owner lacks pluck or pride? It is so very easy to sit back perfectly indifferent to snubs or to differences in opinion, to agree to a certain line of action because everybody else does, all under the cloak of an even temper.

We all know the limp creature who smiles like a sunburst, but has not the pluck of a fly. She may be sweet and easy to get on with, but judged by modern woman's standards, she would be much more admired if she had moral courage.

Cloying Sweetness

For one woman to say of another, "I admire her, she has grit, she is 'game' over things," is high praise indeed. Too much sweetness can be cloying, and often indicates lack of character.

Economy is the sort of virtue which, if we possess it, makes us feel as if we deserve a halo. The old fashioned "economical" used to be so thrifty and to save until she built a stone wall all around her, so that she could hardly see beyond her own nose. Money spent on amusements, clothes, or little luxuries, were regarded usually as extravagance. A visit to the hairdresser's was almost epoch-making.

False Economy

Present-day economy does not stand so much for stinting and saving, as for wise spending and avoidance of waste. The housewife who in a fit of enthusiasm paints and papers a room and then is so over-strained that she has to take a day off and get extra help in to cope with the daily round, is a very misguided creature indeed, and deserves scold.

sympathy for her "economy campaign."

Similarly, the woman who has no flair for dressmaking only wastes time, temper, and material in striving to make her own frocks.

Truth is another virtue which has taken on a different guise. Actually there can be no grading between truth and untruth. But what we call "truth" so often stands for tactlessness or dreadfully outspokenness.

Gliding the Pill

The prim self-righteous mortal who prides herself on being candid is not the up-to-date construction we put on truth. We prefer tactful, resourceful women who sugar coat their pills. Life is difficult enough, and a little constructive criticism may help where an orgy of plain speaking too often only depresses.

Vanity undoubtedly has its place in the modern scheme of things, and is a virtue which the majority of women possess. If we are vain over our appearance we may be pretty sure that we shall never be ill-groomed. If we are houseproud, our home will never look neglected and uncared for. Vanity I think is only harmful when it becomes obtrusive.

What about charity? Here our standards have improved with time. Genuine interest and practical sympathy with people who are up against it, with children who are unhappy and uncared for, with invalids and lonely souls, is cherished as something very precious indeed.

Tolerance, too, is a virtue which has come very much to the front. People are not so narrow-minded as they used to be, and snobbishness is hated. The woman who prides herself on "keeping to herself" has a poor time of it in these days.

As in everything else, we must move with the times. Otherwise we may find our pet virtues rounding on us and becoming practically faults, and a little constructive criticism may help where an orgy of plain speaking too often only depresses.

ing. In many cases the stammering has been increased by efforts to check the left-handedness. Unfortunately there was no special Stammerers' Clinic near Donald's home, so the doctor suggested other methods for curing the defect. She explained to his mother that extra rest was essential for a child who was in the least nervous and highly strung, and she pointed out the necessity for a regular early bedtime.

Doctor also advised that other pleasures should be found for him in place of visits to the pictures, and thought that it would be better to give the boy a dog of his own or a rabbit in a hutch in the back garden where he could look after it quietly.

Next she spoke seriously about not allowing anyone to make fun of his present limitation, and she then went on to recommend special recitations and reading aloud for Donald, and made a note advising that he should be given extra singing lessons.

"When he boggles over a word," she said finally to his mother, "encourage him to start again, taking his time and explain to him that, if he will only speak slowly, he will manage quite nicely what he wants to say."

Now for a couple of letters, to finish off with.

Cold Catcher
What wear do you recommend for my boy of nine who catches colds frequently in winter?—Hester.

I BELIEVE that chills are best prevented by raising the bodily resistance with a careful diet and regular exercise and that colds are due to infection caught from other people.

Let your son wear a light wool vest and trunk pants, cloth knickerbockers and a jersey and keep a blazer or jacket ready for specially cold days.

See that he has an overcoat which will keep out cold winds and that his feet are well protected against wet with strong shoes or Wellingtons.

Ingrowing Nail
My daughter, aged nine, has a painful ingrowing toe-nail. What is the correct treatment?—Hiracombie.

TOE-NAILS should always be trimmed in a straight line across the toe, never pared down into the corners. Having done this, nip a V-shaped snick out of the centre of the new edge, going as deep as possible without causing pain. This will allow the nail to grow towards the centre, thus relieving pressure at the corners.

With a pair of blunt-edged scissors or forceps, ease a few strands of lint under the nail at the painful corner which will help it to grow outward again. Make sure that her shoes are not too narrow at the toes.

Amanda Duff, film star, wears this tailored spring suit of soft beige wool, with padded border edging the fronts and hem, pockets and sleeves, in a new motif. The sweater is navy with padded initials in beige.

WRIGHT'S
Original COAL TAR
SOAP

Why can some people endure heat better than others? Because a healthy body expels 2 1/2 lbs. of moisture daily through the pores. If these impurities clog the pores, we lose vitality. Wright's Coal Tar Soap prevents this because its lather penetrates the pores and removes all toxic matter. A wash with Wright's makes you feel lastingly fresh and cool. Protect your skin; use Wright's, the first and finest Coal Tar Soap—holding the highest award of the Institute of Hygiene.

Your pores give out 2 1/2 lbs. of moisture every day. If they are clogged, impurities prevent your skin from "breathing" and lower your vitality.

Ski-ing looks easy when an expert is speeding down the slope. Here is a man who made the most of the snow on Hampstead Heath where winter sports have been in full swing at Home recently.

President Roosevelt is asking the in-coming Congress for an army air force of 13,000 planes. Some of them probably would be like the new Vultee V-12 bomber above, which carries a crew of three men, six machine guns and bombing loads up to 3,000 pounds. The plane is shown in flight at Downey, Cal.

At left is Howard Hughes, millionaire Californian, who with four companions, circled the top of the world, starting from New York. The fliers did 16,324 miles in 91 hours 5 minutes 18 seconds. At right is Douglas G. Corrigan, who is Californian, who flew the wrong way from New York to Ireland. He said he mistook route to Los Angeles.

ITALIANS "SHOCKED" AT SPEECH

Chamberlain's Firm Assurance To France

ROME, Feb. 6. MR. NEVILLE CHAMBERLAIN'S statement in the House of Commons has given a shock to Italian political circles, who regard it as a more clear-cut expression of Anglo-French unity of interests than Mr. Chamberlain had ever made before.

It was suggested in one quarter that Mr. Chamberlain's statement was tantamount to an announcement of a military alliance, and as binding as that proclaimed by Herr Hitler between Germany and Italy.

Many political observers consider the statement shatters the belief which always existed in Italy that no assurance of military support would ever be given by Great Britain to France. It was contended that such an assurance had been sought by M. Daladier after the Munich agreement and refused by Mr. Chamberlain. Now, it is suggested that M. Daladier has been more successful.

Official circles decline to comment, except to say that Italy's natural aspirations threaten the vital interests of no country.—Reuter.

PREMIER'S ASSURANCE

In answer to a question in the House of Commons yesterday, Mr. Chamberlain said that M. Bonnet's statement that in the event of war in which Britain and France were involved all Britain's forces would be at France's disposal was in complete accordance with the views of the British Government.

"It is impossible to examine all hypothetical cases which might arise," Mr. Chamberlain said, "but I feel bound to make it plain that the solidarity of interest by which France and Great Britain are united is such that any threat to the vital interests of France, from whatever quarter it may come, must evoke the immediate co-operation of this country."

PARIS PLEASSED

Paris, Feb. 6. Mr. Chamberlain's statement in the House of Commons regarding Anglo-French relations, in which he confirmed M. Bonnet's announcement that in the event of war, all France's resources would be at the disposal of Britain, just as Britain's would be at the disposal of France, is regarded here in French political circles as a most important announcement, marking the close and indissoluble bonds uniting the two democracies.

The assurance is regarded as particularly significant in view of the suggestions that Britain was not warmly interested in Franco-Italian relations, and was only bound to assist France if she were attacked by Germany.

BERLIN REACTION

Meanwhile in Berlin, Mr. Chamberlain's statement has been received with much reserve. The Premier's assurance to France is not entirely new, a spokesman told "Reuter," adding that he thought similar assurances were given at the time of the Czecho-Slovak crisis.

"Everything depends on whether Mr. Chamberlain's words stiffen France's attitude. In that case it may lead to a further increase in the existing tension, and have a pernicious effect."

One commentator said that Mr. Chamberlain's assurance was not unlike the one given to Italy by Germany.—Reuter.

TERRORIST TO DIE IN SOVIET RUSSIA

Moscow, Feb. 6. The second death sentence within a week for terrorism in resistance to labour discipline, has been imposed on M. K. Smirnov at Shatura.

Discharged for drunkenness and disorganising production, he shot and seriously wounded his foreman. The Workers' Intelligentsia passed a resolution asking for the severest penalty to be imposed.—United Press.

Cotton Board To Control British Sales

London, Feb. 6. The draft of the Government's Cotton Industry Reorganisation Bill was issued to-night.

It proposes the establishment of a Cotton Industry Board of 15 members, financially assisted by the Board of Trade.

The Board's function broadly will be firstly, keeping a register of firms for the collection of levies; secondly, promotion of the general interests of the industry by technical and economic research, and general publicity measures; thirdly, examination of sectional schemes.

Special steps contemplated include the establishment of an export development committee, and a representative advisory council.

SAFEGUARDING INTERESTS

Special provision is made for safeguarding the interests of the rayon, wool, and textile industries, and one of the most important changes proposed is the compulsory registration of firms in a general register to be kept by the Cotton Industry Board. Registration for merchants is to be optional.

Government assistance is provided on a £ for a £ basis to the Board's expenditure during the first five years up to a maximum of £40,000 a year. It is also proposed to include provisions to ensure the service of any loan raised by the sectional board for the purpose of a redundancy scheme to be met. The total of such loans will be limited to £2,000,000.—Reuter.

AIR MAIL DELAYED

London air-mail dated January 29, due to-day, has been further delayed and will not now arrive until noon to-morrow.

COURIER TELLS KULING PEOPLE TO LEAVE

SHANGHAI, Feb. 6.

A JAPANESE SPOKESMAN said to-day that information from Kikung indicated that foreign residents at Kuling had been informed of the necessity for evacuating.

However, he could not explain how this was to be enforced and by whom.

He said that he assumed a courier had been despatched, or would be despatched to Kikung to negotiate with the Japanese authorities details of the evacuation arrangements.

The spokesman added that the Japanese had not changed their plans to attack Kuling after February 10.

CHINESE ATTITUDE

They had no information concerning the Chinese attitude, or whether the Chinese guerrillas would attempt to prevent foreigners from evacuating Kuling.

He also said that he knew nothing of negotiations between the Japanese, British and American authorities in Hankow concerning the evacuation.

However, the spokesman admitted that Japanese troops had already been active in the vicinity of Kuling, although as yet they had not launched a major attack.—United Press.

ATTACK REPULSED

Wanchafow, Feb. 7. Two successive assaults launched by the Japanese on Kuling, famous summer resort in north Kiangsi, on Sunday morning were repulsed by the Chinese, according to field dispatches.

The first attack was made by about 300 Japanese troops against the Chinese entrenched at Changling-chuch and Taisiao, southwest of Kuling.

It was repelled after two-hours' fighting. Soon after with the aid of reinforcements, the Japanese assaulted the Chinese positions at Taisiao, but were again driven back after bitter fighting.—Central News.

Recruits Flock To Join R.A.F.

London, Feb. 6.

The Air Ministry announces that 1,000 recruits joined the Royal Air Force during the past week, compared with 358 in the corresponding period last year.

This brings the total acceptance of pilots, observers, airmen and boys since April 1 last year to 27,862, compared with 13,292 during the corresponding period of the previous year.—Reuter.

CHIANG CONSTRUCTING NEW MAGINOT LINE IN INTERIOR

JAPAN HAS A SPY SCARE

TOKYO, Feb. 7.
JAPAN IS excited at a new spy scare—this time one directed by China.
In the Lower House of the Diet to-day, a spokesman of the Ministry for Home Affairs announced that espionage in favour of China and other foreign countries had become very active in Japan since the outbreak of Sino-Japanese hostilities.
The police officials, he declared, were doing everything possible to "frustrate such sinister activities."
Espionage on behalf of foreign countries, he said, had been most marked with regard to munition industries in Japan.—Domet.

GIGANTIC DEFENCE SYSTEM CUTS THROUGH SZECHUAN

NANKING, Feb. 7.

TAKING STRONG PRECAUTIONS against further advance inland by the Japanese forces, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek has started the construction of gigantic defence lines along the upper reaches of the Yangtse River.

The line, when completed, will extend from north-western Hupeh through Szechuen to Hunan.

Trout Stream

TOLEDO, O.
Fish will swim in an ultra modern trout stream at Toledo's new aquarium. The stream bed and sides are glass building bricks, to permit entrance of light and improve visibility for observers.

According to reports, the first and foremost centre of the new Chinese defence lines is at Ichang, about 150 miles above Yochow on the north bank of the Yangtse. Construction of a strong boom was recently completed and an imposing mine field had been laid at this point.

THE FOCAL POINTS

Focal points in the new first defence line along the Yangtse on the Hupeh-Szechuen border include Patung, 65 miles west of Ichang on the south bank of the River in western Hupeh, Wushan, Wanshsien, and Fentu in eastern Szechuen.

COLOSSAL JAPANESE IMPERTINENCE

British Navy Told "Don't Do It Again"

TSINGTAO, Feb. 6.
A STRONG PROTEST was lodged with the British consular authorities this afternoon by Mr. D. Katoh, Japanese Consul-General here, with regard to the alleged interference by an officer of the British cruiser Birmingham in the examination of the steamer Yung-cheng by Tsingtao customs officers on January 30.

The Japanese protest pointed out that the officer of H.M.S. Birmingham refused by force examination by the customs officials of the British steamer Yung-cheng which was charged with having violated customs regulations, thus preventing the local officials from executing their duties.

While reminding that such action by the British officer hampered the Japanese policy in Tsingtao, the Japanese authorities asked for an explanation of the unwarrantable action and requested the British authorities to see that similar incidents should not occur in future.

The Japanese Consul-General called on Mr. Martin, the British Consul-General in Tsingtao, at 3 p.m. on Monday.—Domet.

BRITISH C. IN C. ABOARD IDZUMO

Shanghai, Feb. 6.
Vice-Admiral Sir Percy Noble, Commander-in-Chief of the British China Station, and Admiral Henry E. Yarnell, Commander-in-Chief of the American Asiatic Fleet, paid official calls this afternoon to Vice-Admiral Koshiro Oikawa, Commander-in-Chief of the Japanese Fleet in China Waters, aboard the latter's flagship Idzumo.

The British and American Commanders-in-Chief expressed deep sympathy with the Japanese Navy in the disaster which overtook submarine 1-63 of the Japanese Fleet in Bungo Straits on Thursday last.—Domet.

Extrality In Manchukuo

Tokyo, Feb. 7.
"Manchukuo maintains that with its founding it did not inherit any obligations to grant extraterritoriality but that in its protocol with Japan extraterritoriality for the latter country was recognised," the Foreign Office spokesman stated yesterday when replying to an interpellation in the House of Peers.

Regarding the proposed legislation for the abrogation of Japanese consular jurisdiction in Manchukuo, the spokesman said that foreign residents in Manchukuo would be subjected to the same treatment as Japanese nationals in the question of consular jurisdiction as well as in taxation.—Domet.

Closely following up the first line, the second and third lines of fortifications are under construction in the area north of Ichang and west of the Chushui River.

About six divisions of troops are concentrated in Anlu and Suhsien in northern Hupeh, while several divisions of the Central Army are massing near Shing-noyl, about 60 miles north-east of Ichang.

TWO ARTERIAL LINES

Semi-permanent fortifications are under construction south of the Yangtse between Changsha and Tungting Lake with the Kueihai and Hsiangshing Rivers as the two arterial lines.—Domet.

Japanese Shops Open In Canton

First Cabaret Soon To Make Appearance

CANTON, Feb. 6.
LIKE IN Nanking, Hankow and other large Chinese cities under Japanese occupation, Japanese shops of all descriptions are springing up in Canton.

Several Japanese hotels have also opened, complete with waitresses, while it is reported that the first cabaret will shortly make its appearance in the city.

The majority of Japanese shops doing business are of the department-store variety, their stock ranging from beer—Kirin, Sakura or Asahi—and tinned foodstuffs to stoves and bicycles.

Foreign imported goods are also available, such as Lipton's tea and Dutch ball cheese.

PAYMENT IN YEN

Payment is usually demanded in yen, although the National or Hongkong dollar is accepted at the rate of the day.

Most of the shops and hotels are situated on Canton's main street, Tai Ping Lo, where such well-known Japanese institutions as the Yokohama Specie Bank and Mitsui Bussan Kaisha have also opened offices.

During the past few days, the restrictions maintained by the Japanese were intensified owing to the discovery that Chinese gunmen had somehow managed to filter into the city from the surrounding countryside.

Three Chinese, described by the Japanese as "guerrillas," were found with arms last week. One was shot dead in trying to give battle, but the other two were taken to the Japanese camp.

Regarding the proposed legislation for the abrogation of Japanese consular jurisdiction in Manchukuo, the spokesman said that foreign residents in Manchukuo would be subjected to the same treatment as Japanese nationals in the question of consular jurisdiction as well as in taxation.—Domet.

MAJOR GENERAL SIR CHARLES CORKRAN

GENERAL, KILLED BY GUNSHOT, KNOWN HERE

Son Was Once Held For Ransom

IT HAS JUST BEEN revealed that Major General Sir Charles Corkran, who was accidentally shot in the grounds of his home, Fitzharrys Manor, Abingdon, last month, was the father of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Corkran, of Shanghai.

Mr. Corkran, it will be recalled, was held captive with Mrs. Muriel Pawley by bandits in Manchuria in 1932. The couple were captured by the bandits as they were riding on the railway near Yenchow and were not released until, 45 days later, a ransom of $300,000 had been paid by the Japanese.

Mr. Corkran subsequently married Miss Molly Payne Smith and a daughter was born in Shanghai in 1934.

SHOOTING PIGEONS

The late Major General Sir Charles Corkran was accidentally shot when he was shooting pigeons in his grounds at Abingdon.

His body was found by Lady Corkran and Miss Merjorie Corkran in a stream. The shot-gun was nearby.

At a subsequent inquiry the Coroner returned a verdict of "Accidental Death."

Sir Charles, who was sixty-six, had been Commandant of the Royal Military College, Sandhurst, and G.O.C. the London District. Two years ago he was appointed Sergeant-at-Arms in the House of Lords.

Kweiyang City "Wiped Out"

Chungking, Feb. 6.
Foreign missionary circles at Kweiyang have wired Chungking regarding last Saturday's bombing of Kweiyang that "all foreigners are safe, though the business section of the city was completely wiped out."

Regarding Saturday's bombing of Kweiyang, later official reports confirm the destruction of the French Catholic church, although no mention was made of the fate of foreigners there. However, they are believed to be safe.

The reports also stated that the chief Mohammedan mosque was destroyed, while two newspaper offices and two banks were burned.

The French Catholic church burned for a very long time. The death-roll at Kweiyang is estimated to be 300 dead, while total casualties are put at over 1,000.—United Press.

War In Spain

RESISTANCE ENDS IN CATALONIA AS MINISTERS LEAVE

PARIS, Feb. 6.

THE PRESIDENT OF the Basque Federal Government, Senor Manuel Aguirre, arrived here to-day from Perpignan by train.

He looked worn out and very depressed, as, accompanied by the former Minister of Justice, Senor Irujo, he was met at the station by an official of the Spanish Embassy in Paris.

In reply to questions by newspapermen, who asked whether the retreat of the Loyalist troops had been ordered by the Government, the ex-President said: "Yes. The order for evacuation has been given. The troops will arrive in successive groups, and I think the retreat will be completed on Monday."

Asked if, in his opinion, any peace negotiations would have prospect of success, Senor Aguirre excitedly replied: "We shall win. We shall win."

He added that he had met President Azana in Perpignan on Sunday but was unaware of his intentions.—Trans-Ocean.

WEARY REFUGEES

Le Perthus, Feb. 6.
Long lines of weary refugees, footsore and hungry, crossed into France to-day.

Ditches on either side of the road for a distance of two miles beyond the frontier were filled with miscellaneous arms.

Rifles, light machine-guns, and heavy revolvers, with other weapons, lay where they had been cast aside by the fleeing Loyalist troops.

Meanwhile, according to a Burgos message, the Insurgents continue to make progress in the coastal sector, having occupied Calonge and Llabrit.

With the Insurgent forces at Andorra, on the frontier, this afternoon, it was estimated that Loyalist forces were entering France at the rate of between five and six thousand an hour.—Reuter Special.

MEDIATION FAILS

London, Feb. 6.
British and French efforts to arrange a cessation of fighting in the Spanish war failed to-day in face of a refusal by both sides to yield to the suggested terms.

General Franco demanded an unconditional Loyalist surrender, while the Loyalist Government was split, Dr. Juan Negrin and Senor Alvarez Del Vayo making a three-point offer to General Franco, while President Manuel Azana favoured unconditional surrender to prevent further bloodshed.

At least temporarily, Negrin and Del Vayo are victorious and the Loyalists are determined to continue resistance.

Dr. Negrin's proposals were, firstly, the withdrawal of foreign troops, secondly a plebiscite, Spaniards to determine the future Government, and thirdly, no reprisals on either side.

The "Paris Solr" reports that the Loyalists have agreed to evacuate 70 German, Italian, and French military and political prisoners this afternoon as a guarantee of no reprisals.—United Press.

AZANA IN SWITZERLAND

Geneva, Feb. 6.
Reports received here state that President Azana of the Spanish Republic arrived in Cologne, 20 miles south-west of Lake Geneva immediately on the Franco-Swiss border at 6 o'clock this evening.

President Azana, it is stated, is on his way to his brother-in-law, the former Spanish Consul-General at Geneva.—Trans-Ocean.

The Royal Observatory weather report stated that the anti-cyclone over China has increased considerably in intensity; pressure remains highest to the north of the Lower Yangtse Valley. The depression has deepened considerably and is nearly stationary over East Hokkaido.

Local forecasts: North-east and east winds; fresh gales.

PARIS, Feb. 6.

FACING A VERY DELICATE diplomatic situation following the Loyalists' rout in Catalonia, France to-day advised Dr. Negrin and Senor Companys who were at Perpignan, and President Jose Aguirre of the Basque Government, that their governments would not be permitted to function as governments on French soil.

They were informed that they and their companions would be given refuge and would be treated as the heads of friendly governments. However, they must not make a move which would prejudice France's position of absolute neutrality.

WORKLESS EXCEEDS 2,000,000

LONDON, Feb. 7.
FOR THE FIRST time in many years, unemployment in the United Kingdom has risen above the two million mark.

Official figures issued by the Ministry of Labour last night reveal that, on the count taken on January 18, the total number of unemployed was 2,039,020, which is an increase of 207,654 compared with December 12, and an increase of 211,410 in a year.

The increase since December 12 is attributable to the slackening off after Christmas trade, which substantially reduced unemployment in several quarters.

At the end of December the distributive trades had 12,934 fewer unemployed and coal mining, motor vehicles, aircrafts, docks, metal goods and engineering showed improvements.

On the other hand there were substantial increases in unemployment in agriculture, horticulture, pottery, public works contracting, fishing, food manufacture, hosiery, cocoa and confectionery.

Increase in unemployment were most evident in the south-east, north-east, north, Scotland and Wales.

Hitler's Orders To Herr Funk

BERLIN, Feb. 6. IT IS LEARNED that when Herr Walter Funk took over the presidency of the Reichsbank, he was told that wages, prices, and currency must be kept stable, and that increased taxation as required by Dr. Schacht must be avoided.

Nazi theories also reject inflation, but hold that an increase in banknote circulation is not inflationary so long as the increase is accompanied by a larger production of goods.

It is learned that Herr Funk's view is that the financing of the Nazi regime cannot be the task of one generation, but debts must be spread over a longer period, which is also contrary to Dr. Schacht's policy.

CANNOT HELP STATE

Industrial firms and the public are no longer able to help the State in defraying the enormous costs of armaments and public works.

Two possibilities are being considered; one is the extension of short and medium-term debts beyond the present maturity dates; the other is the creation of a new kind of bonds resembling delivery notes.

It is understood that Herr Walter Funk hopes, by development of the Four Year plan, and further rationalization of industry, that it will be possible considerably to increase production, thus preventing a rise in prices.

He hopes to settle Germany's international debt problem, and he is of the opinion that when Jewish emigration is settled, the danger of a flight of capital will be removed.

It will then be possible to relax foreign currency restrictions, and consider the question of new foreign credits for Germany.—Reuter.

CANTON, Feb. 6. Because of improving conditions, the restrictions on coded telegrams, enforced since the occupation of Canton by the Japanese, have been suspended.

WAR ON TWO CONTINENTS

These two maps show you what has happened in Spain and in China in two years of warfare. Lightly shaded areas were those held by the insurgents in Spain and by the Japanese in China at the beginning of 1938. The heavily shaded parts show what they have gained in the intervening 14 months.

In Spain, Catalonia is about to completely fall to combined assault by insurgents and Italians. In China, however, the Japanese hold on their "occupied territory" is precarious, because there are a million guerrillas in the vast areas to which they claim possession, and they exercise control only in proximity to navigable rivers and the rail-ways.

LONDON, Feb. 6. THREE HUNDRED CLAIMS, amounting to £230,000 for destruction, confiscation and damage by looting have been accepted as admissible from British firms in China, and have been presented to the Japanese Government, declared Mr. R. A. Butler in the House of Commons to-day, when answering Sir Charles Cazyer.

Replying to supplementary questions, the Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs stated that claims of this kind were usually settled at the end of the hostilities.

Asked whether it was not the case that the Japanese had declared they will pay no compensation for loss of property, Mr.

Butler replied: "I would not care to accept such a general statement as that."

ROAD TO BURMA

Captain Peter Macdonald asked whether the Government of Burma was giving any assistance to the improvement of the existing road to the Chinese frontier, from which point it continued to Yunnan, and if not, whether in view of the development of this trade route to the Far East, it can bring this thoroughfare up to modern standards.

Lieut.-Col. Muirhead, Under-Secretary for India and Burma, replied that the Government of Burma had already brought the road from Lashio to the Chinese frontier, a distance of about 120 miles, up to an all-weather standard. Further work was in progress upon its development.

ASSURANCE TO FRANCE

Italians Shocked At Chamberlain's Speech

ROME, Feb. 6. MR. NEVILLE CHAMBERLAIN'S statement in the House of Commons has given a shock to Italian political circles, who regard it as a more clear-cut expression of Anglo-French unity of interests than Mr. Chamberlain had ever made before.

It was suggested in one quarter that Mr. Chamberlain's statement was tantamount to an announcement of a military alliance, and as binding as that proclaimed by Herr Hitler between Germany and Italy.

Many political observers consider the statement shatters the belief which always existed in Italy that no assurance of military support would ever be given by Great Britain to France. It was contended that such an assurance had been sought by M. Daladier after the Munich agreement and refused by Mr. Chamberlain. Now, it is suggested that M. Daladier has been more successful.

Official circles decline to comment, except to say that Italy's natural aspirations threaten the vital interests of no country.—Reuter.

PREMIER'S ASSURANCE

In answer to a question in the House of Commons yesterday, Mr. Chamberlain said that M. Bonnet's statement that in the event of war in which Britain and France were involved all Britain's forces would be at France's disposal was in complete accordance with the views of the British Government.

"It is impossible to examine all hypothetical cases which might arise," Mr. Chamberlain added, "but I feel bound to make it plain that the solidarity of the compulsory registration of firms in a general register to be kept by the Cotton Industry Board. Registration for merchants is to be optional.

Government assistance is provided on a £ for a £ basis to the Board's expenditure during the first five years up to a maximum of £40,000 a year. It is also proposed to include provisions to ensure the service of any loan raised by the sectional board for the purpose of a redundancy scheme to be met. The total of such loans will be limited to £2,000,000.—Reuter.

PARIS PLEASED Paris, Feb. 6. Mr. Chamberlain's statement in the House of Commons regarding Anglo-French relations in which he confirmed M. Bonnet's announcement that in the event of war, all France's resources would be at the disposal of Britain, just as Britain's would be at the disposal of France, is regarded here in French political circles as a most important announcement, marking the close and indissoluble bonds uniting the two democracies.

The assurance is regarded as particularly significant in view of the suggestions that Britain was not warmly interested in Franco-Italian relations, and was only bound to assist France if she were attacked by Germany.

BERLIN REACTION Meanwhile in Berlin, Mr. Chamberlain's statement has been received with much reserve. The Premier's assurance to France is not entirely new, a spokesman told "Reuter," adding that he thought similar assurances were given at the time of the Czechoslovak crisis.

"Everything depends on whether Mr. Chamberlain's words stiffen France's attitude. In that case it may lead to a further increase in the existing tension, and have a paralytic effect."

"One commentator" said that Mr. Chamberlain's assurance was not unlike the one given to Italy by Germany.—Reuter.

Cotton Board To Control British Sales

London, Feb. 6. The draft of the Government's Cotton Industry Reorganisation Bill was issued to-night.

It proposes the establishment of a Cotton Industry Board of 15 members, financially assisted by the Board of Trade.

The Board's function broadly will be firstly, keeping a register of firms for the collection of levies; secondly promotion of the general interests of the industry by technical and economic research, and general publicity measures; thirdly examination of sectional schemes.

Special steps contemplated include the establishment of an export development committee, and a representative advisory council.

SAFEGUARDING INTERESTS Special provision is made for safeguarding the interests of the rayon, wool, and textile industries, and one of the most important changes proposed is the compulsory registration of firms in a general register to be kept by the Cotton Industry Board. Registration for merchants is to be optional.

Government assistance is provided on a £ for a £ basis to the Board's expenditure during the first five years up to a maximum of £40,000 a year. It is also proposed to include provisions to ensure the service of any loan raised by the sectional board for the purpose of a redundancy scheme to be met. The total of such loans will be limited to £2,000,000.—Reuter.

Chinese Comes Home To Die

Poignant Drama On The Changto

TWO YEARS ago Ah Hore, having just reached man's allotted span, came home to China to die. He came too soon. A fortnight ago he started out from Australia once more, but this time he came too late.

The spirit of Ah Hore went to join those of his ancestors a few short hours after he was carried, gravely ill, on board the Changto at Townsville. His body was embalmed, and, as he desired, will be buried in China. Ah Hore was 72 when he died. He may be remembered in the village of Chock Sau Yuen, in the Chungshan district, which he left many years ago to go to Australia, where he worked as a coolie.

He came home two years ago, but felt that death was still some way off and returned to Australia. Death was closer than he realised. He was carried aboard the Changto at 6 p.m. on January 23 and died five hours later. In that time he could not give any information regarding himself, but it is believed that he has many descendants in China.

These, however, are thought to be unaware of his death, for no-one waited to greet Ah Hore when, for the last time, he "came home" again this morning.

ANOTHER BODY ABOARD

Ah Hore is not the only Chinese who has died aboard when en route to China. There are several similar deaths in the records of Australian ships.

These same ships frequently carry to ancestral burial places the bodies of Chinese deceased in Australia. The Changto carried one such body on this trip—listed, with technical accuracy, but without disrespect, as cargo.

be exported from Tsingtao when the exports had been finished through foreign banks by means of the Chinese national currency, and whether such a refusal had been extended to any other ports in China.

Mr. Butler, in reply, said that there had been cases in recent months in which the Japanese authorities at Tsingtao had refused to permit exports, either on the ground mentioned by Mr. Morgan, or without assigning any reason.

The British Consul-General at Tsingtao had made frequent representations on this matter to his Japanese colleagues, who pleaded various reasons as justification for the action taken.

The matter had also been taken up by Sir Robert Craigie in Tokyo.

The system of export permits was recently extended to Chefoo and Weihaiwei, where the situation was being closely watched, declared Mr. Butler.—Reuter.

JAPANESE REJECTION

Last week the Japanese Government announced that it would reject American, British, French and other claims to indemnity for losses suffered in the Chinese-Japanese war.

Foreign Minister Hiroshi Arima made the announcement to the Diet, saying that "in principle" Japan intends to refuse to indemnify third-power losses sustained during the Japanese invasion of China.

Japan will respect "as far as possible" third-power rights and interests in China, but nevertheless is not prepared to meet their indemnity claims, Arima said during Diet interpellations.

The foreign minister's blunt statement evoked widespread comment in both Japanese and foreign circles, particularly in view of the sharp warnings the United States, Great Britain and France have made regarding alleged violation of their interests in the Japanese-occupied zones of China.

An inspired article distributed by the official Domei news agency quoted authoritative sources as revealing Japan believes third-powers in China should be on the same status as Chinese property owners, who must bear their own war losses.

Russian Guard Caught With Smuggled Opium

Shanghai, Feb. 6. French Concession detectives today caught R. Kovalevich, a 19-year-old Russian guard aboard Jardine's s.s. Shuntien, which docked at French Bund, when he attempted to bring ashore a bundle containing eight and a half pounds of raw opium.

Kovalevich did not resist arrest, but he said that a Chinese passenger handed him the bundle, promising him 30 yuan if he took it ashore.

The French police also arrested a passenger, who admitted that he bought the opium at Tientsin for 932 yuan for the purpose of selling it in Shanghai where the current market rate is 1,632 yuan.—United Press.

Message Addressed To Sir Archibald Kerr Clark Kerr

CHUNGKING, Feb. 7.

A JOINT LETTER voicing the loyalty of the Chinese people in North China to the National Government and their hopes of positive British assistance to China was addressed by 420 influential Chinese residents in Tientsin to Sir Archibald Kerr Clark Kerr, British Ambassador to China, on February 4 during his visit to the port city, according to a Tientsin message.

The letter declares that the Chinese people in North China continue to support the National Government and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and are ready to stand whatever hardships for China's war against Japanese aggression. They will never surrender to the invaders nor recognise the bogus governments.

As a clear demonstration of their patriotism, generous donations, the letter says, have been remitted monthly to the National Government since the beginning of the Sino-Japanese hostilities. Even in the last month alone as many as 120 remittances were made.

Denying the current "peace movement" in North China, the letter reveals that it is entirely sponsored by the Japanese. Having been forced to engage in a war which threatens the very existence of the state, the Chinese have no alternative but fight to the bitter end, it states.

The letter goes on to say that after 10 months of the war, the Japanese are occupying the communication lines and the principal towns while districts beyond the communication lines are still under Chinese control. Huge Chinese armed forces are still actively harassing the Japanese in North China.

As a further indication of Japan's inability to control the "occupied" areas, the letter adds, circulation of the banknotes issued by the bogus Federal Reserve Bank is limited to the railway towns. In places only a few miles beyond the railway lines, they are not accepted at all.

The letter expresses the hope that for the sake of justice, humanity, world peace as well as her own interests in the Far East, Great Britain will manifest greater sympathy for and extend positive assistance to China.

Concluding, the letter regrets that under present circumstances the Chinese are unable to openly extend a warm welcome to the British Ambassador upon his first visit to North China but hopes that if he comes again after two or three years, he will see the Chinese national flag hoisted everywhere and will be warmly received by the Chinese.

Sir Archibald who proceeded from Tientsin to Peking yesterday will stay in the old capital for a week. He will then go to Chingwangtao where he will board a British gunboat to return to Shanghai.—Central News.

This brings the total acceptance of pilots, observers, airmen and boys, since April 1 last year to 27,862, compared with 13,282 during the corresponding period of the previous year.—Reuter.

PLEA TO AMERICANS Aid to Japan is War on China

CHUNGKING, Feb. 6.

THE CHINA-BORN American social service leader, the Rev. George Fitch, who during the time of the fall of Nanking, acted as director of the safety zone for Chinese refugees, and who is at present here as secretary of the National Committee of the Chinese Y.M.C.A., today addressed 400 men and women.

when he said that though American manufacturers had definitely stopped supplying Japan with munitions, such raw materials as cotton, iron, and war necessities like gasoline were still going to Japan in big quantities.

He said that this was tantamount to China fighting two Powers, namely Japan and America, and he hoped Congress would pass a law forbidding exportation to Japan of such

Arabs Prepare Their Case

London, Feb. 6.

The Arab High Committee delegates are busily engaged in last-minute preparations of the case they will present at the London Palestine conference.

Briefly the case will be: firstly, recognition of Palestine's complete independence; secondly, replacement of the mandate by treaty; thirdly, abolition of the Balfour Declaration; fourthly, immediate cessation of Jewish immigration, and land sales.

The question of a possible confederacy has also engaged attention, but it is felt that this subject could be best broached after signature of a treaty with Britain.

MUFTI'S ATTITUDE STIFFENS

The High Committee delegates received numerous cables from bodies in Egypt and Palestine. Two particularly insisted that the Defence Party delegates should speak only for themselves, and that the High Committee should solely represent Palestine. The cables have tended to stiffen the attitude of the Mufti Party towards the Defence Party, and the possibility of an early rapprochement between the two Arab delegations now seems to be remote.

Support for the Arab demands came to-day from the Muslim League of India through its London representatives. A manifesto sympathising with, and augmenting the Arab claims of independence, was issued this evening. A copy was placed in the hands of the Marquess of Zetland, Secretary for India, who promised to convey the contents to the Government.

WOULD CO-OPERATE

Fakhri Nakhshibi of the Arab Defence delegation, in an interview with "Reuter" to-day said he felt certain the British Government had a real intention of finding a solution and to establish peace in Palestine.

The National Defence Party would accept any proposition leading eventually to independence of Palestine.

He claimed that the Party represents at least 75 per cent of the material interests in Palestine, and over 60 per cent in numbers.

Whatever the result, the delegation would do what was just for the country without regard to personal ambitions. The Defence Party would co-operate completely with the mandatory Government to find a solution.—Reuter.

Japan's $1,000,000 "Peace Bell" For World Fair

TOKYO, Feb. 7.

A $1,000,000 "Peace Bell" has been completed and is ready for shipment to New York where it will be displayed in the Japan Hall at the World Fair opening on March 30.

The Peace Bell is modelled after the Liberty Bell, now hanging in the Philadelphia State House. It is one-third of the size of the original, but with the Liberty Bell crack reproduced.

The bell is of silver, studded with 11,000 pearls and 300 diamonds. The crack of the bell is represented by fancy pearls.

Silver bars, studded with white and black pearl-oyster shells support the bell.

The inscription on the bell is: "Proclaim liberty throughout all the land—unto all the inhabitants thereof."

Mikimoto, the famous cultured pearl makers manufactured the bell. The name of the steamer which will carry the $1,000,000 bell across the Pacific is a secret. The bell will be taken from San Francisco to New York in an armoured car, escorted by G-Men.—United Press.

LATEST HONGKONG-RANGOON AIRWAYS PLANS REVEALED

CHUNGKING, Feb. 6.

OFFICIALS of the China National Aviation Corporation are busy preparing the inauguration of regular mail and passenger flights from China proper to Burma.

It is tentatively decided that while Imperial Airways will inaugurate the Rangoon-Hongkong line via Kunming in Chinese territory, C.N.A.C. are planning to operate a regular line from Chungking to Rangoon.

It has been tentatively decided to make one double journey each week between Chungking and Rangoon. It is stated that on the journey to Rangoon, passengers and mails from Chungking to England will be taken, while on the journey from Rangoon, mails and passengers from England will be carried.

It is stated that the C.N.A.C. planes will wait at Rangoon and thus meet the Imperial Airways planes regularly every week.

On the other hand the Imperial Airways are opening a branch to the London-Melbourne trunk line from Rangoon to Hongkong via Kunming, and possibly Hanoi.

Officials of the C.N.A.C. said to-day that a giant American Douglas stream-lined plane was scheduled to leave Chungking on February 9 for Rangoon on the first trial flight, returning to Chungking the next day.

The second trial flight is scheduled for February 18, and officials expect the line to be operating early in March.

They said that it was expected Imperial Airways' Rangoon-Hongkong line would be opened about the same time.

Mr. Hwang Pao-hsien, chief manager and director of C.N.A.C., arrived here from Kunming to-day after conferring with a representative of Imperial Airways there on the opening of the new lines.

C.N.A.C. officials said that the Imperial Airways representative, who was scheduled to come here to meet the Chinese authorities, may again postpone his trip owing to technical business on the spot.—United Press.

Another "Puppet" Murdered

Third Assassination In Shanghai In Three Days

SHANGHAI, Feb. 7.

AN ASSASSIN fatality shot Chow Chi-tang, 37 year-old Counselor of the Nanking Reformed Regime's salt administration near the United States Marines headquarters to-day.

The victim was riding in his rickshaw when the assassination was carried out.

He is the third Nanking official to be assassinated in three days, and so far no arrests have been made.

ONE SHOT FATAL

Chow was killed with a single shot in the back of the neck. However, he was rushed to the Paulin Hospital before it was realised he was dead.

The sole assassin escaped.

The victim was en route to his Sina Road office from his Seymour Road residence, and was killed in Gordon Road.

It is noteworthy that the crime was committed in circumstances almost identical to yesterday's assassination of Chen Wu the Japanese-controlled administration censor.

Chow had also served in the Nanking Regime's Joss Money and Tax Bureau in Chekiang and Kiangsu.—United Press.

London, Feb. 6.

On the London Stock Exchange to-day, Home Rails provided the brightest feature on maintenance of the Southern Railway dividend of five per cent on preferred and ordinary stock, while other railway holdings sympathetically improved.

Gilt-edged securities benefited by investment support, and elsewhere foreign bonds were harder, while among industrials, motors were better on the announcement of an Austin plan to build commercial vehicles.

Among gold-mining issues, West Africans were active, while Kaffirs were firm.

Among commodities, jute was firm on a reserve of sellers, following confirmation of the Government order for 200,000,000 sandbags.

CHINESE PROFESSOR

Chen Yin-ko Appointed To Oxford

London, Feb. 6.

The first native-born Chinese to hold a professorship in a British University, Mr. Chen Yin-ko, has been appointed Professor of Chinese at Oxford.

For some time past the Universities' China Committee has been stressing the importance of having a Chinese professor at one of the leading Universities. It is understood that Oxford's decision was largely influenced by the advice of Dr. Hu Shih.

Mr. Chen is 47 and a student from Harvard, Berlin and Paris. For the past 10 years he has been Professor of History at Tsinghua University. He is a native of Kiangsu and grandson of a former famous Governor of Honan. He takes up his duties in October. It is understood that his salary will be £280 a year.

Mr. E. R. Hughes, present Reader in Chinese at Oxford, will deputise till Mr. Chen arrives. It is understood he will then continue to serve as assistant Chinese Professor.—Reuter.

A Look Through The "Telegraph"

50 YEARS AGO

The Japanese are gaining advanced ideas rapidly. Their latest mission—consisting of Mr. Banako Haseki, the Police-Inspector-General and Procurator at Tokyo, with a suite of very intelligent cadets—visited Hongkong the other day on their way to Europe, where they will study the police systems in each country. They admired the "fine buildings" over which Major-General Gordon and Captain Deane preside, but thought their own police administration quite as effective.

After an interval of eleven years the Admiral and Officers of the China Squadron again entertained local society at a ball in the City Hall last evening. Working parties from the various mon-of-war were busy for days adorning the spacious rooms, and very attractive was the effect.

The German officials in Samoa have accused Mr. Blacklock, the United States Consul, and Captain Laney, of the American war vessel Adams, of instigating the recent rising in Samoa, by supplying Mataafa with rifles. Prince Bismarck has made a formal complaint to the United States authorities at Washington.

A section of the German press urges the annexation of Samoa by Germany, asserting that American interests are not large enough to justify any dispute with Germany over the matter.

The Vienna Tagblatt declares that Signor Menabrea informed M. Coubertin that Italy would decline to consider the employment of Italian teachers. France then practically withdrew the decree.

"Reuter's" Berlin correspondent says that in the Committee of the Reichstag considering the Naval Estimates, Herr von Jagow, the Foreign Secretary, said Germany's relations with Great Britain could be described as very good, a rapprochement was progressing. The relations between the two Cabinets were in every way marked by mutual confidence.

Admiral von Tirpitz, the Secretary of State for the Navy, emphasised that Great Britain's ratio of 16 to 10 was still acceptable, but a Naval holiday could not be realised. Any positive proposals received, however, would be examined in a spirit of goodwill.

"Reuter's" Agency learns that Italy is still negotiating directly with Turkey regarding the retrocession of the Aegean Islands. At present the post-Adams relates to the Italian desire to obtain compensatory concessions in the region of Adalia, Asia Minor, where these might conflict with the British interests and prejudice British rights in view of railway extensions, but the matter is the subject of friendly discussion between Italy and the British Company concerned.

The Daily Chronicle says that Mr. Ramsay MacDonald desires to retire from the Chairmanship of the Labour Party.

owing to a large number of hostesses at home visiting the Tango, the Telegraph approached Lady May, this morning as to her opinion of the Tango for the forthcoming ball to be held at Government House on February 19. Lady May said that she knew nothing about the Tango dance or the kindred dances; personally, she was in favour of the old grand and stately dances which formed the programme of the English hostess.

Sir Henry May was not in favour of the Tango and we could state that the dances as the Tango would be excluded from any programme at Government House. Lady May preferred enthusiastically the Minuet and other dances which were so popular in the Victorian era.

Boatswain Dies On Voyage

Victoria, Vancouver Is., Feb. 6. The British motorship, Queen Victoria, arrived here to-day from Shanghai, and reported that the boatswain, George Lorrimer had died of small-pox, and that another man was also believed to be suffering from the disease. The vessel was put into quarantine, and the entire crew isolated.—Reuter.

corde bridgehead, where most of the casualties occurred.

Before dawn, it will be impossible to get a complete picture of the destruction and the cost, but the Prefect of Police has already announced that twelve persons were killed and between five and six thousand wounded, or otherwise injured. For five hours, the Place de la Concordie resembled a battlefield, in which a grim struggle swayed to and fro between Republican Guards and a mob of over thirty thousand. Time and again, it seemed that the Guards must be overwhelmed and once the mob forced its way right to the steps of the Chamber of Deputies to be met with a direct fire from troops on guard.

Paraguay and Bolivia, who have been at war in the Gran Chaco for months past, have agreed to a proposal by His Holiness the Pope providing for an exchange of prisoners.

PROTESTS IN COMMONS AT STOPPAGE OF SHIPPING

LONDON, Feb. 6.

THE JAPANESE HAVE alleged that they are conducting military operations which would be impeded by the movement of third-party ships, replied Mr. R. A. Butler in the House of Commons to-day, when asked by Commander A. Marsden under what rule of international law the Japanese were preventing British vessels using the Pearl River.

CHAPLIN'S NEW FILM

Satire Aimed At Dictators

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 6.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN has broken his silence about his new film "The Dictators," in which he is to have a talking role for the first time.

The story and dialogue are finished, he said, and screening will begin on March 15. It is hoped that the film will be ready for release in the autumn.

The story naturally is concerned with dictators, but primary purpose is to make people laugh. "The present political situation makes an exceptional vehicle for comedy. People with an over-abundance of dignity and an over-supply of power always, in the end, have been the targets of laughter," declared the film star.

Chaplin plays the dual role of dictator and the inmate of a concentration camp resembles him exactly.—Reuter.

Anglo-German Coal Agreement

LONDON, Feb. 6.

NO PARTICULARS have been published yet concerning the Anglo-German agreement that is to serve as a basis for the creation of the projected European coal cartel.

However, it is pointed out that in the quota question, Germany proposed that the exports of 1937 should serve as the starting point of the discussions, while England wanted to use the average export figures of the last 10 years. Finally it was agreed that the average exports for the last five years should be adopted as the basis.

This would give Britain a quota of 52 per cent, and Germany 30 per cent, of European export.

However, these figures cannot be taken as either final or official.—Trans-Ocean.

Asked by Mr. Arthur Henderson whether the Government proposed to make any response to the request of the Chinese Government for assistance, Mr. Butler declared that certain Chinese proposals for economic assistance were under consideration, but he was unable to make a detailed statement at present.

YANGTSE BLOCKADE

Asked by Commander A. Marsden whether he had received any statement from the Japanese Government on the question of the re-opening of the Yangtze River, Mr. Butler said that no statement had been received subsequent to their note of November 14 last.

Further evidence of Japanese trading on the Yangtze had been communicated to the Japanese Minister for Foreign Affairs by the British Ambassador to Tokyo on January 13.

Mr. A. V. Alexander (Lab.): Is the British Government acquiescing in the policy of holding up British shipping?

Mr. Butler: No.—Reuter.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 6.

REPLYING TO QUESTIONS, firstly whether the Japanese navy claims the right to stop any vessel in the China Seas, secondly, if the vessel's papers establish a third power ownership, whether the Japanese navy will reimburse losses suffered by the vessel during the seizure, a Japanese naval spokesman to-day said that the Japanese navy reserves the right to stop vessels under the proclamation issued more than six months ago.

This was due to the fact that there had been numerous instances where Chinese vessels illegally flew foreign flags, he declared.

In reply to the second question, the spokesman said they had received no demands for compensation.

Tokyo, Feb. 6.

Detention of the s.s. Ada, by the Japanese naval authorities at Amoy was confirmed by the spokesman of the Japanese Fleet in China Waters to-day.

He stated that her ownership was being investigated under the terms of the Japanese naval proclamation blocking the China coast against Chinese shipping, which was issued on September 5, 1937.—Domel.

Mr. Hsu Shih-ying, Acting Chairman of the National Relief Commission, inspected the Chinese refugees at Shumchun across the British border yesterday afternoon. About 98 per cent. of them are women and children while practically all able-bodied men have returned to their native villages.—Central News.

Machine-Gunned Peasants Arrive In Macao

MACAO, Feb. 6.

CONSIDERABLE excitement was evidenced in the main street of Macao, Avenida Almeida Ribeiro, shortly after six o'clock this evening when a large motor ambulance of the Chinese Red Cross halted near the Central Hotel.

The occupants were some of the victims of the machine-gunning of defenceless Kwei Kwan motor-buses by Japanese aircraft at Sam Mun Kin yesterday morning. The injured consisted of three Chinese peasant women and two small children who were in a pitiful state. The head of one of the children was almost completely swathed in bandages. These unfortunate persons are a few of those who were wounded in yesterday's raid and had been considered in a fit condition to make the journey to Macao for further medical treatment.

It is learned from the ambulance driver, Rev. H. A. Wittenbach, that there is no hope for the life of one of the children who sustained a shattered thigh bone and could not possibly be moved. He also reported that a machine-gun bullet had pierced the right lung of the driver of a Nam-Va motor-car. Mr. Wittenbach, however, would not take "dire action" if the driver was engaged in relief work for the Chinese Red Cross.

He arrived in Manila by the U.S.S. Gold Star last week.

PLOT TO DYNAMITE BOW STREET POLICE STATION

London Exasperation At I.R.A. Activities

LONDON, Feb. 6.

LONDON WAS AROUSED to-night when it was made known from an official source that plans had been discovered, showing the police station in Bow Street was to have been blown up during the night.

Scotland Yard was informed of this plot by telephone late this afternoon, whereupon all necessary precautionary measures were taken.

Entrances to Bow Street police court were strongly guarded by detachments of police.

They made a tour of inspection through all parts of the building every half hour, as it was feared that persons who had attended the trial of the 12 Irish republicans might be able, on leaving the building, to conceal a time-bomb somewhere.

MUSEUM GUARDED

Numerous precautionary measures are now being taken at the British Museum.

All visitors are required to open their handbags and attache cases.

The police emphasised that this was merely a precautionary measure and that no indications had been received that any attack on the British Museum was contemplated.

Nevertheless, every person entering the building is closely scrutinised, and strangers are followed about the Museum during their visit.

ROYALTY NOT GOING TO IRELAND

London, Feb. 6. It is officially announced that the Duke and Duchess of Kent, who had accepted an invitation to pay a few days' official visit to Northern Ireland next month, have, on the advice of the Government of Northern Ireland, postponed their visit until later in the year.—Reuter Special.

HOLIDAY CAMP FIRED

London, Feb. 6. A big holiday camp, with amusement facilities, was involved in an extensive fire at Skegness in Lincolnshire to-day.

When fire brigades reached the camp, at which only a skeleton staff is kept during the winter, they found the concert hall, costing £20,000, and the adjoining £10,000 Beer Garden a mass of flames.

The firemen prevented the flames from spreading to 2,000 sleeping chalets nearby.

Incendiarism is suspected.—Reuter Special.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 6.

A JAPANESE SPOKESMAN said to-day that information from Kiukiang indicated that foreign residents at Kuling had been informed of the necessity for evacuating.

However, he could not explain how this was to be enforced and by whom.

He said that he assumed a courier had been despatched, or would be despatched to Kiukiang to negotiate with the Japanese authorities details of the evacuation arrangements.

The spokesman added that the Japanese had not changed their plan to attack Kuling after February 10.

CHINESE ATTITUDE

They had no information concerning the Chinese attitude, or whether the Chinese guerrillas would attempt to prevent foreigners from evacuating Kuling.

He also said that he knew nothing of negotiations between the Japanese, British and American authorities in Hankow concerning the evacuation. However, the spokesman admitted that Japanese troops had already been active in the vicinity of Kuling, although as yet they had not launched a major attack.—United Press.

ATTACK REPULSED

Wanchiafow, Feb. 7.

Two successive assaults launched by the Japanese on Kuling, famous summer resort in north Kiangsi, on Sunday morning were repulsed by the Chinese, according to field dispatches.

The first attack was made by about 300 Japanese troops against the Chinese entrenched at Changling-chueh and Tatsallao, southwest of Kuling.

It was repelled after two-hour fighting. Soon after with the aid of reinforcements, the Japanese assaulted the Chinese positions at Kuling after Friday.

The foreigners at Kuling include 37 Britons, twelve Americans, nine Germans and seven others.

London, Feb. 6.

No question of any change in monetary policy was involved in the new Currency Bill, declared Sir John Simon, Chancellor of the Exchequer, moving the second reading of the Bill in the House of Commons to-day. The Bill was read a second time without division.

Sir John added that the Bill concerned certain details of the monetary mechanism, and he recalled that the Exchange Equalisation Fund had been increased from £150,000,000 to £500,000,000 in order to check undue fluctuations on the exchanges.

Recent events made it opportune to introduce the Bill. Over a long period, ending last spring, gold stocks had continually increased, amounting on January 31 last at the market price, to £585,000,000. In the following six months there was a considerable exodus of gold which represented refugee capital, gold stocks falling to £589,000,000, of which £151,000,000 was in the Exchange Equalisation Fund, the rest being in the issue department of the Bank of England.

STERLING SPECULATION That tendency had continued during the rest of the year. Some of the gold loss was due to repatriation of French funds, and some was due to undesirable speculation against the Pound.

The Bill was entirely justified and made no difference to the fundamentals of currency, but was a more accurate statement of facts. There was no trace of inflation or deflation in the proposals. One effect of the revaluation would be the liberation of approximately £5,000,000. The Chancellor said that he did not propose to treat that sum as revenue, but as unrealised capital appreciation, which would be passed to the Exchange Equalisation Account, where it would constitute capital reserve.—Reuter.

Taipei, but were again driven back after bitter fighting.—Central News.

CONTACT ESTABLISHED

Contact with the foreigners at Kuling has been established by H.M.S. Ladybird, now at Kiukiang.

The Japanese threat has brought a storm of condemnation from numerous Kuling residents who were brought out previously, and are now residing in Shanghai.

They said that many of the people now in Kuling are aged or very sick individuals, and cannot be evacuated. "It will mean death to those persons if they are forced to undertake descent of Lushan mountain," one former resident said.

The British and American Consul Generals in Shanghai have referred this problem to their Home governments.

The Japanese warn that they plan to blast between 4,000 and 5,000 Chinese guerrillas who have been holding Lushan mountains for months. The Japanese added that they will not be responsible for anything that may happen to foreigners at Kuling after Friday.

The foreigners at Kuling include 37 Britons, twelve Americans, nine Germans and seven others.

Minorities

AT BOTTOM the question threatening the peace of Europe is not, as Mr. Garvin suggested in the London "Observer" this Sunday, the problem of Italy's claims on France.

It is a question of hegemony. A single minority has become the issue of the day—a superficial issue. Loud as are the demands from Rome on behalf of its minority in Tunisia and Corsica, they do not drown out the cries and echoes which the existence of minorities in nearly every State in Europe produces.

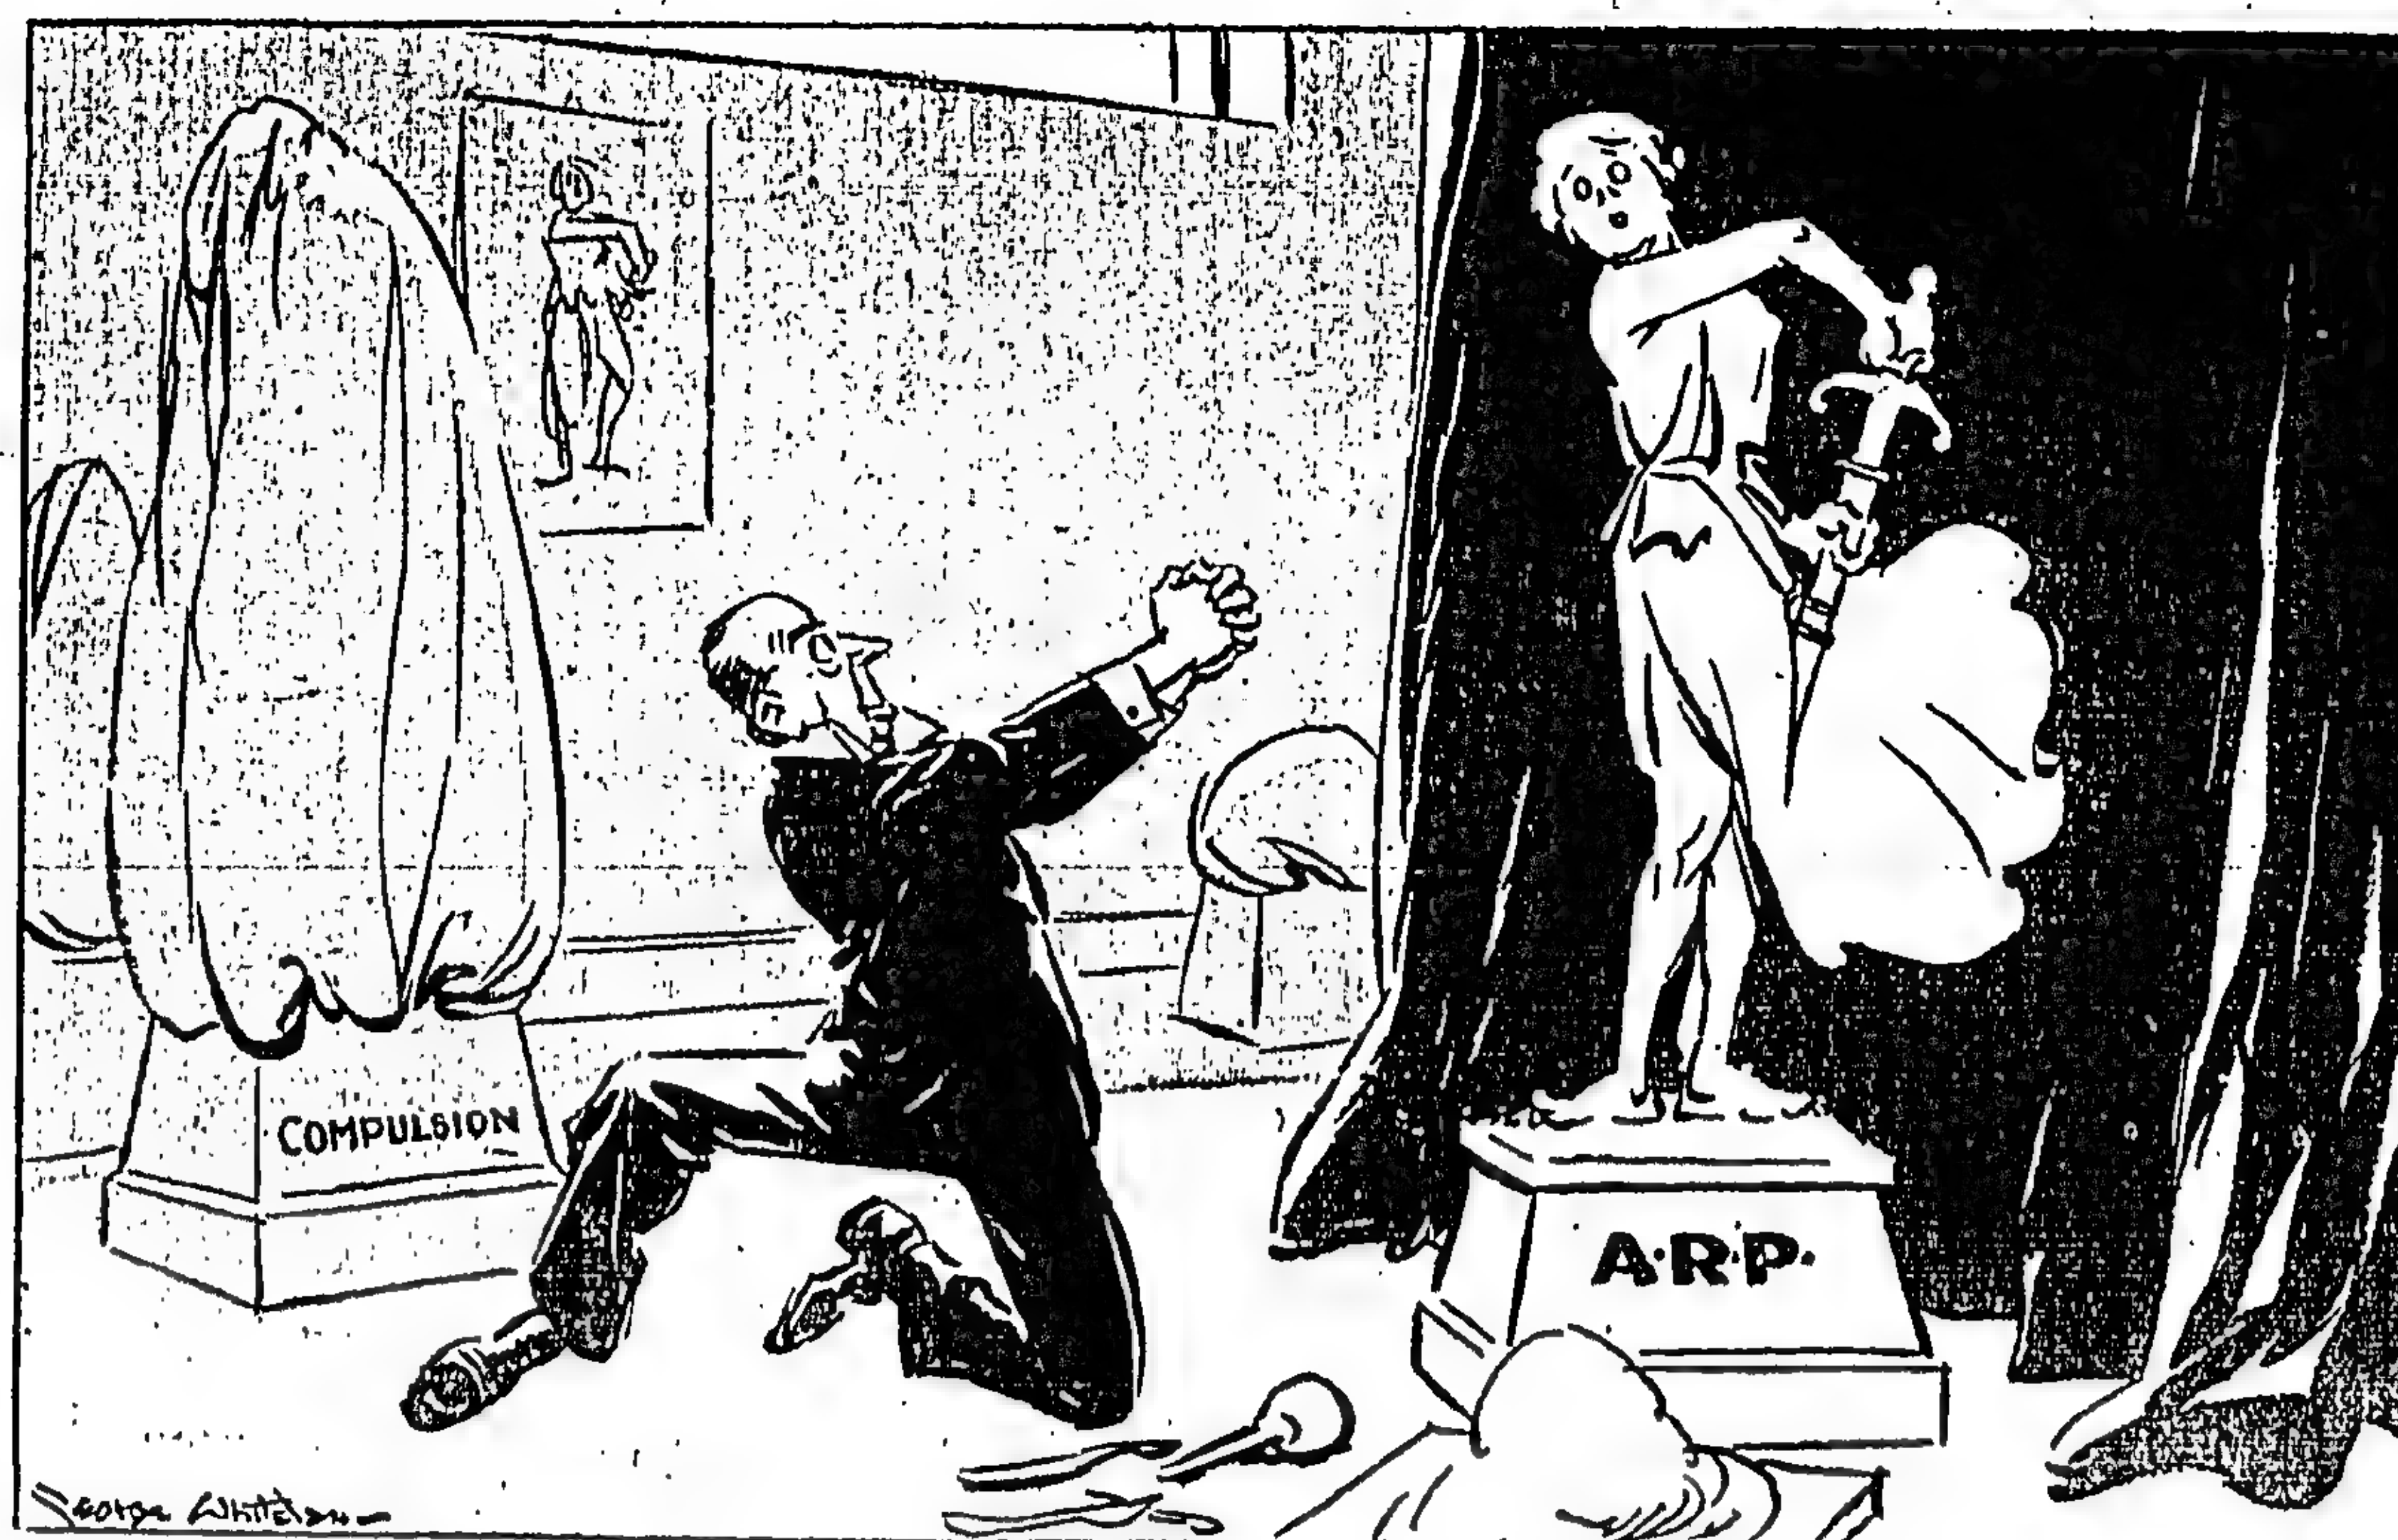

A truly totalitarian approach to Europe's minority grievances would recognise that Europe itself is one big minority problem. A readjustment of national borders to bring the greatest number of minority members back into the folds of their own national states would involve cessions of territory by Italy, France, Russia, Germany, Austria, Poland, Rumania, and by other states.

Such a solution naturally is not proposed, because only those adjustments of minority questions which will result in the greatest embarrassment to democracies are at this moment useful in Rome-Berlin diplomacy.

Broadly, religion, race, language, base all minority problems—the problem being grievous usually in proportion to the restrictions placed by governments on the exercise of minority rights and privileges in these three fields.

Incidentally, it is difficult to find a section of Europe in which minorities have been more severely treated than in the south Tyrol, which was ceded to Italy after the Great War and where the minority—in which Berlin appears to take no interest—is Germanic.

Poland, which has joined the clamour for the return of its minorities, is itself ruler over minorities which constitute about thirty per cent. of its population. Hungary governs minorities constituting about 15 per cent. of its population. About thirty per cent. of Rumania's population comprises minorities. In Yugo-Slavia, among the 21 per cent. of the population composed of minorities, are more than 600,000 Germans.

Reporting Progress: by Ritchie Calder

MY long white beard got tangled in the works and stopped the clock this week-end while I gave my small son his seventh birthday lecture on "When Father Was a Boy."

I told him how on my seventh birthday I was taken to Montrose Aerodrome, in Angus, to see Captain Longcroft, who had made a record flight of 630 miles to Farnborough. And how the Schneider Cup was won that year with a speed of 432 m.p.h.

The look he gave me made me feel as venerable as Santa Claus. For he has the modern boy's passion for aviation. He knows that the latest non-stop flight was more than ten times as far, and the record flying-speed nearly ten times as great.

Yet I was talking about 1913—only 25 years ago.

It made me realise how the speed of modern events is changing the time-scale, that, in terms of rapid progress, we are as far removed from our grandfathers as they were from the Romans.

★ SO I spent yesterday trying to devise a new clock. My first attempt was to the radium-clock with which modern geologists measure the age of the earth. The radio-activity of a given mass of thorium is reduced to half-value in 1,500,000,000 years. It turns eventually into lead. And from that we know that the earth must be at least 3,000,000,000 years old.

But I found my desk littered with noughts and I abandoned it for a more manageable clock in which an hour became 100 years.

That makes my son only 4 minutes 12 seconds old and myself 10 minutes 12 seconds old.

Seven months ago, by this reckoning, the first man-like apes of whom we find traces, were fashioning roughly shaped stones which they used as hand-axes. They were still animal, but they walked upright. These "pseudo-

men" inhabited a Europe in which there were hairy mammoths, rhinoceroses, hippopotami, sabre-toothed tigers and giant beavers.

The Dawn Man, still an ape, was living beside a river near Pitt-down, in Sussex, barely six weeks ago.

Three weeks ago most of Europe was covered with ice, like the ice-cap which covers Greenland to-day. The North Sea and the Irish Sea were river beds. The Mediterranean was a deep valley, across which travelled the rhinoceroses, hippopotami, and elephants, on their way to the warmer South. The cold killed off the sabre-toothed tiger altogether.

Hunting these animals were en-lightened apes, the Neanderthal Men. They had discovered the use of fire, by it is believed, striking iron pyrites against flint, probably in making their tools.

They were skins from the animals they killed; they lived in caves, huddled round their fires against the creeping cold of the Fourth Ice Age, which was eventually to destroy them. They lived on putrid flesh and the marrow of mashed up bones.

★ THE Fourth Ice Age lasted less than a fortnight by this reckoning, and as the ice-cap began to shrink northwards and the climate of Europe began to get warmer, the first real men—not Ape Men, but men very like us—appeared.

They came, it is believed, from

the common cradle of Mankind, the part of Asia we now call Iran, and, until recently, Persia.

Ten days ago, these Cro-Magnons began to draw on the walls of their caves, use pigments to shroud their dead at ritual burials. They followed the herds of wild horses and reindeer as they sought new pastures in the wake of the retreating ice.

Four days ago, Man began to take a pride in his crafts, to paint pebbles as jewellery for his Woman, make pottery and tame animals for domestic uses.

Round the lake dwellings of two days ago, our ancestors began to grow wheat, barley and millet. And agriculture began.

★ LESS than a week ago, the valley which separated what we now call Europe from Africa was flooded, the gates at Gibraltar were broken down and, the Atlantic flowed in. Maybe that was the Bible Deluge.

By Greenwich Mean Time, it is midnight. At 4.37 this morning began the Christian Era. Thirty-three minutes before Caesar had invaded Britain Rome was sacked by the Vandals from Germany at 8.43 a.m. The sun was temporarily eclipsed. Mohammed was born at 10.55.

At 3.24 this afternoon, William the Conqueror invaded England. By 4.30 men were using gunpowder.

At 7.10 this evening Constantinople was taken by the Turks. The learned men, heirs to the culture of the East, of Greece, and of Rome, began to flee westwards like the Jewish refugees of 1938, taking with them the culture which gave us the Renaissance.

Columbus discovered America at 7.31 this evening. At 7.47 began the Reformation.

★ TWENTY-ONE minutes before printing had been introduced, Drake sailed round the world at 8.25, and defeated the Spanish Armada at 8.30, having discovered Greenland in the interval.

At 8.38 Scotland and England were united under James VI and I.

Within 25 minutes Britain was in the throes of Civil War. James Watt's steam engine began the Industrial Revolution at 10.16. Five minutes later America had declared its independence. Within another 5 minutes the East-Indies had fallen and the French Revolution had begun.

Napoleon had 12 minutes in the limelight.

Faraday's electrical discoveries which made the generation of electric power as we know it today possible, occurred at 5 minutes to 11.

By 11 o'clock we had the electric telegraph. Within another minute we had photography. Four minutes later women had the mechanical sewing machine. Chloroform came within another half-minute.

At 11.16 the first explosion motor which was to lead to motor-cars and power-driven aeroplanes had been evolved.

Six minutes later Graham Bell had invented the telephone, followed within 30 seconds by the gramophone, and within a minute by the electric lamp.

★ CINEMATOGRAPHY "arrived" 29 minutes ago. Marconi sent his first message across the Atlantic by wireless at 22 minutes 12 seconds ago.

The Wright Brothers made their first flight 21 minutes ago.

The Great War lasted two minutes 33 seconds in this time scale.

Broadcasting began 10 minutes ago, and talks 91 minutes ago. Television broadcasts began one minute 13 seconds ago.

Hitler has been in power three minutes, long enough for him to turn the clock back six hours to the Dark Ages of Barbarism and the ghetto.

Now I am going to set the alarm for 600 years hence, in the hope that I can sleep off the headache this timekeeping has given me.

To-day's Thought
"TIME goes, you say? Ah no! Also, time stays. WE go."
—AUSTIN DOBSON.

The Coogans Separate

New York. Vowing their love for each other, Jackie ("The Kid") Coogan and his blonde wife, Betty Grable, have been forced to separate, their furniture sold by financial necessity, and their home closed.

Miss Grable has returned to her mother, Mrs. Lillian Grable, and Jackie is living with an uncle, Mr. George Coogan.

There is no question of divorce. It is purely a matter of the pounds, shillings and pence not being enough to keep the home going.

"VERY MUCH IN LOVE"
Mrs. Lillian Grable, explaining the situation, said: "Both love each other very much, but everything is in a financial tangle, Jackie's lawsuit against his stepfather and mother (Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bernstein, who he is suing for the recovery of $2,800,000 he claims to have earned as a child) still being delayed."

Said Jackie: "It is very tough. I love Betty very, very much. But everything will come out all right. We hope to be together again as soon as our finances allow us to do so."

He declared: "I am still crazy about Jackie. The separation isn't permanent. Once he gets back on his feet we'll be together again."

GRIN AND BEAR IT By Lichty

"Of course it's a silly superstition, but whenever we have a bill for $13, like yours, we skip it and go to 14."

ROOSEVELT IS FACING GROWING OPPOSITION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6. WHILE A GROUP of isolationists, headed by five Republican and Conservative Democratic Senators, prepared to grill President Roosevelt on his foreign policy, outstanding Republicans including the minority leader, Senator Charles McNary, significantly remained silent. It is generally known that some of the Republican notables feel that it is inappropriate at this time to attack the foreign policy, because of the reported national popularity for the defence programme.

The absence of leadership, however, is not expected seriously to impair the isolationist bloc's drive, including oratorical sniping or guerilla assaults, which, on previous occasions, have served to erect insurmountable legislative obstacles.

Meanwhile, the Committees are busy expediting the defence bills; simultaneously, the Government clearly indicated that it would continue to facilitate the acquisition of military planes by the French and British.

Senator Bridges of New Hampshire, one of the leaders criticising the President's foreign policy, and who is demanding a complete revision of what the President told the Military Affairs Committee last week, said there has been a surprising shift in public opinion in support of an enlarged national defence. He said, "I cannot account for it. . . . Pacifists who hitherto criticised the enlargement of the Navy, . . . turn right about face and are now demanding it, and opposing foreign entanglements of any sort."

OPPOSITION INTENSIFIES

Meanwhile, observers assert that there will be a Senate final foreign policy explosion in the early, and a general Congressional rebellion against the New Deal. The present Congress, in a five weeks-long session, showed an almost unprecedented resistance against the President.

For example, Congress reduced the relief bill by $175,000,000, confirmed two Cabinet appointments without difficulty, but is now baulking over the confirmation of three lesser appointments of the President's choice. The President, himself on Friday, clearly indicated that through his foreign policy, his critics are playing politics.

Senator Key Pittman said he favours making public the testimony before the Senate Military Affairs Committee bearing on national defence, provided military secrets are withheld.

Meanwhile, the isolationist Senators threatened to penetrate the second secret aspect of the current foreign policy controversy—President Roosevelt's off-record explanation to the Senators as to why the United States has been co-operating with European democracies in buying United States planes.

Senator Pittman agreed that the United States position was that American planes should not be sold to Japan. He said, "Japan violated the Nine Power Treaty. I do not feel that we ought to sell war materials to any treaty violator."—United Press.

Police Sending For Witness

In order to obtain a vital witness in a case against a man charged with uttering a forged document, the Hongkong police authorities are sending a request to Sanmei village, in Chinese territory midway between Swatow and Hongkong.

It will be necessary for the witness to pass Blas Bay, where the Japanese landed last December, in order to reach the Colony. The case is one in which Cheung Sal-nam, a thirty-year-old unemployed man, is charged with attempting to obtain $500.15 from the Shun Cheong Import and Export Company by means of a forged document.

Cheung, who appeared before Mr. R. A. D. Forrest at the Central Magistracy this morning, was remanded in police custody for 72 hours.

Inspector W. A. Russell, prosecuting, said that further charges may be preferred against the man.

Small Hope For Foreign Exporters In N. China

PEIPING, Feb. 7. A COTTON PRODUCTION Regulation Association has been inaugurated in Peiping.

The chairman is Mr. Yin Tung, who is a director of the Provisional Government's Bureau of Reconstruction, the members including leading Japanese cotton spinners, traders, and mill owners.

A resolution for a 10-year cotton programme, aiming at the ultimate increase to 10,000,000 tons of cotton production, was passed at the inaugural meeting.

It is reliably stated that the Ministry of Industry has still not answered applications by foreign shippers made last December to export cargoes of cotton for which contracts had been signed.

High Ministry officials told a representative of foreign exporters that the authorities needed all cotton in North China for themselves or barter, and that it was therefore unlikely that export permits would be granted for some time, especially for last year's cotton crop was 60 per cent. below that of the previous year, and that this year it is expected to be even less, owing to the activities of the Chinese guerrillas.

The official advised foreign exporters to cancel outstanding contracts and to await further developments.—United Press.

TRAFFIC INSPECTOR ACCUSED

Naval Lieutenant Admits Offence "Under Provocation"

Lieut. Duffin of H.M.S. Modway was summoned before Mr. Q. A. A. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning for having driven a motor car in the controlled area of Nathan Road on January 18 at 28 miles per hour, and for having overtaken another motor vehicle on the wrong side.

Both summonses were admitted. Referring to the first one, Lt. Duffin said that his car had no speedometer. Mentioning the second summons, Lt. Duffin said he had committed the offence under extreme provocation. He had been following a slowly driven motor cycle, controlled by Traffic Sub-Inspector Tsui Po-yang, for some considerable distance in the area in question. The motor cycle was travelling all the time on the left hand centre of the road and although he sounded his horn frequently in notice was taken by the cyclist.

Lt. Duffin further said that he thought that a traffic officer should set a good example to other drivers by driving on the left hand side of the road. Perhaps it was a deliberate trap for a vehicle to pass on the left.

Sub-Inspector Tsui said that his speed was 20 miles per hour when he was overtaken.

Lt. Duffin was fined $15 on the summonses combined.

MILITARY DESPATCH RIDER FINED

In the same Court, J. Gilzean of Wellington Barracks was fined $10 for having driven a motor cycle in the built up area of Nathan Road at a speed of 45 miles per hour on January 17.

Gilzean also said that he had no speedometer on his machine. Sub-Inspector Brittain said that Gilzean had been under the misapprehension that he could drive at any speed he wanted because he was a military despatch rider.

The Sub-Inspector pointed out that there was no exemption from speed rules for such riders and expressed the hope that this would come to the notice of those concerned.

OTHER OFFENCES

D. W. Wagstaff, Kent Road, was fined $5 by Mr. R. A. D. Forrest at the Central Magistracy this morning, when he admitted a summons of having left his car unattended outside the Wang Hing Building in Queen's Road Central on January 11.

R. A. Harding was fined $4 for a similar offence. His car was left outside Holland House.

A fine of $2 was imposed on H. B. Joseph for parking his car over the time limit in Pedder Street on January 27.

Chan Yan-hing, lorry driver for Lane Crawford and Company, was fined $25 when he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving a car in Stubbs Road without due care and caution yesterday.

Sergeant W. T. Sargent prosecuted, and said he followed defendant up Stubbs Road from Magazine Gap Road to the Peak Garage for about three quarters of a mile. His speed was about 30 to 32 m.p.h. Defendant was driving from one side of the road to another, and when rounding a bend, was usually on the wrong side of the road.

The defendant appeared to be asleep when he tried to make to him at the garage, while his breath smelt as if he had been drinking.

On production of defendant's record, the Magistrate said it was not a bad record for a lorry driver, and imposed the above fine.

MUI TSAI TERRIBLY TREATED

Limbs Bear Weals From Cane-Marks

A SMALL child whose hands were "quit blue and whose legs, ankles and arms bore numerous weals from cane-marks" was the chief witness in a case in which Lau Piu-chun was charged with ill-treatment this morning.

The girl entered the Shamshui Police Station on Saturday and told those who questioned her that she was an unregistered mul-tsal.

Lau appeared before Mr. Q. A. A. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistracy and was fined $50.

Mr. H. W. Fraser, Inspector of Mul-Tsais, prosecuted.

The girl's story was that at 11 a.m. on Saturday Lau sent her out on an errand and on her return accused her of having been away longer than she should. She was beaten on the legs, ankles and thighs with a slender bamboo cane, which was produced in Court.

Mr. Fraser said that Lau claimed the girl as her niece, and as there was insufficient evidence to support a count of keeping an unregistered mul-tsal, a charge was not taken out.

UNREGISTERED MUL-TSAL

Also before Mr. Macfadyen, Mr. Fraser prosecuted in another case wherein a woman, Hui Yuet-sim 28, of Reclamation Street, Yaumati, was charged with having kept an unregistered mul-tsal.

Mr. Fraser said that when Hui was questioned she denied that the alleged mul-tsal was her relative. Later, the girl herself was interviewed and she stated that she was a mul-tsal, having been sold to Hui for $100 some years ago. She had been instructed to say that she was Hui's relative if she should be questioned by any inspectors.

A fine of $50 was imposed.

Death Of Mr. W. Donnally

The death occurred on Sunday evening at the Kowloon Hospital of Mr. William Donnally, Master-at-Arms on board the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Asia, at the age of 60.

The deceased, who is a native of Toronto, died from a perforated ulcer following an operation. The late Mr. Donnally was a popular member of the liner's staff.

It is understood that his remains will be shipped back to Vancouver.

Court Destitute Given $7

A destitute refugee who appeared before Mr. R. Edwards at the Central Magistracy this morning left Court richer by seven dollars.

This sum was given to him from the Poor Box after the man, Li Fook, aged 62, had told the Magistrate that he had stolen two funeral wreaths in return to obtain sufficient money to return to his village in Kwongchow.

He was bound over in the sum of $20 to be of good behaviour for a year on the theft charge.

ENGLISH NOT SO INSULAR

Premier On Nation's Broadened Outlook

LONDON, Feb. 6.

ADDRESSING the opening session of the international advisory committee of the World Congress for Leisure-time and Recreation, Mr. Neville Chamberlain declared to-day:

"I think, as nations, we spend too much time discussing matters of disagreement between us. Therefore, it is of particular satisfaction to me to think that you all, while in London, are going to discuss a subject on which, I believe, there will be general agreement."

The English people never had a more international outlook than to-day. With our increased interest in this subject, and our increased readiness to mix with, and learn from other nations, there could hardly be a more opportune time than now for your visit."

Twenty-six delegates from 21 countries are attending the session, which, presided over by Mr. Gustavus Town Kirby of the United States, is being held at the Board of Education office, Whitehall, preparatory to the fourth World Congress for Leisure-time and Recreation which will be held in 1940.—United Press.

Japan's Latest Aspiration

TOKYO, Feb. 7.

The projected new Central Government of China, which apparently is to be based on the system inaugurated in Manchukuo after 1932 if Japan is successful in the current hostilities, will "absorb" all other governments and regimes in China.

Among those that will be centralised will be the existing provisional governments in Peiping and Nanking. Peace Maintenance regiments set up by the Japanese in Canton, Hankow, Amoy and other cities will also be "absorbed."

This declaration was made by the War Minister, Lt. Gen. S. Itagaki, in the Lower House to-day. Japanese troops would be stationed in China to "maintain order." The War Minister refused to state where these troops would be stationed, or for what period.

The importance of the Yangtze delta was even greater to Japan to-day than in the past. The importance of this part of China had repeatedly been announced by the Japanese military authorities, the War Ministry said.—Domet.

We recommend Tonova self-supporting socks for quite a number of reasons. The support they give is firm—not tight; straight—not oblique. They are equally reliable for muscular and modest calves, for long legs and short. They need no adjustment. The tops, which contain an elastic yarn, wash with the socks, much more hygienic. And they are available in all the latest patterns.

INTERPORT SOCCER SIDES PICKED TO PLAY MANILA

COMPOSITION OF ELEVENS QUITE SATISFACTORY

But why Centre-forward as an Outside Right?

The Interport Selection Committee met last evening at the end of the Council meeting and picked the following teams to represent Hongkong and the Rest of Hongkong in matches against the visiting Manila side during the Chinese New Year holidays:

HONGKONG XI

Tam Kwan-kon (S. China "B"),
Lee Tin-sang (S. China "A"),
Sheehan (Middlesex),
Honeywell (Navy),
Dixon (Navy),
Leung Wing-chiu (S. China "A"),
F. Fowler (Club),
Fung King-cheung (S. China "A"),
Lee Wai-tong (S. China),
Captain,
V. Gosano (St. Joseph's),
Hau Ching-to (Eastern),
Reserves: Ulrich (Kowloon),
Rliertsen (Kowloon), Beltrao (St. Joseph's) and Gomes (St. Joseph's).

REST OF HONGKONG

McAlister (Navy),
Ho Yung-sang (Kwong Wah),
Ulrich (Kowloon),
Lau Hing-choi (S. China "A"),
Beltrao (St. Joseph's), Captain,
E. L. Strange (Club),
Tang Kwong-sum (S. China "A"),
Jorge (Kowloon),
Chan Tak-fai (S. China "B"),
Gomes (St. Joseph's),
Rliertsen (Kowloon).

COMMENTS ON TEAMS

As far as the Interport team is concerned, eight of the eleven players were more or less certain; only in the other three was there room for speculation. But few local critics would have guessed who the selectors had in mind for these three positions until last evening. It was fairly obvious that Tam Kwan-kon, Lee Tin-sang, Dixon (or Beltrao), Fung King-cheung, Lee Wai-tong, A. V. Gosano, Leung Wing-chiu and Hau Ching-to could not be left out. The only positions which were in doubt were one back, one half-back and the right-wing.

The selections of Sheehan to partner Lee Tin-sang at back and Honeywell to fill the remaining half-back berth were understandable; but why Fowler, a centre-forward, for the outside right position?

It is not easy to follow the selectors' line of reasoning. If an outside right is wanted, then why not select a man who is an outside right? I am aware that once upon a time Fowler was an outside right; but how long ago was this? He has been chosen for representative games on several occasions, and for what position each time?

The answer is "As a centre-forward."

PASSED OVER

Seeing that Tang Kwong-sum, the South China "A" right winger, has been chosen for the Rest eleven, one assumes that the selectors also had him under consideration when the right-wing berth came up for discussion. The selectors must also have been aware that he has a perfect understanding with both Fung King-cheung and Lee Wai-tong, who are his team-mates, and that he is an outside right who is as good as anyone else in that position. And yet we find he has been passed over for a man who turns out regularly at centre-forward! Need any more be said?

Practice Game To Be Played On Thursday

A practice game between the Hongkong Interport team and the Rest eleven will be played on the Navy ground at Causeway Bay on Thursday. All players selected are requested to turn out for the match.

Apart from Fowler's selection as outside right, one has no complaint to make regarding the rest of the side. The defence is well-balanced. Dixon, I see, has been preferred to Beltrao as centre-half, but this comes as no surprise. Dixon has been turning out more regularly than Beltrao, and it is probably wiser to have a man who plays regularly than one who does not, especially as there is so little difference in the merits of the two.

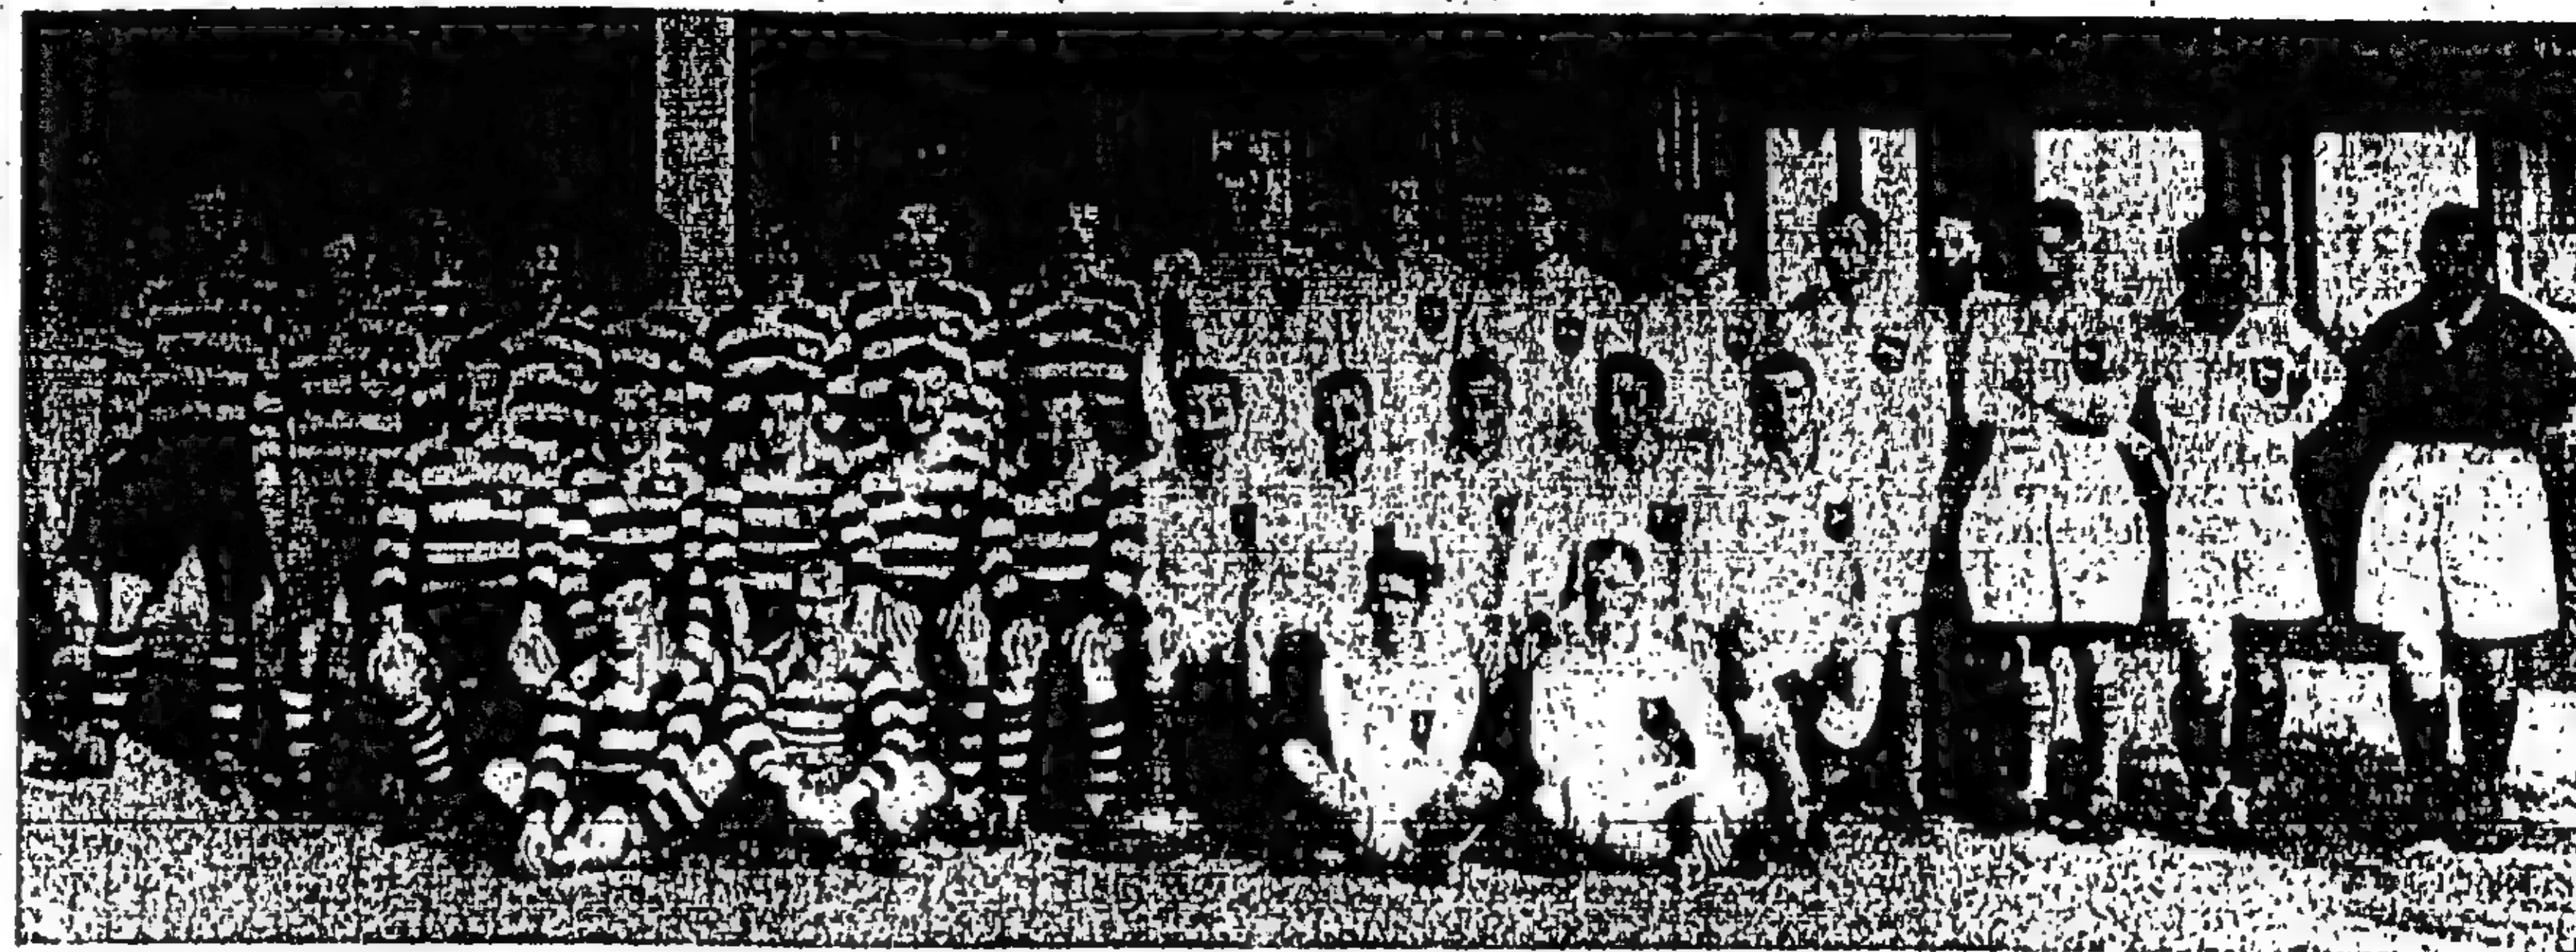

Honeywell's inclusion may not have been expected, but it is only fair to say that he is a very consistent defender, and with Dixon as pivot, he will feel very much at home.

THREE VETERANS

The three inside berths have been filled by veterans. Judging Fung King-cheung and A. V. Gosano at their best, Hongkong should not find goal-getting a difficult task; and if the two outside forwards give them the measure of support expected, the Colony can face the prospects of the Interport match with equanimity.

What strikes me as the most pleasing feature of the Rest side is that young players like, Jorge, Gomes and Rliertsen have been given their opportunities. Ho Yung-sang the Kwong Wah right back, who played such a magnificent game for the Chinese in a recent Lal Wah Cup match, has been picked to partner Ulrich at back. If he plays as well as he did against the Navy, the Rest defence will be in safe hands.

Tang Kwong-sum fills the outside right position, the rest of the line being Jorge, Chan Tak-fai, Gomes and Rliertsen—thus making the forward line one of the fastest that can be assembled locally. The two insides, Jorge and Gomes, will show the Filipinos a few tricks yet.

Boon-Danahar Fight Venue Puzzles Fans

By Norman Hurst.

London, Jan. 11.

We are fast approaching a parallel with the days when—in order to escape the watchful eye of police, who arrested prize-fighters and threw them into gaol—those wishing to engage in the noble art used to scurry from one county to another. The arena for any particular fight was only named to a select few at a few hours' notice.

The above procedure, so far as a mystery is concerned, is being carried out to the letter in the proposed Boon-Danahar match.

I have seen it openly stated that the pair will meet at the Empress Stadium, Earl's Court. I would be prepared, however, to lay a shade of odds that the contest does not take place there.

The bout, the making of it and everything to do with it leads up to a peculiar position. Mr. Syd Hulls will be finishing his promotional connection with Harringay in mid-February.

Will he stage the match at Harringay before he goes out? Or will he take the contest elsewhere?

If Mr. Hulls decides to make it his promotion there are several alternatives.

ALBERT HALL?

The Albert Hall which, while it has not the seating capacity of Harringay or the other big London halls, is always good for top prices. It is quite on the cards that Mr. Hulls could make a business deal with Wembley and run his show there.

There is always the possibility of a date at Olympia when the circus closes down, where a keen promoter can step in and take advantage of the circus seating, as has been done before.

South China Football Teams Given Bad Time

THOUGH superior in almost every department, South China "A" present Shield champions, found goal-scoring a difficult task when they met Kowloon in the replay at Caroline Hill on Saturday, and in spite of extra time, they had to be content with a draw of 1-1. Their present League standing held no terrors for Kowloon, who themselves also had a Shield reputation to uphold.

In years gone by, Kowloon had no superiors in Shield games irrespective of their position in the League; and on Saturday they demonstrated once again that the old spirit is still alive.

The defence gave a splendid display against the swift-moving Chinese forwards who did everything but score. Chances the Caroline Hill men had in plenty; but accuracy was absent, and whatever mistakes the Kowloon defenders made were amply covered up. On Sunday, the South China "B" were eliminated by Eastern who, on the previous Sunday, had humbled South China "A" in the League.

It was a triumph as complete as it was deserving. Eastern undoubtedly were the better side, the forwards working with a cohesion and a speed which proved most disconcerting to the South China "B" defence. I have heard the excuse advanced that the South China men have not yet recovered from their strenuous tour to Saigon and Haiphong, where they played ten games in the course of 15 days. There must be something in this; but unless they show improvement in their next few games, they may have good reason to regret having made the tour.

Another O'Reilly

AUSTRALIAN critics are speaking of Douglas Ring, a young Richmond bowler, developing into another O'Reilly by the time of the M.C.C. visit in 1940. He is hailed as one of the bowling finds of years and has already taken 27 wickets more than any other bowler so far, at an average cost of 11.7. His most recent performances were six for 39 on a plumb wicket against Fitzroy, the leading district team. Ring is of the O'Reilly type and build. His bowls with O'Reilly's energy and determination, turning both ways, with an occasional faster top-spinner. He also keeps a perfect length and seems to bowl equally well both with and against the wind.

Breach Of Rule

DRASTIC measures are said shortly to be taken by the Royal and Ancient Golf Club to put a stop to the practice of amateur golfers receiving presents of golf balls from manufacturers. Many well-known players, it is stated, receive monthly presents of a box, and in some instances two boxes, of balls from the makers. This is a distinct breach of the rule which states that a player may accept no more than two balls, which must be marked with the word, "sample." The R. and A. has been in communication with various bodies with a view to stamping out what is regarded as a "pernicious" system. Each month thousands of golf balls, it is stated, are received in this illegal manner. Where the names of offenders are known it is within the power of St. Andrews to refuse their entries for the Amateur Championship without assigning any reason. The same power is vested in the Unions responsible for the English, Scottish, Irish and Welsh championships.

Inter'al Badminton

A badminton competition run on a Davis Cup lines is again being discussed in England. Including the Dominions, there must be at least 20 countries playing the game who would be interested in such an international tournament. Badminton is especially popular in Canada and the United States, where there are a number of first-class professionals. If nothing is done before, the first step towards the inaugurating of a world badminton contest will be taken in the spring of 1940 when a

AMERICAN DAVIS CUP HOPES NOT SO BRIGHT

New York, Feb. 1.

As though the loss of Donald Budge were not a crushing enough blow to future American Davis Cup hopes, it now appears likely that Captain Walter Pate, the Little Wall Street lawyer who has coached and counselled the American boys to victory for the past two years, may be missing from Davis Cup circles next summer.

Mr. Pate has asked Mr. Holcombe Ward, President of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, to appoint another Davis Cup captain. His reason is that he wishes to get back to his law practice and devote more time to it.

"I'm simply worn out. I've been away from home and out of the office for about three months in each of the last four years. I've enjoyed every minute of it, but now I feel it's somebody else's turn," he told Reuter in an interview.

"I guess one reason I want to quit is that I dread the task of putting together another Davis Cup doubles team," he added.—Reuter.

London, Jan. 23.

The return game between the Light Blues and Richmond, played on the Athletic Ground at Richmond, instead of at Cambridge, made for a fast and thoroughly interesting contest. Cambridge won after a by no means convincing start by a place goal and 3 tries against a goal and a penalty goal. They had five Blues to help them, though they were without their captain, and they did so well generally as a team, when they warmed up to their work, that their win was fully deserved. Parsons-Lockhart was at his best at stand-off half.

Many in the small crowd at Northampton came away with two impressions of the match with R.A.F. One was that the final score of a goal and two tries to nil flattered the winners, and the other that the R.A.F. under better conditions would have been a greater pace at three-quarter, have brought about a very different result had the ground, and in consequence the ball, not been extremely difficult. Three fine tries of opportunist character, one of them converted, built up the home score. All were obtained in the first half.

Although without their captain J. C. Cook, Bedford defeated Gloucester at Bedford by a goal, a penalty goal, and a try to two tries. Before the match the teams and the crowd stood in silence for two minutes and the teams wore black armlets as a mark of respect to the president and chairman of the Gloucestershire Rugby Union, Mr. F. T. Brookes, who died on Tuesday.

STRANGE DECISIONS

within half an hour most of the jerseys looked alike in their coating of mud, and it was practically impossible to distinguish Newport from Albion. In the circumstances, and with the lines almost obscured, it was not surprising that there were some strange decisions. At least one perfectly good try was disallowed, and there were certainly two doubtful tries, which were awarded. On the whole, however, these mistakes balanced out fairly enough, and Albion were full value for their victory by a goal and two tries to two tries.

The first meeting of the season of Bristol and Lincoln, on the Bristol Memorial ground, a miniature England and Wales match, produced a well-contested game, but no score. This was in direct contrast to the corresponding match last season, which Bristol won by 17 points to 4. The ground was in a terribly bad condition, making it very hard going, and in the end largely a test of stamina. In addition, the backs were handicapped by the mud-coated state of the ball, and though many commendable efforts were made in the passing game, it was seldom that they resulted in any progress being accomplished.

The rain-soaked pitch at Burntwood Lane, Walsley, interfered very little with the game between Old Leylands and Guy's Hospital, which the former won by a dropped goal and two penalty goals to a try. Old Leylands had the heavier pack with Gould, Glover, Nicoll and Todrick outstanding, while outside Sykes, at centre "three" was sure of himself.

Manchester beat Blakenhead Park (27-3) and Sale beat Halifax (6-5) but Waterloo lost to the North of Ireland (5-7). Several matches were cancelled.—Our Own Correspondent.

H. A. G. Keates Keeps Undefeated Status

Fine Record In Cycling Events

Commencing his sixth racing season in the Colony, H. A. G. Keates succeeded in maintaining his undefeated status in open events during that period by winning the Hongkong Cycling Club's 25 miles unpaired Championship on February 5, in 1 hr. 16 mins. 23 secs., beating the runner-up, Geo. Cottrell, by no less than 7 mins. 47 secs.

The first rider, Yuen Yat-che, was dispatched by Mr. P. Stanley, the Club's assistant timekeeper who deputized in the absence of Mr. L. A. Anning, promptly at 10.30 a.m., and he succeeded in keeping the lead on the road until over 20 miles were completed. Leading actual times at the halfway mark, where Messrs J. Walker, B. W. Rogers and Kam Yiu-wah turned the competitors, showed Keates to be leading by 3 mins. from Cottrell, with M. L. O'Doherty, Chong Kai-kong, Ng Chung and Wong Po-fat a further 2 mins. in arrears, followed by Leung Shui-kwong and Lam Kwok-lung in 44 mins.

Lam Kwok-lung, No. 9, was the first rider to finish, with O'Doherty, No. 10, and Keates, No. 27, following after 2½ mins. Their times of 1.31.40, 1.33.15, and 1.16.23, respectively, were excellent under the conditions; the wind had risen during the event to hinder the riders on the latter portion, whilst an unexpectedly warm sun had imparted a sogginess to the tarred surface. Keates having started last, interest in first place waned. Cottrell's advent (No. 20) with 1.24.10, a minute later quickly indicated second place and ensured the Hongkong Cycling Club's all-European team of a victory over their Chinese Y.M.C.A. rivals, aggregates eventually being 4 hrs. 13 mins. 48 secs. to 4 hrs. 51 mins. 30 secs.

Chow Kai-kong provided a surprise by returning the fastest time by a Chinese rider, being also the first to get inside 1½ hours on the unusually difficult and trying course. His time of 1.29.10, was 55 secs. better than Mr. Chung's performance, and a further minute faster than the leading Chinese Y.M.C.A. competitor, Leung Shui-kwong. These three riders therefore qualify for honorary membership of the Hongkong Cycling Club, first and second awards going to Keates and Cottrell respectively. No non-prize winner having recorded a time within 10 minutes of the fastest competitor, i.e., within 1 hr. 26 mins. 23 secs., certificates will not have to be awarded.

The Results

Messrs. R. H. McDowell and Robert Yuen acted as judges and starters to the 27 entrants, of whom 25 started and only one failed to finish. The two non-starters were the Club's Chinese representatives, William Choy and Chan Kwong-lam, both prevented by business reasons from

If they're to have a clean bill of health, small danger signs must not be ignored.

RECENTLY I visited a large mixed school. Such visits are always particularly interesting because of the variety of problems which they offer.

I propose to tell you something to-day about some of these children, as their difficulties will be of interest to many readers.

First, we saw some half-dozen sturdy youngsters who were given a clean bill of health, and then Problem No. 1 appeared
—a little girl, whose mother explained that Jean had
"growing pains."

Jean's mother seemed a little put out
at having been asked to attend the
medical examination for such a simple matter when she had dinner to get ready, but the doctor explained quickly that these growing pains should never be ignored, feeling that they were so often a definite sign of rheumatism.

One look at Jean's pale cheeks and
dark-shadowed eyes made me feel that
when the child's heart was sounded we knew the rest.

She was definitely a rheumatic subject and was recommended for a special Rheumatism Clinic.

"The specialist there may possibly advise that Jean should go to a convalescent home for a time," she explained gently to the mother, "and I do hope that you will agree to this for your girl's sake."

She went on to explain that only rest
would lead to a complete cure, and that
in these special homes Jean would still be able to have lessons from a governess who taught the children in the wards.

Right Treatment

I could only hope that the child
would be given the rest that her little heart needed, and it cheered me to remember that, thanks to these rest

9 oz. caster sugar with the flour, add the water, slowly mixing to a smooth paste. Add juice of grapefruit and grated rind. Bring to the boil, stirring all the time. Add the butter and cool slightly.

Beat up yolks and stir in gradually, allow to cool, then turn the mixture on to the pastry on the plate.

CRATER TO BE ERASED

WILLOWS, Cal.
Contracts have been awarded to local grain and rice farmers to fill in the crater of a gas well that blew out last January and has just subsided.
The crater is 182x180 feet and between 40 and 80 feet in depth.

methods, hundreds of otherwise hope-
less cases had been cured through this special clinic. Immediately after Jean came a child who stated that she declared "in her legs!" Small wonder, for she was definitely flat-footed, the arches of both feet having given way seriously under the weight
of her body.

I noticed that she was wearing heel-
less sandals, and apparently she had chosen this footwear herself with the idea that it would rest her feet.

"Not a bit of it, Nellie," the doctor
explained to her gravely. "What you want, dear, are special exercises to
help to make these arches under your feet strong again and a heel to your shoes to coax those bones back into the right position."

She was recommended to the orthopedic specialist who would give her special exercises twice a week, and I made a point of procuring a copy of those exercises which I had to be lighted to send to any parents whose children suffer in like manner. Incidentally they are equally useful for adults.

Talking Troubles

No. 3 on the list was a nice-looking little boy called Donald, who was afflicted with a bad stammer.

The mother told us that he had spoken clearly until he was three,
when he had met with a sudden shock.
After this he often had a difficulty in commencing a word, and the tendency
had steadily increased.

His mother told us that he had always been highly strung, and that

any extra excitement increased his disability, as did the occasional teasing
that he received from an older sister
who was inclined to mimic his speech.

I was not surprised to notice that Donald was left-handed, too, for this condition often accompanies stammer-

Reheating Hints

DISHES like shepherd's pie that
are made with cooked meat,
are apt to grow dry in the oven.
This is avoided if the meat is well-
moistened with gravy or stock
and a bowl of water is placed at
the bottom of the oven.

A fairly hot oven is best, since
the dish is more quickly heated
and less moisture lost in the process.

Never keep a reheated dish in
the oven until the top is brown.
This generally means in effect that the ingredients are recooked. Take
it out as soon as it is thoroughly
hot all through, dot with butter,
and brown under the grill.

This also applies to vegetarian
dishes, such as macaroni cheese,
the constituents of which are cooked beforehand and are only
put into the oven to be heated
through and have their flavours
well mingled.

Our Present Day Virtues

An Altered Sense of Values

HAVE you noticed that as time goes
on, our sense of values alters, so
that the pet virtues of Grannie's day
are often regarded as failings by the modern woman?

For instance, in these days a sweet
disposition can be much over-rated.
How often do we find that a placid
temper really means that its owner
lacks pluck or pride? It is so very easy to sit back perfectly indifferent
to snubs or to differences in opinion,
to agree to a certain line of action
because everybody else does, all
under the cloak of an even temper.

We all know the limp creature who smiles like a sunburst, but has not the pluck of a fly. She may be sweet and easy to get on with, but judged by modern woman's standards, she would be much more admired if she had moral courage.

Cloying Sweetness

For one woman to say of another,
"I admire her, she has grit, she is
'game' over things," is high praise indeed. Too much sweetness can be cloying, and often indicates lack of character.

Economy is the sort of virtue
which, if we possess it, makes us feel as if we deserve a halo. The old-fashioned "economian" used to be so thrifty and to save until she built a stone wall all around her, so that she could hardly see beyond her own nose. Money spent on amusements, clothes, or little luxuries,
were regarded usually as extravagance. A visit to the hairdresser's was almost epoch-making.

False Economy

Present day economy does not stand so much for stinting and saving,
as for wise spending and avoidance
of waste. The housewife who in a fit of enthusiasm paints and papers
a room and then is so over-strained
that she has to take a day off and
get extra help in to cope with the daily round, is a very misguided
creature indeed, and deserves scant sympathy for her "economy campaign."

Similarly, the woman who has no flair for dressing, only wastes time, temper, and material in striving
to make her own frocks.

Truth is another virtue which has taken on a different guise. Actually
there can be no grading between truth and untruth. But what we call
"truth" so often stands for tactless-
ness or dreadful outspokenness.

Gilding the Pill

The prin self-righteous mortal who prides herself on being candid is not
the up-to-date construction we put
on truth. We prefer tactful,
resourceful women who sugar coat
their pills. Life is difficult enough,
and a little constructive criticism
may help where an orgy of plain
speaking too often only depresses.

Vanity undoubtedly has its place
in the modern scheme of things, and
is a virtue which the majority of women possess. If we are vain over
our appearance we may be pretty
sure that we shall never be ill-groomed. If we are houseproud, our home will never look neglected and uncared for. Vanity I think is only harmful when it becomes obtrusive.

What about charity? Here our standards have improved with time.
Genuine interest and practical sympathy with people who are up against it, with children who are unhappy and uncared for, with invalids
and lonely souls, is cherished as something very precious indeed.

Tolerance, too, is a virtue which
has come very much to the front.
People are not so narrow-minded as
they used to be and snobbishness is hated. The woman who prides herself on "keeping to herself" has a poor time of it in these days.

As in everything else, we must move with the times. Otherwise we may find our pet virtues rounding
on us and becoming practically faults.
Madge Whitley.

ing. In many cases the stammering has been increased by efforts to check the left-handedness. Unfortunately there was no special Stammerers' Clinic near Donald's home, so the doctor suggested other methods for curing the defect. She explained to his mother that extra rest was essential for a child who was in the least nervous and highly strung, and she pointed out the necessity for a regular early bedtime.

Doctor also advised that other pleasures should be found for him in place of visits to the pictures, and thought that it would be better to give the boy a dog of his own or a rabbit in a hutch in the back garden where he could look after it quietly.

Next she spoke seriously about not allowing anyone to make fun of his present limitation, and she then went on to recommend special recitations and reading aloud for Donald, and made a note advising that he should be given extra singing lessons.

When he boggles over a word," she said finally to his mother, "encourage him to start again, taking his time and explain to him that, if he will only speak slowly, he will manage quite nicely what he wants to say."

For a couple of letters, to finish out with.

Cold Catcher

What wear do you recommend for my boy of nine who catches colds frequently in winter?—Heston.

I BELIEVE that chills are best prevented by raising the bodily resistance with a careful diet and regular exercise and that colds are due to infection caught from other people.

Let your son wear a light wool vest and trunk pants, cloth knickers and a jersey and keep a blazer or jacket ready for specially cold days.

See that he has an overcoat which will keep out cold winds and that his feet are well protected against wet with strong shoes or Wellingtons.

Ingrowing Nail

My daughter, aged nine, has a painful ingrowing toe-nail. What is the correct treatment?—Hilcombe.

TOE-NAILS should always be trimmed in a straight line across the toe, never pared down into the corners.
Having done this, nip a V-shaped snick out of the centre of the new edge, going as deep as possible without causing pain. This will allow the nail to grow towards the centre, thus relieving pressure at the corners.

With a pair of blunt-edged scissors or forceps, ease a few strands of lint under the nail at the painful corner which will help it to grow outward again. Make sure that her shoes are not too narrow at the toes.

Get the Wright Habit

VITALITY COMES WITH AIR-CONDITIONED SKIN

Why can some people endure heat better than others? Because a healthy body expels 2 lbs. of moisture daily through the pores. If these impurities clog the pores, we lose vitality. Wright's Coal Tar Soap prevents this because its lather penetrates the pores and removes all toxic matter. A wash with Wright's makes you feel lastingly fresh and cool.
Protect your skin;
use Wright's, the first and finest Coal Tar Soap—holding the highest award of the Institute of Hygiene.

PHOTONEWS

JUST THE WEATHER FOR WINTER SPORTS—

Ski-ing looks easy when an expert is speeding down the slope. Here is a man who made the most of the snow on Hampstead Heath where winter sports have been in full swing at home recently.

President Roosevelt is asking the in-coming Congress for an army air force of 13,000 planes. Some of them probably would be like the new Vultee V-12 bomber above, which carries a crew of three men, six machine guns and bombing loads up to 2,000 pounds. The plane is shown in flight at Downey, Cal.

At left is Howard Hughes, millionaire Californian, who with four companions landed the top of the world's highest mountain, Mt. Everest, on 29th May, 1953. At right is Douglas G. Carrigan, 31, who was the first to fly from New York to London in 21 hours and 21 minutes.

Harold M. Stephens of Utah, judge of the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia, who is strongly considered by President Roosevelt for the nomination to the vacancy on the Supreme Court caused by the death of Justice Cardozo. Judge Stephens is 52 years old.

Help Kidneys

Don't Take Drastic Drugs

Your kidneys have nine million tiny tubes or filters, each one of which is as delicate as a piece of tissue paper. If they are overworked or clogged, they will not filter out the waste products of the body, and you will suffer from kidney trouble. It is a serious condition, and it is not to be taken lightly. It is a disease which can be cured, but it must be cured by the right method. The right method is to take a course of treatment which will cleanse the kidneys and restore them to their normal state of health. This can be done by taking a course of treatment which will cleanse the kidneys and restore them to their normal state of health.
